This is a great resource for all mystery readers and collectors. Winner of the 2008 Macavity Awards for Best Mystery Nonfiction. The Red Diamond Zainab Iqbal, 2011-11-09 5:00 pm. It is time for the execution. Two minutes later Derrick found himself stepping on the old shaft—that wooden shaft where the to-be-executed stood before it was taken out from beneath their feet, leaving them hanging in the air by their necks. The world was a beautiful garden of dreams and perpetual reveries where everything went just as Derrick Frederick crafted it. Until it turned upside down. Until that glorious picturesque shattered. And he's forced to take the path which you take only when no other is left where you no longer govern your actions; your pain does. The Red Diamond gives him a stand where he thought and almost accepted that everything was lost.

The foremost reference in the field, completely revised and updated and now covering about 600 authors, mainly English language writers whose work appeared during or since the time of Conan Doyle. Murder Done to Death John Kennedy Melling, 1996-04-02. An art form comes of age when it is imitated, then parodied, and finally repeated in pastiche. Crime and detective fiction is now so well established in different formats that it lends itself easily to these literary forms. After a brief history of the genre is an analysis of a large number of parody books and short stories, with details of correspondence and interviews the writer has had with masters of the craft like Georges Simenon and Margaret Millar. The next section covers those books written by teams of six or more crime writers. The pastiche section deals with a number of books and short stories in depth: crime stories for younger readers and the exploits of literary detectives and criminals. Do It Yourself Sleuthing covers dossiers, games, and books of solvable short crime stories. This leads naturally to all forms of parody and pastiche in films, theater, television, and radio, including stage and film musicals.

Crime Films Thomas Leitch, 2002-08-15. This book surveys the entire range of crime films, including important subgenres such as the gangster film, the private eye film, film noir, as well as the victim film, the erotic thriller, and the crime comedy. Focusing on ten films that span the range of the twentieth century, Thomas Leitch traces the transformation of the three leading figures that are common to all crime films: the criminal, the victim, and the avenger. Analyzing how each of the subgenres establishes oppositions among its ritual antagonists, he shows how the distinctions among them become blurred throughout the course of the century. This blurring, Leitch maintains, reflects and fosters a deep social ambivalence towards crime and criminals while the criminal victim and avenger characters effectively map the shifting relations between subgenres such as the erotic thriller and the police film within the larger genre of crime film that informs them all
