Industrial Organization in Context Stephen Martin,2010-04-22 Industrial Organization in Context examines the economics of markets industries and their participants and public policy towards these entities It takes an international approach and incorporates discussion of experimental tests of economic models New Institutional Economics as Situational Logic Piet de Vries,2023-08-04 Drawing on phenomenological and realist approaches this book surveys the theoretical evolution of new institutional economics For all its popularity and explanatory power new institutional economics is not a homogenous field but encompasses a range of different theoretical approaches starting from Coase and the introduction of transaction costs In particular the concept of rationality is a rich source of dispute leading to a bifurcation between insider and outsider perspectives The insider view refers to studying conscious human beings the economic actor who seek their self interest and find themselves in their mundane situation The self interest of the economic actor bestows him with logic It makes the logic of the situation the method of economics as Karl Popper establishes Thus the book argues for the positioning of new institutional economics as situational logic that is an economic theory that formulates and studies single exit situations that face the economic actor Ultimately this book presents a critical appraisal of new institutional economics theories based on a substantiated methodological perspective that effectively navigates the theorist between realism and rigor This book will be of interest to readers of new institutional economics economic theory and the philosophy of economics and social sciences The Changing Boundaries of the Firm Massimo G Colombo,1998-09-03 This book offers a distinctive analysis of the relations and interplay between the internal activities of firms their changing boundaries and increasing reliance on networks and alliances with other firms The contributors offer a blend of theoretical and empirical studies they are based on a set of related perspectives in modern economics including transaction cost economics competence and resource based theories of the firm evolutionary economics and the theories of foreign direct investments and the multinational enterprise The unifying concern shared by the different studies is the need to model firm behaviour and inter firm cooperative activities in terms of knowledge growth and competence building rather than merely in terms of cost reduction they emphasize learning processes and dynamic efficiency rather than efficient allocation of given resources

Large Firms and Institutional Change Bob Hancké, 2002 Between 1980 and 1985 the French economy and industry faced a dramatic crisis in the ten years that followed it witnessed a remarkable revival How did the French economy make this transition While the state is still an important economic agent in France and the market certainly has become more central in the organization of the French economy both state and market centered perspectives fail to understand critical elements of this adjustment Building on the new Varieties of Capitalism approach in political economy which puts firms at the center of the analysis this book argues that the post war state led system changed into a system organized by and around the large firms Large firms have always been central in the French post war economic development model In the past however they adapted to patterns set by the central state By exploiting the possibilities in government policies in different areas such as finance labour relations and regional policies the large firms were able to induce their main interlocutors the state banks labour unions workers and small firms to adjust in a way which was congruent with their own interests From subservient economic agents they became the drivers of economic adjustment Through this case study of readjustment in France this book offers a subtle critique of neo institutionalist perspectives on firms Institutional frameworks do not simply offer scenarios for adjustment but are themselves constructions of economic and political actors and therefore subject to change and reorganization By analysing how large firms in France arguably one of the least likely places to harbour such endogenous capacities changed their institutional environment to fit their own needs this book offers an important new perspective on the political economy of industrial and economic change
