Markets Marketing In Developing Economies:

Markets, marketing and developing countries Hans van Trijp, Paul Ingenbleek, 2023-09-04 Markets are increasingly seen as vehicles to solve problems in developing countries. For example, improvements in market performance make potentially important contributions to achieving the Millennium Development Goals. Access of smallholders to well-functioning markets is increasingly expected to contribute to poverty alleviation and improvement of both food security and environmental sustainability. This book presents the views of leading experts on where we stand and where we are heading in the field of markets, marketing and developing countries. Twenty essays in this book describe the role of marketing in achieving development goals, the track record of past market policies, the current functioning of value chains, the roles that market institutions play to facilitate market access for smallholders, as well as the potential to add value to farm produce through certification schemes, new technologies or innovation systems. The book is published in honour of the retirement of Aad van Tilburg, one of the pioneers in the field of marketing in developing countries. Early on in his career, Van Tilburg recognised that improvements in the functioning of markets and marketing can be key to economic development, with special reference to the livelihood of small producers and other market actors in developing countries. Marketing in Developing Countries (RLE Marketing) G. Kindra, 2014-09-25 The articles in this collection discuss the role of marketing in development and include case studies from various developing countries. They consider state enterprises, marketing education, birth control and comparative marketing models. Marketing in Economic Development Reed Moyer, 1965 Analysis of markets and marketing systems primarily in developing countries. Concept, economic implications, distribution dynamics, retail trade of consumer goods produced chiefly by small-scale industries, women traders, predominant trade restrictions and barriers, efficiency of trading process, Research needs and methods. Divided into seven sections, this book focuses on the marketing perspective of South Asia and its future with the help of the cases. This book covers macro topics like how to develop a market and marketing institutions, as well as micro topics like branding and advertising strategies faced by the organizations operating in competitive and resource-challenged environments. While the problems and challenges described in each case reflect a situation unique to the organization, it also describes issues common to many developing countries. Each case has been written by authors with extensive academic and/or business experience in the region. The book adopts a problem-solving approach through the analysis of case studies that can be used by undergraduate and postgraduate students of management.
