The Historical Novel, Transnationalism, and the Postmodern Era Susan Brantly, 2017-02-17 This volume explores the genre of the historical novel and the variety of ways in which writers choose to represent the past How does an author's nationality or gender impact their artistic choices To what extent can historical novels appeal to a transnational audience This study demonstrates how histories can communicate across national borders often by invoking or deconstructing the very notion of nationhood Furthermore it traces how the concerns of the postmodern era such as postmodern critiques of historiography colonialism identity and the Enlightenment have impacted the genre of the historical novel and shows this impact has not been uniform throughout Western culture Not all historical novels written during the postmodern era are postmodern The historical novel as a genre occupies a problematic yet significant space in Cold War literary currents torn between claims of authenticity and the impossibility of accessing the past Historical novels from England America Germany and France are compared and contrasted with historical novels from Sweden testing a variety of theoretical perspectives in the process This pitting of a center against a periphery serves to highlight traits that historical novels from the West have in common but also how they differ The historical novel is not just a local regional phenomenon but has become during the postmodern era a transnational tool for exploring how we should think of nations and nationalism and what a society should or should not look like

Fiction after the Fatwa Madelena Gonzalez, 2021-11-22 Fiction after the Fatwa Salman Rushdie and the Charm of Catastrophe proposes for the first time an examination of what Rushdie has achieved as a writer since the fourteenth of February 1989 the date of the fatwa This study argues that his constant questioning of fictional form and the language used to articulate it have opened up new opportunities and further possibilities for writing in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries Through close readings and intensive textual analysis arranged chronologically Fiction after the Fatwa provides a thought provoking reflection on the writer's achievements over the last thirteen years Aimed principally at academics and students but also of interest to the general reader it engages with the specific nature of the post fatwa fiction as it moves from the fairy tale world of Haroun and the Sea of Stories to the heartbreaking post realism of Fury

Beyond Scotland, 2021-09-20 Scottish creative writing in the twentieth century was notable for its willingness to explore and absorb the literatures of other times and other nations From the engagement with Russian literature of Hugh MacDiarmid and Edwin Morgan through to the interplay with continental literary theory Scottish writers have proved active participants in a diverse international literary practice Scottish criticism has arguably often been slow in appreciating the full extent of this exchange Preoccupied with marking out its territory with identifying an independent and distinctive tradition Scottish criticism has occasionally blinded itself to the diversity and range of its writers In stressing the importance of cultural independence it has tended to overlook the many virtues of interdependence The essays in this book aim to offer a corrective view They celebrate the achievement of Scottish writing in the twentieth century by offering a wider basis for appreciation than a narrow idea of Scottishness Each essay explores an aspect of Scottish writing in an individual foreign perspective together they provide an enriching account of a national literary practice that has deep and often surprisingly complex roots in international culture Uncertain Mirrors Jesús Benito Sánchez, Ana María Manzanás Calvo, Begoña Simal González, 2009 Uncertain Mirrors realigns magical realism within a changing critical landscape from Aristotelian mimesis to Adorno's concept of negative dialectics In between the volume traverses a vast theoretical arena from postmodernism and postcolonialism to Levinasian philosophy and eco criticism The volume opens and closes with dialectical instability as it recasts the mutability of the term mimesis as both a world reflecting and a world creating mechanism Magical realism the authors contend offers another stance of the possible it also situates the reader at a hybrid aesthetic matrix inextricably linked to postcolonial theory postmodernism Bakhtinian theory and quantum physics As Uncertain Mirrors explores magical realist texts partake of modernist exhaustion as much as of postmodernist replenishment yet they stem from a different location of culture and direction of culture they offer complex aesthetic artifacts that in their recreation of alternative geographic and semiotic spaces dislocate hegemonic texts and ideologies Their unrealistic excess effects a breach in the totalized unity represented by 19th century realism and plays the dissonant chord of the particular and the non identical

Postmodernist Literature and Theater Fran Mason, 2009-07-23 Postmodernist literature embraces a wide range of forms and perspectives including texts that are primarily self reflexive texts that use pastiche burlesque parody intertextuality and hybrid forms to create textual realities that either run in opposition to or in parallel with an external reality fabrications that develop both of these strategies texts that ironize their relationship to reality works that use the aspects already noted to more fully engage with political or cultural realities texts that deal with history as a fiction and texts that elude categorization even within the variety already explored For example in fiction a postmodernist novel might tell a story about a writer struggling with writing only perhaps to find that he is a character in a book by another writer struggling to write a book The A to Z of Postmodernist Literature and Theater examines the different areas of postmodernist literature and the variety of forms that have been produced This is accomplished through a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and several hundred cross referenced dictionary entries on individual postmodernist writers the important postmodernist aesthetic practices significant texts produced throughout the history of postmodernist writing and important movements and ideas that have created a variety of literary approaches within the form By placing these concerns within the historical philosophical and cultural contexts of postmodernism this reference explores the frameworks within which postmodernist literature of the late twentieth and early twenty first century operates
