Final Red Hills Management Plan and Environmental Assessment, 1985 Red Hills Management Plan, Draft Environmental Assessment (EA)(1984) B1; Final Environmental Assessment (EA), 1985 The Red Hills Cornelius Weygandt, 1929 Red Hills and Cotton Ben Robertson, 2021-03-29 Red Hills and Cotton is suffused with Ben Robertson's deep affection for his native Upcountry South Carolina. An internationally known and respected journalist, Robertson had a knack for finding the interesting and exotic in seemingly humble or ordinary folk and a keen eye for human interest stories. His power of description and disarmingly straightforward narrative were the hallmarks of his writing. A loyal Southern son, Robertson cherished what he judged to be the South's best traditions: personal independence and responsibility, the rejection of crass materialism, a deep piety, and a love of freedom. He repeatedly lamented the region's many shortcomings: poverty, racial hierarchy, political impotence, lack of intellectual curiosity, and its tendency to blame all of its twentieth-century problems on the defeat of the Confederacy. An informative and entertaining new introduction by Lacy K. Ford Jr., associate professor of history at the University of South Carolina, provides fascinating new facts about Robertson's life and recasts his achievements in Red Hills and Cotton as social commentary. Ford captures the essence of Robertson's restless and questioning but unfailingly Southern spirit.

The National Gazetteer of the United States of America Geological Survey (U.S.), 1987 U.S. Geological Survey Bulletin, 1983 Ben Robertson Jodie Peeler, 2019-10-30 In Ben Robertson, South Carolina Journalist and Author, Jodie Peeler tells the story of a man consumed with a need to see the world but whose heart never really left home. Drawing heavily on Robertson's writings and personal papers, Peeler describes his active career as a journalist, which took him to Hawaii, Australia, Europe, Java, New York, and Washington, D.C. The early years of Robertson's career were spent as a reporter for the New York Herald Tribune. After several years as a freelance writer, he became a World War II correspondent covering England for the New York newspaper. While Robertson's wartime dispatches drew attention and praise, they represented but one aspect of the man's wide-ranging works and career. For the Ben Robertson who witnessed destruction and heroism in the fires of London was also a proud son of South Carolina. In addition to his work as a journalist, Robertson wrote three books: Travelers Rest, a fictionalized account of his ancestors settling in South Carolina; I Saw England, which ruffled southern feathers; and I Saw England, which presents a firsthand account of the Battle of Britain and advocates for the United States to intervene in World War II. His heartfelt memoir, Red Hills and Cotton, which recalls his boyhood days in Pickens County and calls for the South to look to the future, became a southern classic. In 1943, while en route to his new job as London bureau chief for the New York Herald Tribune, Robertson lost his life in a plane crash. Throughout his decidedly brief but adventurous life, Robertson never stopped being what one friend described as a sentimental South Carolinian who carried his dreams on the tip of his tongue. And over time, he evolved into a progressive voice calling on the South to reevaluate its attitudes on race and economics. This is the story of that proud South Carolinian.
