Reclaiming Our Democracy Healing The Break Between People And Government:

Reclaiming Our Democracy Sam Daley-Harris, 2013 Most people see working to end global poverty and ensure a stable climate as a fool's errand. Add to that the Citizens United decision and the flood of money rushing into politics and the despair grows deeper. But activist and author Sam Daley Harris has helped thousands of ordinary citizens transform from hopeless bystanders to powerful advocates. This 20th anniversary edition has a new chapter on the groundbreaking work of Citizens Climate Lobby, an increasingly powerful new advocacy group following the RESULTS model, and another new chapter on the Center for Citizen Empowerment and Transformation, a new initiative focused on spreading the original concepts developed by RESULTS.

Reclaiming Our Democracy Sam Harris, 1994 Democracy's Education Harry C. Boyte, 2021-04-30 Today Americans feel powerless in the face of problems on every front. Such feelings are acute in higher education where educators are experiencing an avalanche of changes: cost-cutting, new technologies, and demands that higher education be narrowly geared to the needs of today's workplace. College graduates face mounting debt and uncertain job prospects and worry about a coarsening of the mass culture and the erosion of authentic human relationships. Higher education is increasingly seen and often portrays itself as a ticket to individual success, a private good, not a public one.

Democracy's Education grows from the American Commonwealth Partnership, a year-long project to revitalize the democratic narrative of higher education that began with an invitation to Harry Boyte from the White House to put together a coalition aimed at strengthening higher education as a public good. The project was launched at the beginning of 2012 to mark the 150th anniversary of the Morrill Act, which created land grant colleges. Beginning with an essay by Harry C. Boyte, Reinventing Citizenship as Public Work, which challenges educators and their partners to claim their power to shape the story of higher education and the civic careers of students, the collection brings world-famous scholars, senior government officials, and university presidents together with faculty, students, staff, community organizers, and intellectuals from across the United States and South Africa and Japan. Contributors describe many constructive responses to change already taking place in different kinds of institutions and present cutting-edge ideas like civic science, civic studies, citizen professionalism, and citizen alumni. Authors detail practical approaches to making change, from new faculty and student roles to changes in curriculum and student life and strategies for everyday citizen empowerment. Overall, the work develops a democratic story of education urgently needed to address today's challenges, from climate change to growing inequality.

We Are Not Able to Live in the Sky Mara Kardas-Nelson, 2024-06-11 Shortlisted for the J. Anthony Lukas Prize. A deeply reported work of journalism that explores the promises and perils of microfinance told through the eyes of international lenders and women borrowers in West Africa. In the mid-1970s, Muhammad Yunus, an American-trained Bangladeshi economist, met a poor female stool maker who needed money to expand her business. In an act widely known as the beginning of microfinance, Yunus lent 27 to forty-two women, hoping small credit would help the women pull themselves out of poverty. Soon, Yunus's Grameen Bank was born and the idea of giving very small high interest loans to poor people took off In 2006 Yunus and the Grameen Bank won the Nobel Peace Prize for efforts to create economic and social development from below But there s a problem with this story There are mounting concerns that these small loans are as likely to bury poor people in debt as they are to pull them from poverty with borrowers from India to Kenya facing consequences such as jail time and forced land sales Reportedly hundreds have even committed suicide What happened Did microfinance take a wrong turn or was it flawed from the beginning Mara Kardas Nelson s We Are Not Able to Live in the Sky is about unintended consequences blind optimism and the decades long ramifications of seemingly small policy choices The book is rooted in the stories of women borrowers in Sierra Leone West Africa Their narratives woven through a deep history of modern international development are set against the rise of Yunus s vision that tiny loans would put poverty in museums Kardas Nelson asks What is missed with a single financially focused solution to global inequity that ignores the real drivers of poverty Who stands to benefit and more important who gets left behind

Capitalist Humanitarianism Lucia Hulsether, 2023-01-04 The struggle against neoliberal order has gained momentum over the last five decades to the point that economic elites have not only adapted to the Left s critiques but incorporated them for capitalist expansion Venture funds expose their ties to slavery and pledge to invest in racial equity Banks pitch microloans as a path to indigenous self determination Fair trade brands narrate consumption as an act of feminist solidarity with women artisans in the global South In Capitalist Humanitarianism Lucia Hulsether examines these projects and the contexts of their emergence Blending historical and ethnographic styles and traversing intimate and global scales Hulsether tracks how neoliberal self critique creates new institutional hegemonies that in turn reproduce racial and neocolonial dispossession From the archives of Christian fair traders to luxury social entrepreneurship conferences from US finance offices to Guatemalan towns flooded with their loan products from service economy desperation to the internal contradictions of social movements Hulsether argues that capitalist humanitarian projects are fueled as much by a profit motive as by a hope that racial capitalism can redeem the losses that accumulate in its wake

Our Day to End Poverty Shannon Daley-Harris, Jeffrey Keenan, Karen Speerstra, 2007-06-18 Our Day to End Poverty invites us to look at the twenty four hours in our very ordinary days and to begin to think about poverty in new and creative ways The authors offer scores of simple actions anyone can take to help eradicate poverty Each chapter takes a task we undertake during a typical day and relates it to what we can do to ease the world s suffering We begin by eating breakfast so the first chapter focuses on alleviating world hunger We take the kids to school what can we do to help make education affordable to all In the afternoon we check our email how can we ensure the access to technology that is such an important route out of poverty The chapters are short and pithy full of specific facts resources for learning more and menus of simple often fun and always practical action steps Anne Frank wrote How wonderful it is that nobody need wait a single moment before starting to improve the world Let s get started It is our day to end poverty

Microcredit Meltdown Crystal Murphy, 2018-12-03 Established to help people jumpstart their lives and economy after over a half century of conflict the South Sudanese microcredit sector collapsed in 2012 six years after its takeoff to the detriment of some 80 000 participants Microcredit Meltdown is an account of the ambitious launch and premature downfall of the Southern Sudanese microcredit industry Through a mixed methods ethnographic approach the book charts the state and non state actors that embarked upon economic development after war the assumptions built into microlending and the impact of ideologies and social norms on economic practice The text compares industry theories with the experiences of borrowers and finds that microcredit failed in South Sudan due to false assumptions that were inapplicable to this post conflict environment Yet the over promising and under delivering commercial microcredit was not isolated to South Sudan or even post conflict settings The Juba microcredit story is an instance of the broader global shift toward the commercial microcredit model Initiated to get badly needed capital into the hands of poor people instead the focus became sustaining a lending program The text shows how the ideological and material constraints of the commercial microcredit paradigm were woefully misaligned with local socio cultural realities and created the collapse in South Sudan
