Stories of Red Hanrahan W. B. Yeats, 2016-01-11 RED HANRAHAN Hanrahan the hedge schoolmaster a tall strong red haired young man came into the barn where some of the men of the village were sitting on Samhain Eve It had been a dwelling house and when the man that owned it had built a better one he had put the two rooms together and kept it for a place to store one thing or another There was a fire on the old hearth and there were dip candles stuck in bottles and there was a black quart bottle upon some boards that had been put across two barrels to make a table Most of the men were sitting beside the fire and one of them was singing a long wandering song about a Munster man and a Connaught man that were quarrelling about their two provinces Hanrahan went to the man of the house and said I got your message but when he had said that he stopped for an old mountainy man that had a shirt and trousers of unbleached flannel and that was sitting by himself near the door was looking at him and moving an old pack of cards about in his hands and muttering Don t mind him said the man of the house he is only some stranger came in awhile ago and we bade him welcome it being Samhain night but I think he is not in his right wits Listen to him now and you will hear what he is saying

The Promise and Premise of Creativity Eugene Eoyang, 2012-07-12 The Promise and Premise of Creativity considers literature in the larger context of globalization and the clash of cultures Refuting the view that the study of literature is useless Eoyang argues that it expands three distinct intellectual skills creative imagination vicarious sympathy and capacious intuition With the advent of the personal computer and the blurring of cultural and economic boundaries it is the ability to imagine to intuit and to invent that will mark the educated student and allow her to survive the rapid pace of change As never before the ability to empathize with other peoples to understand cultures very different from one's own is vital to success in a globalized world In this the very uselessness of literature may inure the mind to think creatively Engaging with both the theory and practice of literature its past and its potential future Eoyang claims that our sense of the world at large of the salient similarities and differences between cultures would be critically diminished without comparative literature

East-West Symbioses Eugene Eoyang, 2019-03-15 This book explores the encounters between East and West studying how they get along These exchanges involve deliberate exoticizations and incommensurabilities as well as creative fusions such as Matteo Ricci a Jesuit monk in the late 16th early 17th centuries who learned Chinese in Beijing well enough to compose works in Chinese and Octavio Paz the Mexican Nobel Laureate who admired Chinese civilization The book also considers the effect of the West on Asian countries the cases of Japan and Turkey who tried to modernize by becoming more Western and the examples of China and Korea who adopted Western forms of theatre to advance a distinctly Asian aesthetic It will appeal to anyone seeking more than a superficial understanding of the encounters between East and West

Idema, Beata Grant, 2020-03-23 One of the most exciting recent developments in the study of Chinese literature has been the rediscovery of an extremely rich and diverse tradition of women's writing of the imperial period 221 B C E 1911 C E Many of these writings are of considerable literary quality Others provide us with moving insights into the lives and feelings of a surprisingly diverse group of women living in Confucian China a society that perhaps more than any other is known for its patriarchal tradition Because of the burgeoning interest in the study of both premodern and modern women in China several scholarly books articles and even anthologies of women s poetry have been published in the last two decades This anthology differs from previous works by offering a glimpse of women s writings not only in poetry but in other genres as well including essays and letters drama religious writing and narrative fiction The authors have presented the selections within their respective biographical and historical contexts This comprehensive approach helps to clarify traditional Chinese ideas on the nature and function of literature as well as on the role of the woman writer
