Separation And Its Discontents Toward An Evolutionary Theory Of Anti Semitism:

Separation and Its Discontents Kevin MacDonald, 2003-11 The Lost 13th Tribe America in Prophecy by Dr Marlin Kime is the first volume of a multi volume work that for the first time answers the most important questions about America Who are we in history Where did we come from What does the future hold for us For the first century and a half of America's existence it was invincible as it achieved unprecedented heights of power wealth and greatness And it did all of this in the face of daunting hopeless and impossible obstacles arrayed against it These volumes show exactly how and why this was accomplished Conversely why was America able to achieve such overwhelming and incredible victories against its powerful Axis foes of World War II and yet fail miserably against the third rate Third World nations of Korea and Vietnam These volumes thoroughly explain the hidden reasons behind these enigmas of history Centuries ago all of this was foretold in the most intricate precise and accurate detail in the pages of the ancient prophets of the Bible What great purpose awaits America Does the future hold the promise of an even greater destiny than ever before imagined for this nation Or perhaps an ominous foreboding looms on the horizon

Separation and Its Discontents Kevin B. MacDonald, 1998 MacDonald develops a theory of anti Semitism based on an evolutionary interpretation of social identity theory Historical examples of anti Semitism are analyzed as scientifically comprehensible gentile responses to a distinctive segregated group Anti Semitism has historically been exacerbated by resource competition between Jews and gentiles Jews have engaged in a wide range of strategies to try to combat it These strategies include crypsis political activity writing religious and intellectual apologia directed at both ingroup and outgroup members and engaging in self deception regarding both the nature of Judaism and gentile responses to Judaism

Evolutionary Theory and Ethnic Conflict Patrick James, David Goetze, 2001-08-30 James and Goetze bring together contributors of varied backgrounds ranging from evolutionary theorists to game theorists to analysts of specific ethnic conflict Their work represents a coherent attempt at evaluating the usefulness of evolutionary theories for explaining ethnic phenomena and demonstrates how these theories can be applied in attempts to elucidate real world behaviors This study found that kinship theory that posits evolved dispositions to form cooperative bonds with family ethnic groups and other social groups may go a long way in accounting for the formation of ethnic groups Also ingroup outgroup theory may contribute to understanding how group conflict commences Likewise the description of evolved mechanisms for discerning threat for building reputations and for recognizing individuals groups and states as possible cooperators and long term allies may facilitate explanation of the outbreak and avoidance of group conflicts This also may explain the design of conscious strategies for conflict prevention and resolution Nonetheless several contributors take a more critical stance and offer ample reason why building these explanations may prove elusive or at least troublesome given the complex character of human societies This work is a provocative resource for scholars students and other researchers involved with ethnicity and ethnic conflict international relations social psychology and social anthropology

Welfare, Ethnicity and Altruism Frank

Salter, 2013-03-07 Welfare Ethnicity and Altruism applies the controversial theory of Ethnic Nepotism first formulated by Irenus Eibl-Eibesfeldt and Pierre van den Berghe to the modern welfare state both are authors in this volume This theory states that ethnic groups resemble large families whose members are prone to cooperate due to kin altruism Recent empirical findings in economics and political science offer confirmatory evidence The book presents two separate studies that compare welfare expenditures around the world both indicating that the more ethnically mixed a population becomes the greater is its resistance to redistributive policies These results point to profound inconsistencies within ideologies of both left and right regarding ethnicity The Evolutionary Neuroethology of Paul MacLean Gerald A. Cory Jr., Russell Gardner Jr., 2002-12-30

