Serge Jacques:

Serge Jacques Gilles Néret, 1998 It is part of Taschen's policy to celebrate the infamous and the notorious rebel artists who have had to constantly struggle against the rigid morality of the censors and the law French photographer Serge Jacques is a case in point His groundbreaking nudes in the 50s were deemed obscene because he revealed his models' pubic hair He faced countless arrests blacklists and regular raids on his studio and darkroom Like other mavericks of the time he continued his mission in the face of adversity and continued to photograph and publish the legendary French pin-up magazine Paris Hollywood For Jacques Hollywood was a state of mind an imaginary landscape of the erotic imagination where everybody's sexual preferences were given free rein Painstakingly Jacques recreated the details of these fantasies within the privacy of his studio building papier-mâché sets posing the girls on beds of pretend snow and dressing them up and undressing them in decorative lingerie Kitsch amusing and still provocative this is an excellent compilation of Serge Jacques' finest and under the circumstances bravest work Paris-Hollywood Gilles Néret, 2001 L'album d'un photographe de Paris Hollywood les pin-up françaises des années 50 et 60 The Autofictional Alexandra Effe, Hannie

Wagner-Egelhaaf, 2019-01-29 Autobiographical writings have been a major cultural genre from antiquity to the present time General questions of the literary as e.g. the relation between literature and reality truth and fiction the dependency of author narrator and figure or issues of individual and cultural styles etc. can be studied preeminently in the autobiographical genre Yet the tradition of life writing has in the course of literary history developed manifold types and forms Especially in the globalized age where the media and other technological cultural factors contribute to a rapid transformation of lifestyles autobiographical writing has maintained even enhanced its popularity and importance By conceiving autobiography in a wide sense that includes memoirs diaries self-portraits and autofiction as well as media transformations of the genre this three-volume handbook offers a comprehensive survey of theoretical approaches systematic aspects and historical developments in an international and interdisciplinary perspective While autobiography is usually considered to be a European tradition special emphasis is placed on the modes of self-representation in non-Western cultures and on inter- and transcultural perspectives of the genre The individual contributions are closely interconnected by a system of cross references The handbook addresses scholars of cultural and literary studies students as well as non academic readers

Major versus Minor? - Languages and Literatures in a Globalized World Theo D'haen, Iannis Goerlandt, Roger D. Sell, 2015-09-15 Do the notions of World Lingua Franca and World Literature now need to be firmly relegated to an imperialist cum colonialist past Or can they be rehabilitated in a practical and equitable way that fully endorses a politics of recognition For scholars in the field of languages and literatures this is the central dilemma to be faced in a world that is increasingly globalized In this book the possible banes and benefits of globalization are illuminated from many different viewpoints by scholars based in Africa Asia Europe North America and Oceania Among their more particular topics of discussion are language spread language hegemony and language conservation literary canons literature and identity and literary anthologies and the bearing of the new communication technologies on languages and literatures alike Throughout the book however the most frequently explored opposition is between languages or literatures perceived as major and others perceived as minor two terms which are sometimes qualitative in connotation sometimes quantitative and sometimes both at once depending on who is using them and with reference to what Spaces of Belonging Elizabeth H. Jones, 2007-01-01 Questions of space place and identity have become increasingly prominent throughout the arts and humanities in recent times This study begins by investigating the reasons for this growth in interest and analyses the underlying assumptions on which interdisciplinary discussions about space are often based After tracing back the history of contact between Geography and Literary Studies from both disciplinary perspectives it goes on to discuss recent academic work in the field and seeks to forge a new conceptual framework through which contemporary discussions of space and literature can operate The book then moves on to a thorough application of the interdisciplinary model that it has established Having argued that the experience of contemporary space has rendered questions of home and belonging particularly pressing it undertakes detailed analysis of how these phenomena are articulated in a selection of recent French life writing texts The close text led readings reveal that whilst not often highlighted for their relevance to the analysis of space these works do in fact narrate the impact of some of the most significant cultural experiences of the twentieth century including the Holocaust and the AIDS crisis upon geo cultural senses of identity Home is shown to be a deeply problematic yet strongly desired element of the contemporary world The book concludes by addressing the underlying thesis that contemporary life writing might provide just the postmodern maps that could help not only literary scholars but also geographers better understand the world today
