Narrative Unbound Revisioning William Blake's The Four Zoas:

Narrative Unbound Donald D. Ault, 1987 Narrative Unbound is the first full scale interpretation of the verbal text of Blake's most complex long poetic prophecy The Four Zoas. Never engraved or published in the poet artist's lifetime, the poem remains in a single manuscript, apparently unfinished and heavily revised, and yet is widely celebrated as one of Blake's most powerful narrative works. Ault challenges the view that the poem is intrinsically incomplete and flawed, arguing instead that the famous difficulties of the text are aspects of Blake's transformative narrative strategies. By respecting the integrity of Blake's work, taking every written mark on the page as potentially functional, Ault shows how the intricate interweaving of narrative patterns and interruptions are instrumental to conscious reading. The poetic intent is nothing less than a complete renovation of the reading experience, the potential of which is the realization of what Blake has called Four fold vision. Ault's approach serves as a guide both to reading The Four Zoas and to participating in a radical poetic method. Narrative Unbound, 1987 Blake's Night Thoughts J. Tambling, 2004-11-12 Blake's Night Thoughts discusses Blake as a poet and artist of night, considering night through graveyard poetry and Young in the eighteenth century, urbanism in the nineteenth, and Levinas and Blanchot's writings in the twentieth. Taking night as the breakdown of rational, progressive thought and of thought based on concepts of identity, the book reads the lyric poetry, some prophetic works, including a chapter on The Four Zoas, the illustrations to Young and Dante, and looks at Blake's writing of madness. Blake and the City Jennifer Davis Michael, 2006 Though usually classified as a Romantic, Blake subverts and dissolves the binaries on which Romanticism turns itself and other art and nature, country and city. Rather than reject the city outright like many of his contemporaries, Blake embraces it as the intricate workshop of human imagination. Each chapter of this book focuses on a specific text of Blake's that illustrates a particular conception of metaphorical embodiment of the city. These shifting metaphors emphasize the construction of all human environments and the need for imaginative labor to build and interpret them. This study seeks to bridge a gap between transcendent and historicist readings of Blake while at the same time challenging assumptions that still color our view of the city in the twenty-first century. Jennifer Davis Michael is Associate Professor of English at the University of the South.

Blake, Politics, and History Jackie DiSalvo, G. Rosso, Christopher Hobson, 2015-08-14 First published in 1998, this book formed part of an ongoing effort to restore politics and history to the centre of Blake studies. It adopts a three-pronged approach when presenting its essays, seeking to promote a return to the political Blake, to deepen the understanding of some of the conversations articulated in Blake's art by introducing new historical material or new interpretations of texts, and to highlight differing perspectives on Blake's politics among historically focused critics. The collection contains essays with varying methodological assumptions and differing positions on questions central to historicist Blake scholarship. The Torn Book Jason Allen Snart, 2006-09 The Torn Book: UnReading William Blake's Marginalia argues for the connection between British poet and painter William Blake's marginalia, the annotations he made in the volumes he owned and borrowed and the role that often multivalent symbols like pens writers readers and books play throughout his art The Torn Book pays particular attention to original Blake items including the various annotated volumes housed at the Huntington Library Houghton Library Cambridge's University Library and Wren Library Dr Williams's Library and the British Library among others BOOK JACKET Knight of the Living Dead Kathleen Lundeen, 2000-11 In Knight of the Living Dead Kathleen Lundeen investigates Blake's work in the context of his spiritualistic practices and shows how he attempts to create a discourse that circumvents the binary of natural and arbitrary signs Her examination of his word image art demonstrates that in Blake's view what we recognize as word or image depends upon our epistemological orientation just as what we term matter or spirit is determined by our state of perception It further shows how Blake critiques textual theory in both his songs and prophecies by stabilizing the two sets of parameters that are used to define and classify signs the general and particular and the literal and figurative Moreover she argues Blake provides an epistemological alternative to empiricism and rationalism in his poetry and art Through verbal and visual experiments he defies the logic that is rooted in sense perception and reason and he attempts through those experiments to return textuality to a divinely literal condition By treating spiritualism as an aesthetic practice and art as an otherworldly communication he undermines the institutionalized boundaries in art and life and presents a formidable challenge to the whole matter spirit dualism upon which Western culture is based BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Blake, Gender and Culture Helen P Bruder, 2015-10-06 Blake's combination of verse and design invites interdisciplinary study The essays in this collection approach his work from a variety of perspectives including masculinity performance plant biology empire politics and sexuality The Orphaned Imagination Guinn Batten, 1998 Studies of the English Romantic poets generally portray them either as transcending the workings of capitalism or as working in complicity with an entrepreneurial economy In The Orphaned Imagination Guinn Batten challenges standard accounts of Romantic poetry and argues that Wordsworth Byron Blake Shelley Keats and Coleridge each of whom suffered the loss of a father or father figure at an early age possessed an orphan's special insight into the dynamics and aesthetics of commodity culture and its symptomatic melancholia Building on the theoretical insights of Slavoj Žižek Judith Butler Julia Kristeva and Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick Batten interweaves the discourses of psychoanalysis economics biography sexuality melancholy value and exchange to question accepted ideas of how Romantic poetry works She asserts that poetic labor is in fact paradigmatic of the kinds of production and the kinds of desire that capitalist culture renders invisible If symbolic exchange in cash or in words requires the surrender of a beloved object if healthy mourning requires an orphan to work through emotional loss through the consolation of art or a love for the living then the rebellious Romantic poet Batten contends possessed unique insight into the alternative authority of a poetic language that renounced a culture of denial Batten urges that scholars move beyond critical approaches condemning allegedly regressive forms of pleasure recognizing that they too are haunted by melancholic attachments to dead poets as they conduct their work The Orphaned Imagination will interest anyone concerned with the claims of the English Romantic poets to a distinctive valuable form of knowledge and those who may wonder about the power of contemporary theory to illuminate a traditional field