In the mid 20th century integrative efforts began concerning the brain and its social and humanistic functions These efforts were led by Paul D MacLean's integrative research and thought As the century ended however such efforts were lost in the surge of new effort in brain and genome research Nobel Prizes were awarded on biochemical and cellular findings relevant to psychiatry Findings on these levels seemed to provide ultimate answers By contrast Cory Gardner and their contributors provide a more comprehensive view by extending MacLean's findings and integrative theory Supported by new findings and extended by critical analyses of current work the collection provides foundations for more integrative efforts that the editors and contributors believe will prevail increasingly in coming decades Looked at from another vantage point therapeutic social economic and political sciences have proceeded without operating theories congruent with or based on brain functions Across species perspectives have been lacking This collection redresses this problem and leads the way toward more comprehensive 21st century research on the one hand and practical applications on the other Multiple approaches extend from modeling efforts to across species comparisons to the basic science of psychiatry to theoretical explanations of political and economic systems But most important these essays abolish the Berlin wall that currently separates the brain from its social functions A major guide for scholars students and researchers involved in the neurobehavioral sciences for psychologists psychiatrists and others involved with human clinical sciences and for social scientists concerned with the impact of the nervous system and its function Individualism and the Western Liberal Tradition Kevin B. MacDonald, 2019 Individualism and the Western Liberal Tradition argues that ethnic influences are important for understanding the West The prehistoric invasion of the Indo Europeans had a transformative influence on Western Europe inaugurating a prolonged period of what is labeled aristocratic individualism resulting from variants of Indo European genetic and cultural influence However beginning in the seventeenth century and gradually becoming dominant was a new culture labeled egalitarian individualism which was influenced by preexisting egalitarian tendencies of northwest Europeans Egalitarian individualism ushered in the modern world but may well carry the seeds of its own destruction Back cover Risky Transactions Frank K. Salter, 2002 Trust is a central feature of relationships within the Mafia oppressed minorities kin groups everywhere among dissidents nationalist freedom fighters ethnic tourists ethnic middlemen exchange networks of Kalahari Bushmen and families subjected to

Stalinist social control Each of these types of trust is examined by a leading scholar and compared with the expectations of neo Darwinian theory in particular the theories of kin selection and ethnic nepotism The result is a fascinating theoretically focused yet empirically eclectic contribution to the overlapping fields of human ethnology evolutionary psychology and bio politics The common thread uniting these diverse phenomena is a trusting relationship predicated on altruism Chapters examine the strengths and limits of human trust under various stressors and temptations to defect By exploring the relationship between kin and ethnic altruism and showing its sensitivity to culture Risky Transactions recasts the evolutionary approach to ethnicity as a blend of primordial and instrumental factors

Ethnic Conflict and Indoctrination Irenäus Eibl-Eibesfeldt, Frank K. Salter, 1998 Violent ethno nationalist conflicts continue to mar the history of the current century yet no satisfactory answer to the question of why humans are susceptible to indoctrination by ideologies that lead to inter group hostility has so far been found In this volume an international team of leading scientists from many different fields approach this complex issue from a biological perspective treating indoctrinability as a predisposition that has its roots in humanity s evolutionary past

Indoctrinability, Ideology, and Warfare Irenäus Eibl-Eibesfeldt, Frank K. Salter, 1998 Violent ethno nationalist conflicts continue to mar the history of the twentieth century yet no satisfactory answer as to why humans are susceptible to indoctrination by ideologies leading to inter group hostility has thus far been found This volume brings together an international team of leading scientists to address this complex issue from disciplines as diverse as anthropology psychology psychobiology sociology philosophy ethology sociology and political science Treating the processes of indoctrination as a biological phenomenon with physiological and psychological aspects these essays explore the answers to this pressing question in humanity s evolutionary past

Darwin's Cathedral David Sloan Wilson, 2024-05-31 A study examining the connection between religious faith and human evolution Thoughtful and provocative Wilson turns to religion which he claims can be explained only by group selection According to Wilson a religion is the human equivalent of a pack of lions by cooperating as a group people attain benefits beyond their reach as individuals Times Literary Supplement Book of the Year One of the great intellectual battles of modern times is between evolution and religion Until now they have been considered completely irreconcilable theories of origin and existence David Sloan Wilson's Darwin's Cathedral takes the radical step of joining the two in the process proposing an evolutionary theory of religion that shakes both evolutionary biology and social theory at their foundations The key argument Wilson is to think of society as an organism an old idea that has received new life based on recent developments in evolutionary biology If society is an organism can we then think of morality and religion as biologically and culturally evolved adaptations that enable human groups to function as single units rather than mere collections of individuals Wilson brings a variety of evidence to bear on this question from both the biological and social sciences From Calvinism in sixteenth century Geneva to Balinese water temples from hunter gatherer societies to urban America Wilson demonstrates how religions have enabled people to achieve by collective action what they never could do alone He also includes a chapter considering forgiveness from an evolutionary perspective and concludes by discussing how all social organizations including science could benefit by incorporating elements of religion Religious believers often compare their communities to single organisms and even to insect colonies Astoundingly Wilson shows that they might be literally correct Intended for any educated reader Darwin's Cathedral will change forever the way we view the relations among evolution religion and human society As always Wilson writes well and clearly and in a stimulating and provocative style The book is interesting and important and there can be no higher praise I applaud the approach taken by Wilson and I urge you to read Darwin's Cathedral Science Wilson's book is more than just an attempt to understand religion Even to readers with no interest in either religion or science his book can serve as a model of how to discuss controversial subjects honestly New York Review of Books

