The Cinema of Robert Altman Robert Niemi, 2016-03-01 In a controversial and tumultuous filmmaking career that spanned nearly fifty years Robert Altman mocked subverted or otherwise refashioned Hollywood narrative and genre conventions Altman's idiosyncratic vision and propensity for formal experimentation resulted in an uneven body of work some rank failures and intriguing near misses as well as a number of great films that are among the most influential works of New American Cinema While Altman always professed to have nothing authoritative to say about the state of contemporary society this volume surveys all of his major films in their sociohistorical context to reposition the director as a trenchant satirist and social critic of postmodern America depicted as a lonely wasteland of fraudulent spectacle exploitative social relations and unfulfilled solitaires in search of elusive community

Robert Altman's Soundtracks Gayle Sherwood Magee, 2014-10-01 American director Robert Altman 1925-2006 first came to national attention with the surprise blockbuster MASH 1970 and he directed more than thirty feature films in the subsequent decades Critics and scholars have noted that music is central to Altman's films and in addition to his feature films Altman worked in theater opera and the emerging field of cable television His treatment of sound is a hallmark of his films alongside overlapping dialogue improvisation and large ensemble casts Several of his best known films integrate musical performances into the central plot including Nashville 1975 Popeye 1980 Short Cuts 1993 Kansas City 1996 The Company 2003 and A Prairie Home Companion 2006 his final film Even such non-musicals as McCabe and Mrs Miller 1971 have been described as in fellow director and protégé Paul Thomas Anderson's evocative phrase as musicals without people singing Robert Altman's Soundtracks considers Altman's celebrated innovative uses of music and sound in several of his most acclaimed and lesser known works In so doing these case studies serve as a window not only into Altman's considerable and varied output but also the changing film industry over nearly four decades from the heyday of the New Hollywood in the late 1960s through the IndieWood boom of the 1990s and its bust in the early 2000s As its frame the book considers the continuing attractions of auteurism inside and outside of scholarly discourse by considering Altman's career in terms of the director's own self-promotion as a visionary and artist the film industry's promotion of Altman the auteur the emphasis on Altman's individual style including his use of music by the director critics scholars and within the industry and the processes tensions and boundaries of collaboration

Robert Altman's Subliminal Reality Robert T. Self, 2002 With his complex and unconventional films Robert Altman often draws an impassioned response from critics but bafflement and indifference from the general public Some audiences have dismissed his movies as insignificant unsatisfying and unreadable Ironically Altman might agree he makes films in order to challenge filmgoers' expectations of straightforward narratives and easily understood endings In Robert Altman's Subliminal Reality Robert T. Self sheds light on Altman's work and provides the most comprehensive analysis of his films to date With close readings of classics like MASH McCabe Mrs Miller and Nashville as well as the more recent films The Player Short Cuts and

Cookie's Fortune Self asserts the value of Altman's work not only to film theory and the entertainment industry but to American culture Book jacket Transitional Justice and the Politics of Inscription Joseph Robinson, 2017-08-04 Taking Northern Ireland as its primary case study this book applies the burgeoning literature in memory studies to the primary question of transitional justice how shall societies and individuals reckon with a traumatic past Joseph Robinson argues that without understanding how memory shapes moulds and frames narratives of the past in the minds of communities and individuals theorists and practitioners may not be able to fully appreciate the complex emotive realities of transitional political landscapes Drawing on interviews with what the author terms memory curators coupled with a robust analysis of secondary literature from a range of transitional cases the book analyses how the bodies of the dead the injured and the traumatised are written into or written out of transitional justice The author argues that scholars cannot appreciate the dynamism of transitional memory space unless they first engage with the often silenced or marginalised voices whose memories remain trapped behind the antagonistic politics of fear and division Ultimately challenging the imperative of national reconciliation the author argues for a politics of public memory that incubates at multiple nodes of social production and can facilitate a vibrant democratic debate over the ways in which a traumatic past can or should be remembered

The Rebirth of Suspense Rick Warner, 2024-09-17 Typically films are suspenseful when they keep us on the edge of our seats when glimpses of a turning doorknob a ticking clock or a looming silhouette quicken our pulses Exemplified by Alfred Hitchcock's masterworks and the countless thrillers they influenced such films captivate viewers with propulsive plots that spur emotional investment in the fates of protagonists Suspense might therefore seem to be a curious concept to associate with art films featuring muted characters serene landscapes and unrushed rhythms in which plot is secondary to mood and tone This ambitious and wide ranging book offers a redefinition of suspense by considering its unlikely incarnations in the contemporary films that have been called slow cinema Rick Warner shows how slowness builds suspense through atmospheric immersion narrative sparseness and the withholding of information causing viewers to oscillate among boredom curiosity and dread He focuses on works in which suspense arises where the boundaries between art cinema and popular genres such as horror thriller science fiction and gothic melodrama become indefinite including Chantal Akerman's La captive Apichatpong Weerasethakul's Memoria Jonathan Glazer's Under the Skin Kelly Reichardt's Night Moves Lucrecia Martel's Zama Kiyoshi Kurosawa's Creepy and David Lynch's Twin Peaks: The Return Warner investigates the pivotal role of sound in generating suspense and traces how the experience of suspense has changed in the era of digital streaming The Rebirth of Suspense develops a fresh theory history typology and analysis of suspense that casts new light on the workings of films across global cinema      Sonatas, Screams, and Silence Alexis Luko, 2015-08-11 Sonatas Screams and Silence Music and Sound in the Films of Ingmar Bergman is the first musical examination of Bergman's style as an auteur filmmaker It

Images of Aging Mike Featherstone, Andrew Wernick, 2003-09-02 We all have a finite life span We are born we get old and we die Given the universality of the ageing process it is remarkable that there is almost a complete absence of study of culture and self image of the middle aged and old Images of Ageing Cultural Representations of Later Life changes this The contributors discuss images of ageing which have come to circulate in the advanced industrial societies today They address themes such as body and self image in everyday interaction experience and identity on old age advertising and consumer culture images of the elderly images of ageing used by Government agencies in health education campaigns the diversity of historical representations of the elderly gender images of ageing images of senility and second childhood images of health illness and death

Film and Stereotype Jörg Schweinitz, 2011 Since the early days of film critics and theorists have contested the value of formula cliché conventional imagery and recurring narrative patterns of reduced complexity in cinema Whether it s the high noon showdown or the last minute rescue a lonely woman standing in the window or two lovers saying goodbye in the rain many films rely on scenes of stereotype and audiences have come to expect them Outlining a comprehensive theory of film stereotype a device as functionally important as it is problematic to a film s narrative Jörg Schweinitz constructs a fascinating though overlooked critical history from the 1920s to today Drawing on theories of stereotype in linguistics literary analysis art history and psychology Schweinitz identifies the major facets of film stereotype and articulates the positions of theorists in response to the challenges posed by stereotype He reviews the writing of Susan Sontag Roland Barthes Theodor W Adorno Rudolf Arnheim Robert Musil B la Bal zs Hugo M nsterberg and Edgar Morin and he revives the work of less prominent writers such as Ren F l p Miller and Gilbert Cohen S at tracing the evolution of the discourse into a postmodern celebration of the device Through detailed readings of specific films Schweinitz also maps the development of models for adapting and reflecting stereotype from early irony Alexander Granowski and conscious rejection Robert Rossellini to critical deconstruction Robert Altman in the 1970s and celebratory transfiguration Sergio Leone and the Coen brothers Altogether a provocative spectacle Schweinitz s history reveals the role of film stereotype in shaping processes of communication and recognition as well as its function in growing media competence in audiences beyond cinema
