The Dust Bowl

During the 1930s, the people who lived in the Midwest had a big problem: Oklahoma and parts of Kansas, Texas, Colorado, and New Mexico had terrible dust storms. A reporter called the area the Dust Bowl. The name stuck. With so much dust in the air, sheep and cattle choked to death. People got very sick. Some even died. If enough dust collected in a home's attic, the ceiling fell in. Many farms were completely ruined. So farmers packed up their families and left. They headed to California, hoping to find work. More than 500,000 people left the Dust Bowl.

What caused the Dust Bowl? It wasn't just one thing. During the 1920s, farmers got tractors for the first time. That meant that they could plow much more land than ever before. They got rid of all the trees. And they plowed miles and miles of straight rows to plant their crops. Then there was a lack of rain. Everything got very dry. The crops died. To make things worse, winds up to 70 miles per hour picked up lots of the dry dirt. Since there were no trees to slow down the wind, tons of dirt blew away. Sometimes the dirt landed as far away as Washington, D.C.!

After years of bad dust storms and no rain, the government decided to help the farmers. The Department of Agriculture told farmers to plant crops in rows that ran against the wind. The government gave the farmers money to plant trees between fields. It also helped them to find ways to water their crops when the rains didn't come.
