climbing became a technical system Csikszentmihaly 1976 observed that the sole interest of rock climbers at that time was to climb the rock Rock climbers were known to reach the top and not even glance around at the scenery The focus was on reaching the top of the rock In contrast mountaineers saw the whole mountain as a single unit of perception The ascent to them is a gestalt including the aesthetic historical personal and physical sensations Csikszentmihaly 1976 p 486 This is an example of two contrasting approaches to the same kind of landscape and of two different groups of people Interestingly in the US Europe and Japan a large segment of the early rock climbers were young mathematicians and theoretical physicists while the mountaineers were a more varied lot

Fatal Fictions Alison L. LaCroix, Richard H. McAdams, Martha Craven Nussbaum, 2017 Writers of fiction have always confronted topics of crime and punishment This age old fascination with crime on the part of both authors and readers is not surprising given that criminal justice touches on so many political and psychological themes essential to literature and comes equipped with a trial process that contains its own dramatic structure This volume explores this profound and enduring literary engagement with crime investigation and criminal justice The collected essays explore three themes that connect the world of law with that of fiction First defining and punishing crime is one of the fundamental purposes of government along with the protection of victims by the prevention of crime And yet criminal punishment remains one of the most abused and terrifying forms of political power Second crime is intensely psychological and therefore an important subject by which a writer can develop and explore character A third connection between criminal justice and fiction involves the inherently dramatic nature of the legal system itself particularly the trial Moreover the ongoing public conversation about crime and punishment suggests that the time is ripe for collaboration between law and literature in this troubled domain The essays in this collection span a wide array of genres including tragic drama science fiction lyric poetry autobiography and mystery novels The works discussed include works as old as fifth century BCE Greek tragedy and as recent as contemporary novels memoirs and mystery novels The cumulative result is arresting there are killer wives and crimes against trees a government bureaucrat who sends political adversaries to their death for treason before falling to the same fate himself a convicted murderer who doesn't die when hanged a psychopathological collector whose quite sane kidnapping victim nevertheless also collects Justice Thomas reading and misreading of Big Brother a man who forgives his son's murderer and one who cannot forgive his wife's nonexistent adultery fictional detectives who draw on historical analysis to solve murders These essays begin a conversation and they illustrate the great depth and power of crime in literature
