Nomads of a Desert City Barbara Seyda, 2016-12-15 You see them as faceless shapes on the median or in city parks You recognize them by their cardboard signs their bags of aluminum cans or their weathered skin But you do not know them In Nomads of a Desert City Barbara Seyda meets the gazes of our homeless neighbors and with an open heart and the eye of an accomplished photographer uncovers their compelling stories of life on the edge Byrdy is a teenager from Alaska who left a violent husband and misses the young daughter her mother now cares for Her eyes show a wisdom that belies her youth Samuel is 95 and collects cans for cash His face shows a lifetime of living outside while his eyes hint at the countless stories he could tell Lamanda worked as an accountant before an act of desperation landed her in prison Now she struggles to raise the seven children of a woman she met there Dorothy whose earliest memories are of physical and sexual abuse lives in a shelter paycheck to paycheck reciting affirmations so she may continue to grace the world with my presence They live on the streets or in shelters They are women and men young and old Native or Anglo or Black or Hispanic Their faces reflect the forces that have shaped their lives alcoholism poverty racism mental illness and abuse But like desert survivors they draw strength from some hidden reservoir Few recent studies on homelessness offer such a revealing collection of oral history narratives and compelling portraits Thirteen homeless women and men open a rare window to enrich our understanding of the complex personal struggles and triumphs of their lives Nomads of a Desert City sheds a glaring light on the shadow side of the American Dream and takes us to the crossroads of despair and hope where the human spirit survives Sacred Shelter Susan Celia Greenfield, 2021-05-20 An inside look at an interfaith program for the homeless in New York City including in depth stories of those who have graduated and made new lives In a metropolis like New York homelessness can blend into the urban landscape For Susan Greenfield however New York is the place where a community of resilient remarkable individuals is yearning for a voice Sacred Shelter follows the lives of thirteen formerly homeless people all of whom have graduated from an interfaith life skills program for current and former homeless individuals in the city Through interviews these individuals share traumas from their youth their experience with homelessness and the healing they've discovered through community and faith Edna Humphrey talks about losing her grandparents father and sister to illness accident and abuse Lisa Sperber discusses her bipolar disorder and her whiteness Dennis Barton speaks about his unconventional path to becoming a first generation college student and his journey to reconnect with his family The memoirists share stories about youth family jobs and love They describe their experiences with racism mental illness sexual assault and domestic violence Each of the thirteen storytellers honestly expresses his or her broken heartedness and how finding community and faith gave them hope to carry on Interspersed are reflections from program directors clerics mentors and volunteers including the cofounder of the program While Sacred Shelter does not tackle the socioeconomic conditions and inequities that cause homelessness it provides a voice for a demographic group that continues to suffer from systemic
