The Modernity of English Art, 1914-30 David Peters Corbett,1997 The modernity of English art reconceptualises the history of English painting from 1914 to the end of the 1920s Whereas most accounts have tended to see the period as marked by a tension between the native tradition and Modernism this ground breaking book rethinks the 1920s by situating both Modernist and non Modernist painters within a wider cultural history Established figures such as Paul Nash Edward Wadsworth and Wyndham Lewis as well as lesser known artists like Charles Sims John Armstrong and Ethelbert White are discussed and illustrated in a series of innovative readings within this context The modernity of English art offers a new account of painting in England after 1914 and argues for a strongly revisionist view of the significance of the modern during this important but neglected period in English art "Art, Sex and Eugenics " Anthea Callen,2017-07-05 This book reveals how art and sex promoted the desire for the genetically perfect body Its eight chapters demonstrate that before eugenics was stigmatized by the Holocaust and Western histories were sanitized of its prevalence a vast array of Western politicians physicians eugenic societies family leagues health associations laboratories and museums advocated through verbal and visual cultures the breeding of the master race Each chapter illustrates the uncanny resemblances between models of sexual management and the perfect eugenic body in America Britain France Communist Russia and Nazi Germany both before and after the Second World War Traced back to the eighteenth century anatomy lesson the perfect eugenic body is revealed as athletic hygienic pure blooded and sexually potent This paradigm is shown to have persisted as much during the Bolshevik sexual revolution as in democratic nations and fascist regimes Consistently posed naked these images were unashamedly exhibitionist and voyeuristic Despite stringent legislation against obscenity not only were these images commended for soliciting the spectator s gaze but also for motivating the spectator to act out their desire An examination of the counter archives of Maori and African Americans also exposes how biologically racist eugenics could be equally challenged by art Ultimately this book establishes that art inculcated procreative sex with the Corpus Delecti the delectable body healthy wholesome and sanctioned by eugenicists for improving the Western race The art of the possible Chris Williams,Andrew Edwards,2015-07-01 This volume explores some of the major transitions opportunities and false dawns of modern British political history It engages with the scholarly legacy of Professor Duncan Tanner 1958 2010 whose work was focused on the political process and on politics in government Chronologically its span runs from the first general election to be conducted under the terms of the Third Reform Act through to the 1997 referenda in favour of devolved assemblies in Scotland and Wales This was the period in which British politicians most obviously addressed a mass British wide electorate seeking national approval for policies and programmes to be enacted on a UK wide basis Aimed at scholars and students of modern British history this volume will also interest the general reader who wishes to get to grips with some of the latest in Britain during the Second World War Rebecca Searle, 2020-07-23 The War Artists Advisory Committee WAAC were responsible for the production of some of the most iconic images of the Second World War Despite its rich historical value this collection has been poorly utilised by historians and hasn't been subjected to the levels of analysis afforded to other forms of wartime culture This innovative study addresses this gap by bringing official war art into dialogue with the social economic and military histories of the Second World War Rebecca Searle explores the tensions between the documentarist and propagandistic roles of the WAAC in their representation of aerial warfare in the battle for production the Battle of Britain the Blitz and the bombing of Germany Her analyses demonstrate that whilst there was a strong correlation between war art and propaganda the WAAC depicted many aspects of experience that were absent from wartime propaganda such as class divisions within the services gendered hierarchies within industries civilian death and the true nature of the bombing of Germany In addition she shows that propagandistic constructions were not entirely separate from lived experience but reflected experience and shaped the way that individuals made sense of the war Accessibly written highly illustrated and packed with valuable examples of the use of war art as historical source this book will enhance our understanding of the social and cultural history of Britain during the Second World War

Demons of Domesticity Anne Clendinning, 2017-05-15 Demons of Domesticity offers a social history of the English gas industry from the 1880s to the late 1930s with an emphasis on the corporations that served London and the Home Counties It documents the hitherto unexamined role that women played in the development of the industry by considering two major interlocking themes the expansion of sales occupations for women in the English gas industry and the parallel growth and diversification of the industry's marketing strategies During the late nineteenth century the home became the focal point for a number of debates concerning female employment and gender roles As an increasing number of labour saving domestic devices came onto the market women found themselves targeted by manufacturing companies and utility suppliers both as consumers and advocates Foremost among these companies were representatives of the gas industry who actively addressed domestic issues As the promoters purveyors and consumers of domestic technology Demons of Domesticity suggests that English female employees and consumers were not the hapless dupes of corporate marketing but instead had clear ideas about how domestic technology could and should be used to reconfigure the public and private spaces of work and home
