Married In White:

Is Marriage for White People? Ralph Richard Banks, 2011-09-01 A distinguished Stanford law professor examines the steep decline in marriage rates among the African American middle class and offers a paradoxical nearly incendiary solution Black women are three times as likely as white women to never marry That sobering statistic reflects a broader reality African Americans are the most unmarried people in our nation and contrary to public perception the racial gap in marriage is not confined to women or the poor Black men particularly the most successful and affluent are less likely to marry than their white counterparts College educated black women are twice as likely as their white peers never to marry Is Marriage for White People is the first book to illuminate the many facets of the African American marriage decline and its implications for American society The book explains the social and economic forces that have undermined marriage for African Americans and that shape everyone's lives It distills the best available research to trace the black marriage decline's far reaching consequences including the disproportionate likelihood of abortion sexually transmitted diseases single parenthood same sex relationships polygamous relationships and celibacy among black women This book centers on the experiences not of men or of the poor but of those black women who have surged ahead even as black men have fallen behind Theirs is a story that has not been told Empirical evidence documents its social significance but its meaning emerges through stories drawn from the lives of women across the nation Is Marriage for White People frames the stark predicament that millions of black women now face marry down or marry out At the core of the inquiry is a paradox substantiated by evidence and experience alike If more black women married white men then more black men and women would marry each other This book not only sits at the intersection of two large and well established markets race and marriage it responds to yearnings that are widespread and deep in American society The African American marriage decline is a secret in plain view about which people want to know more intertwining as it does two of the most vexing issues in contemporary society The fact that the most prominent family in our nation is now an African American couple only intensifies the interest and the market A book that entertains as it informs Is Marriage for White People will be the definitive guide to one of the most monumental social developments of the past half century Demographic Characteristics of Persons Married Between January 1955 and June 1958, United States ... National Center for Health Statistics (U.S.). Division of Vital Statistics, 1965 Why Black Men Love White Women Rajen Persaud, 2009-03-03 Why do so many black men desire and covet the company of white women And why does this subject deeply touch so many people of both races Is it a matter of love sex revenge power or politics All of the above asserts Rajen Persaud in this illuminating no holds barred book that will have readers laughing with recognition while fundamentally changing the way they see just about everything from sex and marriage to gender and race in all its foibles pretensions and ultimate possibilities Demographic Characteristics of Persons Married Between January 1955 and June 1958, United States National Center for Health Statistics (U.S.), 1965 Descendants of Adam Spach Adelaide Lisetta Fries, 1924 Adam

Spach was born in 1720 at Pfaffenhofen Alsace Germany He and his father immigrated to America in 1733 When they reached America he was bound out for six years to pay part of the passage At the end of the six years he settled at Manakosy Maryland He married Maria Elisabeth Hueter in 1752 at Frederickstown Maryland They had nine children 1753 1771 They moved to North Carolina in 1753 and settled near Wachovia North Carolina He died at Friedberg North Carolina in 1801

Vital Statistics- Special Reports ,1956 White Women, Black Men Martha Hodes,2014-07-01 This book is the first to explore the history of a powerful category of illicit sex in America s past liaisons between Southern white women and black men Martha Hodes tells a series of stories about such liaisons in the years before the Civil War explores the complex ways in which white Southerners tolerated them in the slave South and shows how and why these responses changed with emancipation Hodes provides details of the wedding of a white servant woman and a slave man in 1681 an antebellum rape accusation that uncovered a relationship between an unmarried white woman and a slave and a divorce plea from a white farmer based on an adulterous affair between his wife and a neighborhood slave Drawing on sources that include courtroom testimony legislative petitions pardon pleas and congressional testimony she presents the voices of the authorities eyewitnesses and the transgressors themselves and these voices seem to say that in the slave South whites were not overwhelmingly concerned about such liaisons beyond the racial and legal status of the children that were produced Only with the advent of black freedom did the issue move beyond neighborhood dramas and into the arena of politics becoming a much more serious taboo than it had ever been before Hodes gives vivid examples of the violence that followed the upheaval of war when black men and white women were targeted by the Ku Klux Klan and unprecedented white rage and terrorism against such liaisons began to erupt An era of terror and lynchings was inaugurated and the legacy of these sexual politics lingered well into the twentieth century Raising Generation Rx Linda M. Blum,2015-03-13 Winner 2016 Outstanding Publication in the Sociology of Disability American Sociological Association Section Disability and Society Examines the experiences of mothers coping with their children s invisible disabilities in the face of daunting social economic and political realities Recent years have seen an explosion in the number of children diagnosed with invisible disabilities such as ADHD mood and conduct disorders and high functioning autism spectrum disorders Whether they are viewed as biological problems in brain wiring or as results of the increasing medicalization of childhood the burden of dealing with the day to day trials and complex medical and educational decisions falls almost entirely on mothers Yet few ask how these mothers make sense of their children s troubles and to what extent they feel responsibility or blame Raising Generation Rx offers a groundbreaking study that situates mothers experiences within an age of neuroscientific breakthrough a high stakes knowledge based economy cutbacks in public services and decent jobs and increased global competition and racialized class and gender inequality Through in depth interviews observations of parents meetings and analyses of popular advice Linda Blum examines the experiences of diverse mothers coping with the challenges of their children s invisible disabilities in the face of daunting social economic and political realities She reveals how mothers in widely varied households learn to advocate for their children in the dense bureaucracies of the educational and medical systems wrestle with anguishing decisions about the use of psychoactive medications and live with the inescapable blame and stigma in their communities Vital and Health Statistics ,1988 Harvard Law Review: Volume 127, Number 5 - March 2014 Harvard Law Review,2014-03-10 The March 2014 issue Volume 127 Number 5 features the following articles and review essays Article The Puzzling Presumption of Reviewability Nicholas Bagley Book Review Making the Modern Family Interracial Intimacy and the Social Production of Whiteness Camille Gear Rich Book Review The Case for Religious Exemptions Whether Religion Is Special or Not Mark L Rienzi Book Review Courts as Change Agents Do We Want More Or Less Jeffrey S Sutton Note Improving Relief from Abusive Debt Collection Practices In addition student case notes explore Recent Cases on such diverse subjects as standing in increased risk lawsuits concealed carry permits free speech and wedding photography customary international law and class action tolling in securities cases as well as Recent Legislation involving domestic violence and Native American tribal jurisdiction Finally the issue includes several summaries of Recent Publications The Harvard Law Review is offered in a quality digital edition featuring active Contents linked notes active URLs in notes and proper ebook formatting The contents of Number 5 Mar 2014 include scholarly essays by leading academic figures as well as substantial student research The Review is a student run organization whose primary purpose is to publish a journal of legal scholarship The organization is formally independent of the Harvard Law School Student editors make all editorial and organizational decisions
