Natural Life Extension:

Natural Life Extension Leon Chaitow,1992 Regulating the End of Life Sue Westwood,2021-09-09 Regulating the End of Life Death Rights is a collection of cutting edge chapters on assisted dying and euthanasia written by leading authors in the field Providing an overview of current regulation on assisted dying and euthanasia both in the UK and internationally this book also addresses the associated debates on ethical moral and rights issues It considers whether just as there is a right to life there should also be a right to death especially in the context of unbearable human suffering The unintended consequences of prohibitions on assisted dying and euthanasia are explored and the argument put forward that knowing one can choose when and how one dies can be life extending rather than life limiting Key critiques from feminist and disability studies are addressed The overarching theme of the collection is that death is an embodied right which we should be entitled to exercise with appropriate safeguards as and when we choose Making a novel contribution to the debate on assisted dying this interdisciplinary book will appeal to those with relevant interests in law socio legal studies applied ethics medical ethics politics philosophy and sociology

A World Growing Old Daniel Callahan,1996-08-01 For much of the developed world health care for a surging elderly population looms as one of the most daunting problems of the coming decade In this book contributors from diverse disciplinary backgrounds and countries discuss resource allocation for the elderly and debate plans for the years ahead Essays focus on five general issues the meaning of old age the goals of medicine and health care for the elderly the balance between the needs of the young and old the pressures of other social priorities and the role of families especially the burden on women in long term care In consideration of the difficult moral and practical issues involved the editors conclude the volume with a special report containing policy recommendations from representatives of eight countries the United States Belgium the Czech Republic Germany Hungary the Netherlands Sweden and the United Kingdom This important volume will be of interest to policymakers and a broad spectrum of health care professionals as well as to anyone interested in the fate of the elderly or in coming health care challenges

The Quest for Human Longevity Lewis D. Solomon,2006 Over the past decade impressive results have been achieved in targeting the mechanisms and pathways of aging Solomon considers these scientific studies by exploring the principal biomedical and anti aging techniques In this book he considers cutting edge research on mental enhancements and assesses the scientific doubts of skeptics

Look Younger, Live Longer Francisco Contreras,2016-06-07 Are you a baby boomer facing the hard facts of aging in your own life Or are you young and determined to stay that way for as long as possible Genesis 6:3 suggests that God set the human life span at one hundred twenty years Breakthrough scientific research has unlocked many of the secrets of aging proving the biblical age limitation to be correct Dr Francisco Contreras offers proven research that will improve your health and perhaps reverse any illness or disease once and for all According to Dr Contreras you have the power right now to greatly increase your life span and to feel better and look younger

The Fountain of Youth Stephen G. Post,Robert H.

