The Universal (in the Realm of the Sensible) Dorothea Olkowski, 2007 The Universal proposes a radically new philosophical system that moves from ontology to ethics Drawing on the work of De Beauvoir Sartre and Le Doeuff among others and addressing a range of topics from the Asian sex trade to late capitalism quantum gravity and Merleau Ponty's views on cinema Dorothea Olkowski stretches the mathematical political epistemological and aesthetic limits of continental philosophy and introduces a new perspective on political structures Straddling a course between formalism and conventionalism Olkowski develops the concept of an ontological unconscious that arises from our sensible relation to the world the information we absorb and emit that affects our encounters with the environment and others In this realm of the senses or the field of vulnerability defined by our experience with pleasure and pain Olkowski is able to rethink the space time relations put forth by Irigaray's notion of the interval Bergson's recollection Merleau Ponty's idea of the flesh and Deleuze's plane of immanence This aesthetic sense is shared by all humankind and nonhuman entities in the organic and inorganic world The sensible universal can be applied to categories of pure and practical reason experiential binaries of male female and subject object and issues of autonomy moral laws and the regulation of perception

Ka Roberto Calasso, 2013-10-30 In the very best book about Hindu mythology that anyone has ever written The New Republic Calasso plunges Western readers into the mind of ancient India He begins with a mystery Why is the most important god in the Rg Veda the oldest of India's sacred texts known by a secret name Ka or Who What ensues is not an explanation but an unveiling Here are the stories of the creation of mind and matter of the origin of Death of the first sexual union and the first parricide We learn why Siva must carry his father's skull why snakes have forked tongues and why as part of a certain sacrifice the king's wife must copulate with a dead horse A tour de force of scholarship and seduction Ka is irresistible

Time in Feminist Phenomenology Christina Schües, Dorothea E.

Olkowski, Helen Fielding, 2011-06-03 The contributors to this international volume take up questions about a phenomenology of time that begins with and attunes to gender issues Themes such as feminist conceptions of time change and becoming the body and identity memory and modes of experience and the relevance of time as a moral and political question shape Time in Feminist Phenomenology and allow readers to explore connections between feminist philosophy phenomenology and time With its insistence on the importance of gender experience to the experience of time this volume is a welcome opening to new and critical thinking about being knowledge aesthetics and ethics From Ikaria to the Stars Peter

Green, 2004-07-01 I hadn't till I really started digging gauged the fierce intensity of the need for myth in the human psyche of any age or sensed the variety of motives dictating that need writes Peter Green in the introduction to this wide ranging collection of essays on classical mythology and the mythic experience Using the need for myth as the starting point for exploring a number of topics in Greek mythology and history Green advances new ideas about why the human urge to make myths persists across the millennia and why the borderland between mythology and history can sometimes be hard to map Green looks at both specific problems in classical mythology and larger theoretical issues His explorations underscore how mythic expression opens a door into non rational and quasi rational modes of thought in which it becomes possible to rewrite painful truths and unacceptable history which is Green argues a dangerous enterprise His study of the intersections between classical mythology and Greek history ultimately drives home a larger point the degree of mythification and deception of oneself no less than of others of which the human mind is capable Secret of the Muses Retold John T. Kirby, 2000

Precious repositories of ancient wisdom Musty relics of outmoded culture Timeless paragons of artistic achievement Hegemonic tools of intellectual repression Just what are the classics anyway and why do or should we still pay so much attention to them What is the literary canon What is myth and how do we use it These are some of the questions that gave rise to John Kirby's Secret of the Muses Retold This new study of works by five twentieth century Italian writers investigates the abiding influence of the Greek and Roman classics and their rich legacy in our own day The result is not only a splendid introduction to contemporary Italian literature but also a lucid and stimulating meditation on the insights that writers such as Umberto Eco and Italo Calvino have tapped from the wellspring of ancient tradition Kirby's book offers an impassioned plea for the recuperation of the humanities in general and of classical studies in particular No expertise in Greek Latin Italian or literary theory is presumed and both traditional and postmodern perspectives are accommodated 1,000 Books to Read
