Nage Birds Gregory Forth, 2013-01-11 This unusual and richly illustrated book is the story of the relationship between the Nage people of eastern Indonesia and the birds alongside which they co exist Based on fieldwork carried out over a period of some fifteen years it aims for a total view of how a human community interacts with another zoological class giving birds a chosen place in human ideas and social practice As well as a fascinating ornithological study of Indonesian bird life Nage Birds offers a much needed critique of current theoretical argument on how non Western societies categorize and evaluate different species and modes of being

Images of the Wildman in Southeast Asia Gregory Forth, 2008-12-10 The book examines wildmen such as Homo floresiensis and ebu gogo images of hairy humanlike creatures known to rural villagers and other local people in Southeast Asia and elsewhere It explores the source of these representations and their status in local systems of knowledge

Austronesian Undressed David Gil, Antoinette Schapper, 2020-10-15 Many Austronesian languages exhibit isolating word structure This volume offers a series of investigations into these languages which are found in an isolating crescent extending from Mainland Southeast Asia through the Indonesian archipelago and into western New Guinea Some of the languages examined in this volume include Cham Minangkabau colloquial Malay Indonesian and Javanese Lio Alorese and Tetun Dili The main purpose of this volume is to address the general question of how and why languages become isolating by examination of a number of competing hypotheses While some view morphological loss as a natural process others argue that the development of isolating word structure is typically driven by language contact through various mechanisms such as creolization metatypy and Sprachbund effects This volume should be of interest not only to Austronesianists and historians of Insular Southeast Asia but also to grammarians typologists historical linguists creolists and specialists in language contact

Feathered Entanglements Scott E. Simon, Frédéric Laugrand, 2024-10-15 As they migrated across great distances ancient humans may have used birdsong and bird sightings to find food and water in unseen territory Today attending to birds helps scientists track not only avian migration but also environmental change Birds remain our sentinels Feathered Entanglements offers a rich tapestry of human bird relations across the Indo Pacific In this era of uncontrolled industrialization we have grown increasingly disconnected from the natural world The ways in which birds feature in the daily life symbolic systems and material culture of humans from pigeon keeping on the rooftops of Amman to the rituals of Indigenous peoples in Taiwan can teach us how to live with other species amid the challenges of the Anthropocene In a time of intensifying ecological crisis we need more than ever to protect and appreciate non human lives Feathered Entanglements embraces the connection between humans birds and our shared world Ethno-ornithology Sonia Tidemann,Andrew Gosler,2012-08-06 Indigenous knowledge that embraces ornithology takes in whole social dimensions that are inter linked with environmental ethos conservation and management for sustainability In contrast western approaches have tended to reduce knowledge to elemental and material references This book looks at the significance of indigenous knowledge of birds and their cultural significance and how these can assist in framing research methods of western scientists working in related areas As well as its knowledge base this book provides practical advice for professionals in conservation and anthropology by demonstrating the relationship between mutual respect local participation and the building of partnerships for the resolution of joint problems It identifies techniques that can be transferred to different regions environments and collections as well as practices suitable for investigation adaptation and improvement of knowledge exchange and collection in ornithology The authors take anthropologists and biologists who have been trained in and largely continue to practise from a western reductionist approach along another path one that presents ornithological knowledge from alternative perspectives which can enrich the more common approaches to ecological and other studies as well as plans of management for conservation Anthropology and Cryptozoology Samantha Hurn,2016-11-03 Cryptozoology is best understood as the study of animals which in the eyes of Western science are extinct unclassified or unrecognised In consequence and in part because of its selective methods and lack of epistemological rigour cryptozoology is often dismissed as a pseudo science However there is a growing recognition that social science can benefit from engaging with it for as social scientists are very well aware scientific categorisation and explanation represents just one of a myriad of systems used by humans to enable them to classify and make sense of the world around them In many cultural contexts myth folk classification and lived experience challenge the truth expounded by scientists With a reflexive anthropological approach and drawing on rich empirical and ethnographic studies from around the world this volume engages with the theoretical and methodological issues raised by reported sightings of unrecognised animals Bringing into sharp focus the anthropological value and challenges for methodology posed by beliefs about unclassified creatures Anthropology and Cryptozoology Exploring encounters with mysterious creatures will be of interest to anthropologists sociologists and geographers working in the fields of research methods anthrozoology mythology and folklore and human animal interaction The SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology Richard Fardon,Oliva Harris,Trevor H J
