Reconnecting Families A Guide To Strengthening Family Reunification Services:

Reconnecting Families Robin Warsh, Barbara A. Pine, Anthony N. Maluccio, 1996 Reconnecting Families Robin Warsh, Barbara A. Pine, Anthony N. Maluccio, 1996-01-01 Whether or not to reunite children in out of home care with their families of origin is one of the most complicated decisions that child welfare practitioners and administrators face This guide contains all the materials needed by public and private child welfare agencies to conduct a comprehensive self assessment of their current policies programs and resources regarding out of home care The Child Welfare Challenge James K. Whittaker, 2017-07-12 Within a historical and contemporary context this book examines major policy practice and research issues as they jointly shape child welfare practice and its future In addition to describing the major problems facing the field the book highlights service innovations that have been developed in recent years The resulting picture is encouraging especially if certain major program reforms I are implemented and agencies are able to concentrate resources in a focused manner The volume emphasizes families and children whose primary recourse to services has been through publicly funded child welfare agencies The book considers historical areas of service foster care and adoptions in home family centered services child protective services and residential services where social work has an important role Authors address the many fields of practice in which child and family services are provided or that involve substantial numbers of social work programs such as services to adolescent parents child mental health education and juvenile justice agencies This new edition will continue to serve as a fundamen tal introduction for new practitioners as well as summary of recent developments for experienced practitioners Assessing Outcomes in Child and Family Services Anthony N. Maluccio, 2017-11-30 In this collective portrait editors and authors do not attempt to draw systematic country by country comparisons Given the magnitude of the issues they believed that it would be inappropriate to paint with too broad a stroke What they have accomplished however is to codify and identify what the participants repeatedly noted in regard to issues and difficulties inherent in conducting outcome evaluation These include varying definitions of outcome complexities in measuring outcomes of particular interventions with different groups of consumers and documenting the effectiveness of the intervention the tendency to focus on evaluation of process more than outcome the challenge of involving practitioners in the evaluation task in part because its value is unclear to them or perceived as distant or untrustworthy the typical inadequacy of resources available for systematic evaluation and the need to inject rigor into the design and execution of evaluation projects The authors demonstrate strong conviction about sharing research expertise across national boundaries learning through each other how to cope with organizational impediments to cross national collaboration and strengthening the interaction between practice and research Their contributions suggest that there is wide interest in pursuing cross national collaboration In recent years largely in response to demands by their funding sources for accountability assessment of performance and cost effectiveness researchers in human services have been devoting increased attention to outcome evaluation Limited attention

however has been given to the findings of evaluation studies conducted in different countries The present volume has been organized and edited to address the task of learning from outcome research across the world Its goal an extension of a major goal of the human services in any one country is to improve life chances of vulnerable children and youth The Child Welfare Challenge ,2017-07-28 This newly revised and updated edition of a widely adopted text continues to address a broad array of issues in supporting children and strengthening families It includes key information about federal legislation as well as policy related outcomes research in child welfare The first edition of The Child Welfare Challenge was hailed by Social Work as an excellent source from which to gain an in depth understanding of the practice and policy dimensions of child maltreatment foster care and adoption and by the Journal of Sociology and Social Welfare as essential reading for anyone interested in knowing more about child welfare practice in social work Within a historical and contemporary context this book examines major policy practice and research issues as they jointly shape current child welfare practice and possible future directions In addition to describing the major challenges facing the child welfare field the book highlights some of the service innovations that have been developed as these could be used to help address some of these challenges In child welfare the focus is on families and children whose primary recourse to services has been through publicly funded agencies The contributors consider historical areas of service foster care and adoptions in home family centered services child protective services and residential services in which social work has a legitimate long standing and important mission This is a comprehensive book but one that appreciates the fact that many areas such as daycare and early intervention invite exploration It is unique in that each chapter describes how policy initiatives and research can or should influence program design and implementation Resources in Education ,1999-10 Social Work Practice with Families and Children Anthony Maluccio,Barbara Pine,Elizabeth M. Tracy,2002-09-11 This book emphasizes family centered social network and school based interventions in the preparation of social workers for direct and indirect practice with clients from vulnerable populations especially the poor people of color and recent immigrant groups With an eye to recent changes in social work practice and service delivery including the impact of welfare reform and managed care on vulnerable families and children Social Work Practice with Families and Children helps social work students and practitioners understand the increasingly complex needs of their clients Three valuable appendixes include information about tools and instruments to support practice child welfare resource centers and electronic resources pertaining to the field The Child Welfare Challenge Peter J. Pecora,James K. Whittaker,Richard P. Barth,Sharon Borja,William Vesneski,2018-09-03 Using both historical and contemporary contexts The Child Welfare Challenge examines major policy practice and research issues as they jointly shape child welfare practice and its future This text focuses on families and children whose primary recourse to services has been through publicly funded child welfare agencies and considers historical areas of service foster care and adoptions in home family centered services child protective services and residential treatment services where social work has an important role

This fourth edition features new content on child maltreatment and prevention that is informed by key conceptual frameworks informed by brain science public health and other research This edition uses cross sector data and more sophisticated predictive and other analytical processes to enhance planning and practice design The authors have streamlined content on child protective services CPS to allow for new chapters on juvenile justice cross over youth and international innovations as well as more content on biology and brain science The fourth edition includes a glossary of terms as well as instructor and student resource papers available online

Family Centred Group Care: Model Building Frank Ainsworth,2018-10-26
Published in 1997 this study focused on building and empirically validating a model of family centred group care This is an alternative to the traditional model of group child care that is primarily child centred and which reflects the notion of group care as a substitute for parental care The model represents a step forward in the conceptualization of group care practice as both child centred and family affirming The Family Centred Group Care instrument used in the study is unique in that this is the first to measure a model of group care empirically The book will be of interest to child welfare practitioners social workers child care workers and other human service personnel as well as managers of agencies that provide group care services for children and at risk youth Researchers and policy makers will also find this book useful as the study advances the application of empirical methodology to human service programs
