Red Brotherhood At War Indochina Since The Fall Of Saigon:

Red Brotherhood at War Grant Evans, Kelvin Rowley, 1984-01      The Chinese/Vietnamese Diaspora Yuk Wah Chan, 2012-06-12 Over three decades have passed since the first wave of Indochinese refugees left their homelands. These refugees, mainly the Vietnamese, fled from war and strife in search of a better life elsewhere. By investigating the Vietnamese diaspora in Asia, this book sheds new light on the Asian refugee era: 1975-1991 refugee settlement and different patterns of host-guest interactions that will have implications for refugee studies elsewhere. The book provides a clearer historical understanding of the group dynamics among refugees: the ethnic Chinese, Vietnamese refugees from both the North and South, as well as the northern Vietnamese refugees. An examination of different aspects of migration, including planning for migration, choices of migration route, and reasons for migration; an analysis of the ethnic and refugee politics during the refugee era; the settlement and subsequent resettlement. This book will be of interest to students and scholars of globalization, migration, ethnicities, refugee histories, and politics.      Fields of Desire Holly High, 2014-02-17 In this important new book, High argues that poverty reduction policies are formulated and implemented in fields of desire. Drawing on psychoanalytic understandings of desire, she shows that such programs circulate around the question of what is lacking. Far from rational responses to measures of need, then, the politics of poverty are unconscious, culturally expressed, mutually contradictory, and sometimes contrary to self-interest. Based on long-term fieldwork in a Lao village that has been the subject of multiple poverty reduction and development programs, High's account looks at implementation on the ground. While these efforts were laudable in their aims of reducing poverty, they often failed to achieve their objectives. Local people received them with suspicion and disillusionment. Nevertheless, poverty reduction policies continued to be renewed by planners and even desired locally. High relates this to the force of aspirations among rural Lao. Ambivalent understandings of power and the post-rebellious moment in contemporary Laos.      Regionalism and Globalism in Southeast Asia E. Palmujoki, 2001-10-25 Eero Palmujoki examines the regionalist debate in Southeast Asia from the end of the Cold War up to the beginning of the new millennium. He focuses on the organization of the ASEAN Association of Southeast Asian Nations and covers the political, economic, and security issues characterizing its development. The book compares the theoretical debate with political developments in the region from the beginning of the post-Cold War period with its rapid economic growth through the Asian economic crisis of 1997 and the resulting restructuring of Southeast Asian regional systems.      Walking the Tightrope Jair van der Lijn, 2006 The media generally tend to focus in particular on the failures of UN peacekeeping operations. In Walking the Tightrope, Jair van der Lijn draws a different conclusion. He argues that once a peace agreement has been signed, the efforts of the UN peacekeeping operations do contribute to durable peace. By analyzing the UN peacekeeping operations in Cambodia, Mozambique, Rwanda, and El Salvador in a structured, focused comparison, this book shows how UN operations do have a contribution to make.      Bilateral Legacies in East and Southeast Asia N. Ganesan, 2016-04-29 This edited volume examines the concept of overhangs or legacies or negative stereotypical images in international relations and their impact on bilateral relations between geographically proximate states in East Asia. The case studies chosen Japan Korea Japan China Vietnam China Thailand Myanmar and Thailand Cambodia demonstrate conclusively that bilateral overhangs or legacies have a significant impact on contemporary international relations. Such images are regularly replicated and stoked by a variety of constituencies including state agencies for their own selfish interests. The evidence also points to the fact that such bilateral relationships are relatively self contained and often operate with their own dynamics. Powerful condensation symbols are appropriated to weave a story of the virtuous self and the stereotypical other. This negative image and its replication is important to an understanding of turbulent bilateral relations in East Asia and also helps to inform how such relations can be brought to an even keel.

Political Oppositions in Industrialising Asia Garry Rodan, 2013-04-15. Industrialization has meant sweeping social transformations across Asia. Some political commentators have predicted that the expansion of civil society and the rapid development of liberal democracy will necessarily follow. The contributors to this volume dissect the extent of political opposition in Asia and analyze the nature of new social movements outside institutional party politics which are contesting the exercise of state power. Nine original case studies explore the variety of political oppositions across Asia from non governmental organizations and the formal opponents of the PAP in Singapore to Chinese dissidents based outside the People's Republic of China. All take up the challenge of looking at political opposition in the light of the new social phenomenon of the rising middle class or new rich of Asia. Garry Rodan's hard hitting analysis of the problems of current political theorizing in relation to Asia sets the case studies firmly in the context of wider debates about democratization. Political Oppositions in Industrialising Asia shatters complacent assumptions about the progress of liberal democracy.

Anatomy of a Crisis David M. Ayres, 2000-01-01. This work challenges the widespread belief that Cambodia's education crisis is part of the dreadful legacy of the Khmer Rouge holocaust in which thousands of students teachers and intellectuals perished. It draws on an extensive range of sources.
