The Land Question in Britain, 1750-1950 M. Cragoe,P. Readman,2010-01-20 The Land Question occupied a central place in political and cultural debates in Britain for nearly two centuries From parliamentary enclosure in the mid eighteenth century to the fierce Labour party debate concerning the nationalization of land after World War Two the fate of the land held the power to galvanize the attention of the nation Norfolk 2 Nikolaus Pevsner,Bill Wilson,2002-01-01 This second volume on Norfolk provides a comprehensive survey from prehistoric times to the present day The 17th and 18th century treasures of King s Lynn are explored as well as the market towns of Swaffham and Wymondham Castle remains and medieval churches are also explored The Countryside of East Anglia Susanna Wade Martins,Tom Williamson,2008 The countryside we enjoy today has a very long history but many of its key features were created in the relatively recent past as this book shows It investigates how the landscape of a particular area of England East Anglia developed in the period of the so called Great Depression beginning in 1870 Law and Society in England 1750-1950 William Cornish,Stephen Banks,Charles Mitchell,Paul Mitchell,Rebecca Probert,2019-10-31 Law and Society in England 1750 1950 is an indispensable text for those wishing to study English legal history and to understand the foundations of the modern British state In this new updated edition the authors explore the complex relationship between legal and social change They consider the ways in which those in power themselves imagined and initiated reform and the ways in which they were obliged to respond to demands for change from outside the legal and political classes What emerges is a lively and critical account of the evolution of modern rights and expectations and an engaging study of the formation of contemporary social administrative and legal institutions and ideas and the road that was travelled to create them The book is divided into eight chapters Institutions and Ideas Land Commerce and Industry Labour Relations The Family Poverty and Education Accidents and Crime This extensively referenced analysis of modern social and legal history will be invaluable to students and teachers of English law political science and social history

Creating Paradise Richard Wilson, Alan Mackley, 2000-01-01 Looking at the building of country houses as a whole this book investigates why owners embarked on extensive building programmes often following a grand tour It explores the cost of building and the cost of furnishing and decoration

Rethinking Ancient Woodland Gerry Barnes, Tom Williamson, 2015-10-01 Ancient woodland is a term widely used in England for long established semi natural woods shaped by centuries of traditional management Such woods are often assumed to provide a direct link with the natural vegetation of England as this existed before the virgin forests were fragmented by the arrival of farming This groundbreaking study questions many of these assumptions Drawing on more than a decade of research in Norfolk the authors emphasize the essentially unnatural character of ancient woods

Gentrification and the Enterprise Culture : Britain 1780-1980 Prof F. M. L. Thompson, 2001-04-05 The long running debate on Britain's apparent economic decline in the last 120 years not exactly noticeable in the living standards of ordinary people which have risen enormously in that time has generated a large economic and statistical literature and a great deal of heat in rival social and cultural explanations The decline has been confidently attributed to the permeation of the business elite by the anti industrial and anti commercial attitudes communicated by public schools and the old universities through their propagation of aristocratic and gentry values and the readiness of the business elite to be thus permeated has been ascribed to the persistent tendency of new men of wealth to transform themselves into landed gentlemen There have been equally confident claims to have overturned this traditional view that wealthy merchants and industrialists sought to acquire landed estates and country houses and to have established that gentlemanly values were in fact economically advantageous to Britain because she never was a primarily industrial economy In this book Professor Thompson subjects these interpretations to the test of the actual evidence and firmly re establishes the conventional wisdom on the characteristic desire of new money to acquire land and a place in the country an aspiration which continues to be manifest today At the same time he shows that aristocratic and gentry cultures have not by any means been consistently anti industrial or anti business and that many of the businessmen turned landowners have in fact not turned their backs on industry but have founded business dynasties Gentrification has indeed occurred on a large scale over the last two hundred years but has had no discernible effects one way or the other on Britain economic performance

A Contrived Countryside Keith Hoggart, 2021-03-26 This book shows how governance regimes before the 1970s suppressed rural prospects of housing improvement and created conditions for middle class capture Using original archival sources to reveal the intricacies of local and national policy processes weak rural housing performances are shown to owe more to national governance regimes than local under performance Looking behind the scenes at policy processes highlights neglected principles in national governance and shows how investigating rural housing is fundamental to understanding the national scene With original insights and a new analytical perspective this volume offers evidence and conclusions that challenge mainstream assumptions in public policy housing rural studies and planning Farming to Halves E. Griffiths, M. Overton, 2009-07-07 Farming to halves is the English version of sharefarming a system of letting land familiar in Europe and the New World but thought to never have existed in England This book reveals its hidden history in England overturning traditional accounts of the relationship between landlords and tenants in the course of English Agrarian development The Twentieth Century Great House Malcolm Airs, 2002 Somerset Archaeology and Natural History, 1994 The Constitutional Year Book, 1903 The English Model Farm Susanna Wade Martins, English Heritage, 2002 During the Agricultural Revolution the landowners of Britain constructed an enormous range of picturesque or classical buildings on their farms inspired by Enlightenment ideals These model farms a phenomenon unique to Britain are a significant yet largely undiscovered aspect of our heritage This book is richly illustrated with interior and exterior photographs most of them specially commissioned as well as plans paintings and historic photographs It examines the architecture and landscape context of the farmsteads themselves and considers the motives of the people who built them drawing on the first comprehensive national survey of model farms recently completed by English Heritage Country Life, 1993 Rural History in the North Sea Area Erik Thoen, Leen van Molle, 2006 This volume describes the outlines of the state of the art in the field of rural history for countries such as England the Netherlands Belgium Germany and Northern France The contributing authors all outstanding specialists in the field present an overview of the most important publications regarding the areas covered They also point to the most important research topics as well as indicating the most important lacunae in the field of rural history during the last decades The original texts of this book formed the basis of the international research group CORN which studies the economic development of the Northern European countryside in a comparative way The regional monographs are preceded by a short methodological introduction concerning the comparative methods used by this network as well as the possible pitfalls and problems The Agrarian History of England and Wales Edward John T. Collins, Joan Thirsk, 2000 The unifying theme of this volume is the changing role of the countryside in national life and the impact upon it of the social and economic forces unleashed by industrialisation and the growth of towns Lloyd George, Liberalism and the Land Ian Packer, 2001 Table of contents Detailed Report of the Inspector of Insurance Ontario.
