Art in the Service of Colonialism Hamid

Irbouh, 2013-03-25. In the Moroccan French Protectorate 1912-1956, the French established vocational and fine art schools, imposed modern systems of industrial production and pedagogy, and reinvented old traditions. Hamid Irbouh argues that the French used this systematic modernisation of local arts and crafts regulation to impose their control. He looks in particular at the role and place of women in the structures of art production and education created by the French that transformed and dominated Moroccan society during the colonial period. French women infiltrated the Moroccan milieu to buttress colonial ideology, yet at critical moments Moroccan women rejected traditional roles and sabotaged colonial plans. Meanwhile, the contradictions between reformist goals and the old order added to social dislocations and led to rebellion against French hegemony. Irbouh examines and analyses these processes and demonstrates how Moroccan artists have struggled to exorcise French influences and rediscover an authentic visual culture since decolonisation. This book reveals that the weight of colonial history continues to weigh heavily on artistic practice and production.

Discover Islamic Art in the Mediterranean

, 2007. The great Islamic Dynasties of the Mediterranean are the protagonists of this book, together with their fascinating artistic and cultural legacy. Thirty-nine scholars, museum curators and experts in cultural heritage from 14 countries in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East are the authors of the 22 chapters that take the reader through 13 centuries of Islamic history, from the period of the Prophet Muhammad up until the end of the Ottoman Empire. 1922. Discover Islamic Art in the Mediterranean is a collaborative work that was written for all those who share our idea that there is not only one history, but that at least as many histories as peoples exist. The idea of this book is to contribute to a historically more accurate and thus more authentic understanding of Islam by offering different perspectives of interpreting history, art and culture.
