Linda G. Myers, Arthur H. Myers USMC, 2011-11-28 Art Myers is a Viet Nam veteran with memories. In 2005 he and his wife Linda traveled to Viet Nam with a group led by a psychotherapist who works with veterans affected by Post Traumatic Stress Disorder PTSD. From the Mekong Delta in the south to Hanoi in the north it was a life changing journey. Art's story is not unusual. He was a sergeant in the Marine Corps in 1968 a radio repairman stationed at Da Nang during the Tet offensive. He saw only one day of combat but that day affected every aspect of his life for 35 years. Many veterans suffer from their memories of their time at war. They may bury them or deny them or run from them or act out in other areas of their lives. Alcoholism drug addiction and suicide rates are higher than average as are failed relationships and chronic unemployment. Art decided to return to Viet Nam to overlay the memories of the young man during a terrible time with those of a man in late middle age. It was a good choice for him and for his family. About the book Art says I hope that talking about this journey of healing and how it has changed me will help other veterans and their families. The idea of helping even one other veteran stop the nightmares and gain some peace made my story worth sharing.

The Greatness and Decline of Rome

Guglielmo Ferrero, 1908

Justin Trudeau's Canada Nora Franklin, AI, 2025-01-17 Justin Trudeau's Canada offers a comprehensive examination of how Canada's 23rd Prime Minister has shaped the nation's trajectory since 2015 focusing on the intricate balance between progressive values and practical governance. The book meticulously analyzes three core pillars of Trudeau's leadership: social policy reform, environmental protection initiatives, and economic management, revealing how these interconnected elements have transformed Canadian society and its position on the global stage. Through a combination of statistical data, policy documents, and insider interviews, the book tracks major initiatives like carbon pricing implementation, cannabis legalization, and the government's response to the COVID-19 pandemic. The analysis is particularly noteworthy for its detailed exploration of how Trudeau's administration has attempted to harmonize seemingly competing interests such as environmental protection with economic growth and progressive social programs with fiscal responsibility. The narrative unfolds across three main sections, moving from diversity and inclusion initiatives to environmental policies and economic measures. By examining parliamentary records and policy outcomes, the book provides valuable insights into the practical challenges of implementing progressive policies within Canada's federal system. This analytical approach, supported by extensive research and first-hand accounts from government officials, offers readers a balanced understanding of contemporary Canadian governance while avoiding partisan rhetoric.
