Martial and the English Epigram from Sir Thomas Wyatt to Ben Jonson Thomas King Whipple, 1925 Martial and the English Epigram from Sir Thomas Wyatt to Ben Jonson Thomas King Whipple, 1925 The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature Patrick Cheney, Philip Hardie, 2015-10-29 The Oxford History of Classical Reception OHCREL is designed to offer a comprehensive investigation of the numerous and diverse ways in which literary texts of the classical world have stimulated responses and refashioning by English writers Covering the full range of English literature from the early Middle Ages to the present day OHCREL both synthesizes existing scholarship and presents cutting edge new research employing an international team of expert contributors for each of the five volumes OHCREL endeavours to interrogate rather than inertly reiterate conventional assumptions about literary periods the processes of canon formation and the relations between literary and non literary discourse It conceives of reception as a complex process of dialogic exchange and rather than offering large cultural generalizations it engages in close critical analysis of literary texts It explores in detail the ways in which English writers engagement with classical literature casts as much light on the classical originals as it does on the English writers own cultural context This second volume covers the years 1558 1660 and explores the reception of the ancient genres and authors in English Renaissance literature engaging with the major and many of the minor writers of the period including Shakespeare Marlowe Spenser and Jonson Separate chapters examine the Renaissance institutions and contexts which shape the reception of antiquity and an annotated bibliography provides substantial material for further reading , The Country House in English Renaissance Poetry William Alexander McClung, 2023-11-15 The Country House in English Renaissance Poetry explores a unique literary genre that emerged during the seventeenth century celebrating the ideals of the English manor estate while critiquing the societal shifts that threatened its values These poems written by figures such as Ben Jonson Andrew Marvell Robert Herrick and Thomas Carew praise the virtues of traditional manorial life hospitality responsibility and order set against the backdrop of expansive and ostentatious estates built by political elites of the Elizabethan and Jacobean periods By juxtaposing the modest yet harmonious homes of families like the Sidneys of Penshurst against the grandiose mansions of newly affluent courtiers these works reflect a nostalgia for a simpler more virtuous era tied to a hierarchical and agrarian ideal The book examines the classical and social influences on the genre tracing its roots to Roman poets like Martial and its connections to the myth of the Golden Age It also delves into the architectural and societal contexts of the period demonstrating how poets critiqued modern extravagance and upheld the moral prestige of country living Through a detailed analysis of seminal works the study reveals how these poets used the country house as both a symbol of cultural stability and a stage for their critiques of contemporary life blending aesthetic appreciation with social commentary The genre deeply intertwined with notions of labor productivity and divine order serves as a lens through which to view the changing dynamics of seventeenth century England This title is part of UC Press s Voices

Meakin, 2017-07-05 Lady Anne Bacon Drury 1572-1624 was the granddaughter and niece of two of England's Lord Keepers of the Great Seal Sir Nicholas Bacon and Sir Francis Bacon Lady Anne was also the friend and patroness of John Donne and Joseph Hall however she deserves to be remembered in her own right Within her massive country house Lady Anne created a tiny painted room that she seems to have used as a kind of three dimensional book The walls consisted of panels of pictures and mottoes grouped under Latin sentences These panels can still be viewed in a Suffolk museum Christchurch Mansion in Ipswich Some panels point to classical and Biblical sources and to popular emblem books The sources of other panels are more recondite while still others are original compositions by Lady Anne The panels exhibit a contemptus mundi theme and reflect a struggle with ambition pride and even despair Some panels also appear to register carefully veiled but pointed critiques of political and religious events and figures Lady Anne's painted closet or architext is thus relevant to a wide range of early modern scholarship in various disciplines but is as yet largely unappreciated For the first time in four hundred years this book fully describes the closet and places it in its personal social intellectual and aesthetic contexts It argues for the painted closet's importance for understanding early modern conceptualizations of private and public spaces and for illuminating fundamental early modern habits of seeing and reading especially combinations of text and image Finally this book explores the closet as an example of the ingenious ways in which female subjectivity found ways to express itself even within the constraints of early modern patriarchal society in England