In Gods We Trust Scott Atran, 2004-12-09 Atran argues that religion is a by-product of human evolution just as the cognitive intervention cultural selection and historical survival of religion is an accommodation of certain existential and moral elements in the human condition

Marginal Voices Amy I. Aronson-Friedman, Gregory B. Kaplan, 2012-02-03 This collection of essays reveals the diversity of the impact on late medieval and Golden Age Spanish literature of the socio-religious dichotomy that came to exist between conversos New Christians who were perceived as inferior because of their Jewish descent and Old Christians who asserted the superiority of their pure Christian lineage

Evolutionary Perspectives on Human Development Robert G. Burgess, Kevin

MacDonald, 2005 This new edition of Evolutionary Perspectives on Human Development is obligatory reading for anyone interested in the integration of evolutionary theory into developmental psychology. It provides a valuable corrective to recent narrow approaches which argue that the human mind is constructed exclusively of domain specific mechanisms and which deemphasize the importance of human psychological and behavioral plasticity. Anyone who reads this book will come away with a richer understanding of our shared human nature. Bill Irons, Northwestern University.

In this volume Burgess and MacDonald have brought together a distinguished group of psychologists and anthropologists to investigate how given our evolutionary heritage genetic make up and salient environment behavior cognition and emotion unfold from the human organism. They make clear that both evolutionary functional and proximate behavioral perspectives are essential to understanding the human mind and its products. Many of these essays should be required reading for sociobiologists evolutionary psychologists and evolutionary anthropologists and their ilk. Jeffrey Kurland, Penn State.

It is clear that evolutionary biology has a tremendous amount to offer when it comes to our understanding of human development and yet many experts in developmental psychology have remained impervious to these insights. At last this may change. Burgess and MacDonald have compiled a rich array of theory and data much of it contributed by the leading lights of evolutionary psychology or if you prefer sociobiology. A very valuable collection and one that might help define a new and important field. David P. Barash, University of Washington.

Evolutionary Perspectives on Human Development Second Edition considers the role of evolutionary theory in the field of developmental psychology to examine key topics of individual human development. This unique book fills an important gap in the literature applying evolutionary models to human development by focusing on central development issues. The book emphasizes both domain general evolved psychological mechanisms and domain specific processes. The text also integrates behavior genetic research with evolutionary and developmental principles. In this contributed volume editors Robert L. Burgess and Kevin MacDonald have brought together a distinguished group of social and behavioral scientists employing multiple levels of analysis drawn from a variety of academic disciplines. This diverse group of contributors illustrates the enormous power of evolutionary theory by elucidating human behavior and its development and the various ways it is manifested in different environments.

Evolutionary Perspectives on Human Development applies evolutionary theory to such topics as parent child relationships the maltreatment of children psychopathology cooperation and competition among siblings and the acquisition of vital resources in different cultural settings from an evolutionary point of view.

Key Features Comprehensive coverage of the impact of evolutionary theory on human development provides students with the most thorough foundation available in this area. Contributions by leading scholars and researchers expose readers to the exciting research and developments that have been occurring in the field. An introductory chapter written by the volume editors provides an accessible overview of the book. Evolutionary Perspectives on Human Development provides state of the art groundwork in evolutionary theory as viewed by leading thinkers in the field. It is an excellent supplementary textbook for advanced undergraduate and graduate courses in evolutionary and developmental psychology Darwinian Politics Paul H. Rubin, 2002 An examination of political behaviour from a modern evolutionary perspective Paul H Rubin discusses group or social behaviour including ethnic and racial conflict altruism and co operation envy political power and the role of religion in politics