Binstock,2004-04-08 If effective anti aging interventions were achieved they would likely bring about profound alterations in the experiences of individual and collective life What if modern scientists could find the modern equivalent to the Fountain of Youth that Ponce de Leon sought This book addresses this question by exploring the ramifications of possible anti aging interventions on both individual and collective life Through a series of essays it examines the biomedical goal of prolongevity from cultural scientific religious and ethical perspectives offering a sweeping view into the future of aging Humanism and Technology Anthony B. Pinn,2016-11-23 This book interrogates the ways in which new technological advances impact the thought and practices of humanism Chapters investigate the social political and cultural implications of the creation and use of advanced forms of technology examining both defining benefits and potential dangers Contributors also discuss technology s relationship to and impact on the shifting definitions we hold for humankind International and multi disciplinary in nature and scope the volume presents an exploration of humanism and technology that is both racially diverse and gender sensitive With great depth and self awareness contributors offer suggestions for how humanists and humanist organizations might think about and relate to technology in a rapidly changing world More broadly the book offers a critical humanistic interrogation of the concept of progress especially as it relates to technological advancement Lifespanners M. P. Rogers,2011-07-14 A story of greatness through severe trial and hope of betrayal when hope is fulfilled the interaction of twin planets and the power of destiny prevailing still in the unknowable depths of the human psyche after fourteen hundred years from Earth The story deals with twin planets First Planet is toxic A million people are housed there comfortably under a technologically perfect hemispheric Dome They are quite brilliant but their lives are short Immortals living on Sister World a paradise provide for and reward them for their creativity in art and scientific inventions treating them as a brain farm After four hundred years two men escape from the Dome They discover their origins by use of a marvelous instrument a Vade Mecum which belongs to Immortals and is illegal in their possession The planet kills the men but the Vade Mecum by the numinous quality of its sensors returns to the Dome with its recorded information The daughter of one of the men writes a history from its revelation which challenges the Immortals to a crisis of decision they would do anything to avoid The catalyst of all this is the Immortal Seneschal lone mediator of the peoples He lives alone on First Planet in a beautiful Glass City and oversees all providence for the Dome which is carried out by robots His senses are omnipresent and he is aware of all vicissitudes of the Vade Mecum but reveals nothing to his people on Sister World He has a purpose of his own unsuspected by either peoples and reveals his abilities to no one not even the woman he loves the great Lifespanner musician Felice who leaves him because he will not grant her the prime award of immortality she so well deserves nor does he explain himself But their love is great and has its own effect The result of this is irruption on both planets Valuing older people Ricca Edmondson,Hans-Joachim von Kondratowitz,2009-07-20 How can we understand older people as real human beings value their wisdom and appreciate that their norms and purposes both matter in themselves and are affected by those of others

Using a life course approach Valuing older people argues that the complexity and potential creativity of later life demand a humanistic vision of older people and ageing. It acknowledges the diversity of experiences of older age and presents a range of contexts and methodologies through which they can be understood. Ageing is a process of creating meaning carried out by older people and is significant for those around them. This book therefore considers the impact of social norms and political and economic structures on older people's capacities to age in creative ways. What real obstacles are there to older people's construction of meaningful lives? What is being achieved when they feel they are ageing well? This collection aimed at students, researchers, practitioners and policy makers offers a lively and constructive response to contemporary challenges involving ageing and how to understand it.

Time Biases Meghan Sullivan, 2018. Should you care less about your distant future? What about events in your life that have already happened? How should the passage of time affect your planning and assessment of your life? Most of us think it is irrational to ignore the future but completely harmless to dismiss the past. But this book argues that rationality requires temporal neutrality: if you are rational, you don't engage in any kind of temporal discounting. The book draws on puzzles about real life planning to build the case for temporal neutrality. How much should you save for retirement? Does it make sense to cryogenically freeze your brain after death? How much should you ask to be compensated for a past injury? Will climate change make your life meaningless? Meghan Sullivan considers what it is for you to be a person extended over time, how time affects our ability to care about ourselves and all of the ways that our emotions might bias our rational planning. Drawing substantially from work in social psychology, economics and the history of philosophy, the book offers a systematic new theory of rational planning.

RANN 2: Improving government responsiveness to public needs, 1977. Genomics and Democracy Peter Derkx, Harry Kunneman, 2013-09-01. This book addresses the ethical and political questions flowing from the vastly increased possibilities to manipulate the genetic properties of organisms including human beings. Due to the great complexity of the scientific fields involved, these questions are framed and answered mostly by scientific experts. But the new technological possibilities and social practices connected with genetic manipulation intrude into domains that for a long time have been the provenance of religious and secular worldviews and touch upon deep-seated convictions and emotions. Moreover, they are strongly influenced by economic and political interests. As a consequence, questions of scientific truth and technical control are getting more and more mixed up with questions regarding values and interests. Against this background, this book starts from the premise that neither clinging to the idea of value-neutral, disinterested science nor the complete abandonment of this idea in favour of postmodern relativism will be of much help here. Instead, the different contributions to this book explore the idea of a lingua democratica for the life sciences and sketch the contours of this notion by focusing on a broad range of
