A laboratory medical scientist was giving a lecture to a bunch of Irish interns.

" Medical science is making great strides and improving all the time, for instance, we can now successfully transplant kidneys in rabbits, from one rabbit to another rabbit, and the beneficiary would continue to live out a normal life expectancy, now this is what we call progress, any questions". ?

One intern stood up, " Sir, can you give us a rough figure, as to how many rabbits would need kidney transplants, per annum "
