Media and Nation Building John Postill, 2006 With the end of the Cold War and the proliferation of civil wars and regime changes the question of nation building has acquired great practical and theoretical urgency. From Eastern Europe to East Timor Afghanistan and recently Iraq the United States and its allies have often been accused of shirking their nation building responsibilities as their attention and that of the media turned to yet another regional crisis While much has been written about the growing influence of television and the Internet on modern warfare little is known about the relationship between media and nation building This book explores for the first time this relationship by means of a paradigmatic case of successful nation building Malaysia Based on extended fieldwork and historical research the author follows the diffusion adoption and social uses of media among the Iban of Sarawak in Malaysian Borneo and demonstrates the wide ranging process of nation building that has accompanied the Iban adoption of radio clocks print media and television In less than four decades Iban longhouses villages under one roof have become media organizations shaped by the official ideology of Malaysia a country hastily formed in 1963 by conjoining four disparate territories

Soares, 2015-01-21 New Media and Religious Transformations in Africa casts a critical look at Africa s rapidly evolving religious media scene Following political liberalization media deregulation and the proliferation of new media technologies many African religious leaders and activists have appropriated such media to strengthen and expand their communities and gain public recognition Media have also been used to marginalize and restrict the activities of other groups which has sometimes led to tension conflict and even violence Showing how media are rarely neutral vehicles of expression the contributors to this multidisciplinary volume analyze the mutual imbrications of media and religion during times of rapid technological and social change in various places throughout Africa

Performing Culture John Tulloch, 1999-10-28 Performing Culture presents a detailed and probing account of cultural studies changing fixations with theory method policy text production audience and the micro politics of the everyday John Tulloch encourages academics and students to take seriously the need to break down the separation between high and low cultural studies Tulloch s case studies show that the performance of cultural meanings occurs in forms as diverse as The Royal Shakespeare Company s Shakespeare and Chekhov productions and our everyday work and leisure encounters Drawing upon anthropological and dramatic studies of performance the book emphasizes that academic research also performs cultural meaning A central feature of the book is i Emotions in Rituals and Performances Axel Michaels, Christoph Wulf, 2020-11-29 Challenging the idea that rituals are static and emotions irrational the volume explores the manifold qualities of emotions in ritual practices Focusing explicitly on the relationship between emotions and rituals it poses two central questions First how and to what extent do emotions shape rituals Second in what way are emotions ritualized in and beyond rituals Strong emotions are generally considered to be more spontaneous and uncontrolled whereas ritual behaviour is regarded as planned formalized and stereotyped and hence less emotional However as the volume demonstrates rituals often reveal strong emotions among participants are motivated by feelings or are intended to generate them The essays discuss the motivation for rituals the healing function of emotions the creation of new emotions through new media the aspect of mimesis in the generation of feelings individual collective and non human emotions the importance of trance and possession staged emotions and emotions on stage emotions in the context of martyrdom emotions in Indian and Western dance traditions emotions of love sorrow fear aggression and devotion Furthermore aesthetic and sensory dimensions as well as emic concepts of emotions in rituals are underscored as relevant in understanding social practice

Sport, Dance and Embodied Identities Noel Dyck, Eduardo P. Archetti, 2020-08-20 Sport and dance command the passions and devotion of countless athletes dancers and fans worldwide Although conventionally thought to reside within separate social realms these two embodied cultural forms are revealed in this benchmark volume to share a vital capacity to constitute and express identities through their practiced movements and scripted forms Thus the work of choreographers and coaches along with the performances of dancers and athletes offer not merely entertainment and aesthetic accomplishment but also powerful means for celebrating existing social arrangements and cultural ideals or alternately for imagining and advocating new ones Drawing on a wide selection of sport and dance activities from around the world this book elucidates the ways in which embodied performances both mirror and reshape social life It traces for example how football salsa and tango can each be employed to articulate or rewrite national and gender identities Also examined are children s sport and the dynamics by which immigration and cultural integration along with the socialization of children and youth may be directed through the organization of community sport The volume investigates the marshalling of sport and dance in settings from Africa to Ireland as vehicles for framing moral issues that revolve around the appropriate use protection and exhibition of the body This innovative study establishes the paradoxical fashion in which dance and sport can unite certain people and communities while at the same time serving exclusionary and nationalistic purposes
