Navigation Of Feeling A Framework For The History Of Emotions:

The Navigation of Feeling William M. Reddy, 2001-09-10 In The Navigation of Feeling A Framework for the History of Emotions William M Reddy offers a theory of emotions which both critiques and expands upon recent research in the fields of anthropology and psychology Exploring the links between emotion and cognition between culture and emotional expression Reddy applies this theory of emotions to the processes of history He demonstrates how emotions change over time how emotions have a very important impact on the course of events and how different social orders either facilitate or constrain emotional life In an investigation of Revolutionary France where sentimentalism in literature and philosophy had promised a new and unprecedented kind of emotional liberty Reddy s theory of emotions and historical change is successfully put to the test

The Navigation of Feeling William M. Reddy, 2001-09-10 The Navigation of Feeling critiques recent psychological and anthropological research on emotions William M Reddy offers a new theory of emotions and historical change drawing on research from many academic disciplines This new theory makes it possible to see how emotions change over time how emotions have a very important impact on the shape of history and how different social orders either facilitate emotional life or make it more difficult This theory is fully explored in a case study of the French Revolution

The History of Emotions Jan Plamper, 2015 The history of emotions is one of the fastest growing fields in current historical debate and this is the first book length introduction to the field synthesizing the current research and offering direction for future study The History of Emotions is organized around the debate between social constructivist and universalist theories of emotion that has shaped most emotions research in a variety of disciplines for more than a hundred years social constructivists believe that emotions are largely learned and subject to historical change while universalists insist on the timelessness and pan culturalism of emotions In historicizing and problematizing this binary Jan Plamper opens emotions research beyond constructivism and universalism he also maps a vast terrain of thought about feelings in anthropology philosophy sociology linguistics art history political science the life sciences from nineteenth century experimental psychology to the latest affective neuroscience and history from ancient times to the present day

A History of Feelings Rob Boddice, 2019-03-15 What does it mean to feel something What stimulates our desires aspirations and dreams Did our ancestors feel in the same way as we do In a wave of new research over the past decade historians have tried to answer these questions seeking to make sense of our feelings passions moods emotions and sentiments For the first time however Rob Boddice brings together the latest findings to trace the complex history of feelings from antiquity to the present A History of Feelings is a compelling account of the unsaid the gestural affective and experiential Arguing that how we feel is the dynamic product of the existence of our minds and bodies in moments of time and space Boddice uses a progressive approach that integrates biological anthropological and social and cultural factors describing the transformation of emotional encounters and individual experiences across the globe The work of one of the world s leading scholars of the history of emotions this epic exploration of our affective life will fascinate enthrall and move all of us interested in our own well being anyone with feeling

Emotions and Social Change David Lemmings, Ann Brooks, 2014-04-24 This edited collection takes a critical perspective on Norbert Elias s theory of the civilizing process through historical essays and contemporary analysis from sociologists and cultural theorists It focuses on changes in emotional regimes or styles and considers the intersection of emotions and social change historically and contemporaneously The book is set in the context of increasing interest among humanities and social science scholars in reconsidering the significance of emotion and affect in society and the development of empirical research and theorizing around these subjects Some have labeled this interest as an affective turn or a turn to affect which suggests a profound and wide ranging reshaping of disciplines Building upon complex theoretical models of emotions and social change the chapters exemplify this shift in analysis of emotions and affect and suggest different approaches to investigation which may help to shape the direction of sociological and historical thinking and research

Decolonizing Emotions in French Algeria Christiane-Marie Abu Sarah, 2024-08-22 Alongside the diplomatic struggles of the early Cold War European politicians worked to shape emotions about the postwar order advocating fear of communism and hope for postwar recovery In this context the French Empire in North Africa emerged as one important emotional battleground where Algerian nationalists and anti colonial campaigners challenged French narratives about imperial pride and native hysteria During the Algerian War 1954-1962 emotions thus became a pivotal part of the independence struggle Accordingly Decolonizing Emotions tracks affective politics during the revolution focusing on members of the Front de lib ration nationale FLN Combattants de la lib ration CDL and Jeune R sistance Delving into the manifestos poetry and personal diaries of anti colonial activists the book reveals a rich world of transgressive sentiments emotional exile and affective border crossings The stories that surface show how Algerians used biopower to combat an affective regime that refused native populations the right to be angry The book further chronicles how Europeans complicated ideas of humanitarian pity and confronted the French production of political apathy It is a history that holds modern relevance speaking to contemporary debates over race relations and national pride the pathologizing of Muslim emotions and the contested process of how myths die demythologization

Emotions and Modernity in Colonial India

Margrit Pernau, 2019-08-22 With this pioneering project Margrit Pernau brings the history of emotions approach to South Asian studies A theoretically sophisticated and erudite investigation Emotions and Modernity in Colonial India maps the history of emotions in India between the uprising of 1857 and World War I Situating the prevalent experiences interpretations and practices of emotions of the time within the context of the major political events of colonial India Pernau goes beyond the dominant narrative of colonial modernity and its fixation with discipline and restraint and traces the contemporary transformation from a balance in emotions to the resurgence of fervor The current volume is based on a large archive of sources in Urdu many being explored for the first time Pernau grounds her work on such diverse sources as philosophical and theological treatises on questions of morality advice literature journals and newspapers nostalgic descriptions of courtly culture and even children's literature This close look into individual experiences practices and interpretations reveals the myriad emotions of the day and the importance of these micro histories in presenting an alternative account of colonial India

Early Modern Emotions Susan Broomhall, 2016-12-08 Early Modern Emotions is a student friendly introduction to the concepts approaches and sources used to study emotions in early modern Europe and to the perspectives that analysis of the history of emotions can offer early modern studies more broadly The volume is divided into four sections that guide students through the key processes and practices employed in current research on the history of emotions The first explains how key terms and concepts in the study of emotions relate to early modern Europe while the second focuses on the unique ways in which emotions were conceptualized at the time The third section introduces a range of sources and methodologies that are used to analyse early modern emotions The final section includes a wide ranging selection of thematic topics covering war religion family politics art music literature and the non human world to show how analysis of emotions may offer new perspectives on the early modern period more broadly Each section offers bite sized accessible commentaries providing students new to the history of emotions with the tools to begin their own investigations Each entry is supported by annotated further reading recommendations pointing students to the latest research in that area and at the end of the book is a general bibliography which provides a comprehensive list of current scholarship This book is the perfect starting point for any student wishing to study emotions in early modern Europe
