Quality of Life: Application to persons with disabilities Robert L. Schalock,1996 Volume II focuses on how the concepts and research on quality of life can be applied to people with mental retardation

Leisure Education, Community Development, and Populations with Special Needs Atara Sivan,Hillel Ruskin,2000-01-01 The results are presented of a Commission of the World Leisure and Recreation Association WLRA to examine the role of leisure and education for leisure activities among people with special needs living in the community requiring social or health services outside hospital A conceptual and practical framework for understanding the process of leisure education is provided and its role for community development and populations with special needs discussed A total of 17 chapters serve as a foundation for developing models and programmes for leisure education within community settings and will be of interest to those working and researching in the area of education leisure studies and community development

Human Behavior and Environment Irwin Altman,Joachim F. Wohlwill,2013-11-11 This is the first in a series of volumes concerned with research encompassed by the rather broad term environment and behavior The goal of the series is to begin the process of integration of knowledge on environmental and behavioral topics so that researchers and professionals can have material from diverse sources accessible in a single publication The field of environment and behavior is broad and interdisciplinary with researchers drawn from a variety of traditional disciplines such as psychology sociology anthropology geography and other social and behavioral sciences and from the biological and life sciences of medicine psychiatry biology and ethology The interdisciplinary quality of the field is also reflected in the extensive involvement of environmental professionals from architecture urban planning landscape architecture interior design and other fields such as recreation and natural resources to name just a few At present the field has a somewhat chaotic flavor with research being carried out by a variety of scholars who publish in a multitude of outlets Many researchers and practitioners are unaware of the state of knowledge regarding a specific topic because of the unavailability of integrated reference materials There are only a handful of books dealing with environment and behavior most of them unintegrated collections of readings with only an occasional systematic analysis of some facet of the field

Ecotourism Programme Planning David A. Fennell,2002-01-01

Tourism is the world's largest industry. In the past decade it is the natural resource based sector that has experienced the greatest growth. In particular adventure cultural and ecotourism ACE tourism for example skiing white water rafting whale watching festivals and fairs. This book provides an in depth overview of the different operations of ACE tourism. It draws on theory from recreation and leisure studies tourism marketing and environmental management to demonstrate the importance of effective program planning. This is especially significant as industry competition becomes more intense in this growth sector. Therapeutic Recreation Leadership and Programming Robin Kunstler, Frances Stavola Daly, 2010-06-14

Therapeutic Recreation Leadership and Programming will help students learn the essential aspects of professional practice while developing a leadership mind set. The book focuses on the day to day responsibilities of the therapeutic recreation specialist TRS while integrating ethical considerations into each aspect of the job. Readers will learn how to perform the daily work of a TRS while maintaining the highest ethical standards of the profession. The book details the principles theories and codes of ethics that will form the foundation of specialists understanding of the field and set the stage for practice. The knowledge skills and leadership principles that TRSs will need in order to help their clients accomplish therapeutic outcomes strategies that will guide TRSs in planning a wide range of programs and services including information on frequently encountered health problems major program areas facilitation strategies and client and program evaluation and methods for program organization and delivery that will prepare specialists to offer a regular schedule of therapeutic recreation programs that meet the needs of all of their clients whether in group or individual settings. The book will arm students with the information and tools they need in order to succeed as therapeutic recreation specialists. It familiarizes students with their future clients by describing the health concerns most often encountered in therapeutic settings. Case studies for the most common concerns provide students with concrete examples of how programming works in various clinical settings. The book also provides specific recreation activities from five major program areas along with information on the effectiveness of the activities risk management concerns and implementation strategies. Step by step instructions for structuring planning and leading both group and one on one sessions will prepare students to implement programs in a wide variety of settings. Stories from professionals in the field examples of real and hypothetical clients and case studies show students how to use the principles they've learned when leading programs. Learning activities help them to further explore the concepts in each chapter and highlight boxes emphasize key ideas related to each chapter's content.
