Martha Quest:

Martha Quest Doris Lessing, 2009-12-22 In the Children of Violence Series first published in the 1950s and 60s Doris Lessing transformed her fascinating life into fiction creating her most complex and compelling character Martha Quest The five novels follow Martha from her adolescence on a farm in Africa through failed marriages radical political activities high times in heady 1960s London and into a frightening future

Martha Quest Doris Lessing, 1995-09-01 Martha Quest is a passionate and intelligent young woman living on a farm in Africa feeling her way through the torments of adolescence and early womanhood to marriage She is a romantic idealist in revolt against the puritan snobbery of her parents trying to live to the full with every nerve emotion and instinct bared to experience For her this is a time of solidarity reading daydreams dancing and the first disturbing encounters with sex Martha Quest is the first novel in Doris Lessing's classic Children of Violence sequence of novels each a masterpiece in its own right and taken together an incisive all encompassing vision of our world in the twentieth century

Martha Quest Doris Lessing, 1993 The opening book in the Nobel Prize for Literature winner's Children of Violence series tracing the life of Martha Quest from her childhood in colonial Africa to old age in post nuclear Britain When we first meet Martha Quest she is a girl of fifteen living with her parents on a poor African farm She is eager for life and resentful of the deadening narrowness of home and escapes to take a job as a typist in the local capital Here in the big city she encounters the real life she was so eager to know and understand As a picture of colonial life Martha Quest succeeds by the depth of its realism alone but always at its centre is Martha a sympathetic figure drawn with unrelenting objectivity Martha's Africa is Doris Lessing's Africa the restrictive life of the farm the atmosphere of racial fear and antagonism the superficial sophistication of the city And both Martha and Lessing are Children of Violence the generation that was born of one world war and came of age in another whose abrasive relationships with their parents with one another and with society are laid bare brilliantly by a writer who understands them better than any other

Martha Quest Doris May Lessing, 1970 Martha Quest Doris May Lessing, 1970-09 The Cambridge Guide to Women's Writing in English Lorna Sage, 1999-09-30 This Guide aims to consolidate and epitomise the re-reading of women's writing that has gone on in the last twenty five years This is an opportunity for stock taking a timely project when so much writing has been rediscovered reclaimed and republished There are entries on writers on individual texts and on general terms genres and movements all printed in a single alphabetical sequence The earliest written documents in medieval English the visionary writings of Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe are covered in an historical and geographical sweep that takes us up to the present day The book reflects the spread of literacy the history of colonisation and the development of post colonial cultures using and changing the English language The entries are written by contributors from all the countries covered The result is a work of reference with a unique feeling for the vitality wealth and diversity of women's writing

of essays focuses on some of the major issues addressed by women's writing in the twentieth century concerning genre subjectivity and social and cultural expectations issues which in the past have been regarded from an essentially male perspective The text introduces women writers whose novels have been widely read and provides an important contribution to the debate about women in literature The Novel and the Problem of New Life Aaron Matz, 2021-07-15 An expansive study of the novel's moral ambivalence toward procreation from the nineteenth century through modernism to the present

Rereading Doris Lessing Claire Sprague, 2014-07-02 According to Sprague doubling in Lessing's novels is a perfect correlative for the complexity and contradiction Lessing perceives as central to the private and collective human experience Her doubles and multiples not only indicate the fracturing or the formation of identity but they also are among the several strategies used to project complex private and societal concerns This study of Lessing's dialectical imagination extends and revises earlier feminist approaches Originally published in 1987 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print These editions are published unaltered from the original and are presented in affordable paperback formats bringing readers both historical and cultural value The Fiction of Doris Lessing Ratna Raman, 2021-10-15 Doris Lessing 1919 2013 a prolific contemporary author was awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature in 2007 for her life work Examining five decades of Lessing's unique life narrative strategies and the literary traditions that she drew upon and improvised this book highlights her extraordinary significance as a writer of our times and for our times Lessing's fiction and non fiction provide a seminal understanding of the key issues that shaped the twentieth century Autodidactic and keenly interested in the world around her Lessing flagged the problems of racism in Africa the inequity of class in modern England the limitations of white middle class women's movements that overlooked the rights of women across race and class the marginalisation of individuals the horror of nuclear war and the need for disarmament and the hazardous global expansion in the face of unrelenting technological progress Further she raised the concern of the atomisation of modern families violence and the urgent need for alternate modes of viewing voicing anxieties decades ahead of other contemporary writers Making futuristic projections through innumerable genres of writing such as realistic narratives memoirs diaries and science fiction Lessing examines myth psychoanalysis and Marxist perspectives engaging with a gamut of experiences that have defined modernity and sets up feminist blueprints that challenge atrophying patriarchal hegemonies
