The Earth Is Weeping Peter Cozzens,2016-10-25 Bringing together Custer Sherman Grant and other fascinating military and political figures as well as great native leaders such as Crazy Horse Sitting Bull and Geronimo this sweeping work of narrative history San Francisco Chronicle is the fullest account to date of how the West was won and lost After the Civil War the Indian Wars would last more than three decades permanently altering the physical and political landscape of America Peter Cozzens gives us both sides in comprehensive and singularly intimate detail He illuminates the intertribal strife over whether to fight or make peace explores the dreary squalid lives of frontier soldiers and the imperatives of the Indian warrior culture and describes the ethical quandaries faced by generals who often sympathized with their native enemies In dramatically relating bloody and tragic events as varied as Wounded Knee the Nez Perce War the Sierra Madre campaign and the Battle of the Little Bighorn we encounter a pageant of fascinating characters including Custer Sherman Grant and a host of officers soldiers and Indian agents as well as great native leaders such as Crazy Horse Sitting Bull Geronimo and Red Cloud and the warriors they led The Earth Is Weeping is a sweeping definitive history of the battles and negotiations that destroyed the Indian way of life even as they paved the way for the emergence of the United States we know today Viewpoints Mary Strong,Laena Wilder,2009-05-01 Early in its history anthropology was a visual as well as verbal discipline But as time passed visually oriented professionals became a minority among their colleagues and most anthropologists used written words rather than audiovisual modes as their professional means of communication Today

however contemporary electronic and interactive media once more place visual anthropologists and anthropologically oriented artists within the mainstream Digital media small sized and easy to use equipment and the Internet with its interactive and public forum websites democratize roles once relegated to highly trained professionals alone However having access to a good set of tools does not guarantee accurate and reliable work Visual anthropology involves much more than media alone This book presents visual anthropology as a work in progress open to the myriad innovations that the new audiovisual communications technologies bring to the field It is intended to aid in contextualizing explaining and humanizing the storehouse of visual knowledge that university students and general readers now encounter and to help inform them about how these new media tools can be used for intellectually and socially beneficial purposes Concentrating on documentary photography and ethnographic film as well as lesser known areas of study and presentation including dance painting architecture archaeology and primate research the book's fifteen contributors feature populations living on all of the world's continents as well as within the United States The final chapter gives readers practical advice about how to use the most current digital and interactive technologies to present research findings
