

Performance Avenues Network

The Performance Avenues Network was developed as a way for individuals, teams and companies to see themselves as they are now and how they can be more aligned with where they need to be.

The conversations that determine the proper performance alignments are centered on this network. What changes do we need to make in order to have a better organizational flow of both people and operations? For example, are our managers well disciplined enough? Are we paying enough attention to learning and what it does?
