

American lessons for the Netherlands

Katz Rothman analyseert de sociale constructie van moederschap in de Amerikaanse maatschappij aan de hand van drie ideologieën; het kapitalisme, het patriarchaat en de technologie.

De ideologie van het patriarchaat maakt het fysieke moederschap, de zwangerschap en de opvoeding betekenisloos terwijl vaderschap, de genetische band juist allesoverheersend wordt, aldus de schrijfster. De technologie is gebaseerd op drie principes; voorspelbaarheid, rationaliteit en controle. Moederschap wordt gereduceerd tot werk, het lichaam een machine en kinderen het produkt. Kapitalisme. Over moederschap wordt gedacht in termen van eigendom, welke een vertaling vindt in het recht hebben op een kind en op een vrouwenlichaam. In Amerika wordt een kwart van de kinderen door middel van een keizer-snede geboren.

Schrijfster onderstreept het grote belang van het bestaan van voedvrouwen en vrouwengezondheidscentra in Nederland omdat zij ervoor zorgdragen dat de verdere medicalisering van de voortplanting wordt tegengegaan.

Recreating motherhood

Something has, I do believe, gone seriously awry in our cultural understanding of motherhood in America. I find myself surrounded by contradictions. I live in a world that makes no sense.

We in the United States have seen the return of the midwife. And the rise of the cesarean section. For fifty years there were almost no midwives to be found in most of America. Then, in the same period that saw the nurse-midwife introduced into American hospitals, that saw the introduction of 'birth rooms', to replace some of our operating-room-like delivery-rooms, that saw an enormous 'natural childbirth' movement, we also saw the cesarean section rate rise to an astonishing 24 percent. Almost one out of every four births in the U.S. is now by Cesarean. While there has been much talk of birth as a 'healthy, natural event,' each individual birthing woman has been acquainted with her personal 'risk factors,' factors that she is told make her birth less than healthy and far less than natural.

Cigarette ads, clearly aimed at young women, the fastest growing market for cigarettes, carry a warning about smoking harming fetuses. Alcohol companies too have discovered the modern woman as a new market. And bars, beer cans and wine and liquor bottles now carry warnings about the dangers of alcohol use in pregnancy. The advertising is a governmentally acknowledged legitimate business expense; the warnings a government requirement.

The infant formula companies distribute sample packages of formula for new mothers labelled 'In support of your decision to breastfeed.' Hospitals, where virtually all of our births take place, hire lactation consultants, show breastfeeding videotapes, and send all mothers including breastfeeding mothers, home with packages of formula ready-packed in disposable bottles.

While white babies are worth their weight in silver if not gold, some darker skinned children linger for their entire childhood in foster care. And however much children may be valued, the nurturance and fostering of them is not. I heard an angry black social worker on television say of a grieving white woman whose foster child was taken away after three years - its first and only three years - because the woman was white and the child black. "She had no right to love that child. It was just a job." And pretty much the same thing is said of a pregnant woman who is not, I am supposed to believe, the mother of a baby in her belly because in a 'surrogacy agreement,' the baby was contracted to be there.

Childbearing at forty is now considered chic, childbearing at fifty and up is the new frontier of procreative technology, but childbearing at eighteen is pathetic, chances lost. And we have one of the highest teenage pregnancy rates in the developed world.

In the name of 'family values' family needs have gone unmet: we may just now be starting the recovery from a twelve year administration that vetoed every attempt to provide family services, from day care to maternity leave to universal prenatal care to increases in child welfare payments for desperately poor people, all the while calling for a return to 'family values'.

There are the contradictions I live with daily. This is the world in which I study motherhood, mother my children, live my life.

Recreating Motherhood:

Recreating Motherhood Barbara Katz Rothman, 2000 Selling genetically gifted human eggs on the free market for a hefty price In vitro fertilization Fetal rights Prenatal diagnosis Surrogacy All are instances of biomedical and social advancements with which we have become familiar in recent years Yet these issues are often regarded as distinct or only loosely related under the rubric of reproduction Barbara Katz Rothman demonstrates how they form a complex whole that demands of us in response a woman centered class sensitive way of understanding motherhood We need a social policy for dealing with mothers and motherhood that is consistent with feminist politics and feminist theory Her book show how we as a society must first recognize that the real needs of mother father and children have been swept aside in an attempt to reduce the complex process of human reproduction to a clinical event that can be controlled by medical technology Rothman suggests ways to accomplish social and legal change that would allow technological advances to affirm motherhood and the mother child relationship without cost to women s identity This new edition of Recreating Motherhood contains exciting updates Rothman shows how this material is key in understanding the family not just motherhood And a new chapter Reflections on a Decade explores how new reproductive technologies combine with new marketing and new genetics to pose troubling social questions

Adoptive Families in a Diverse Society Katarina Wedar, 2006 Adoptive Families in a Diverse Society brings together twenty one prominent scholars to explore the experience practice and policy of adoption in North America While much existing literature tends to stress the potential problems inherent in non biological kinship the essays in this volume consider adoptive family life in a broad and balanced context Bringing new perspectives to the topics of kinship identity and belonging this path breaking book expands more than our understandings of adoptive family life it urges us to rethink the limits and possibilities of diversity and assimilation in American society
