Olsen, Thomas J. Csordas, 2019-05-03 Anthropologists have expressed wariness about diversity the concept of evil even in discussions of morality and ethics in part because the concept carries its own cultural baggage and theological implications in Euro American societies Addressing the problem of evil as a distinctly human phenomenon and a category of ethnographic analysis this volume shows the usefulness of engaging evil as a descriptor of empirical reality where concepts such as violence criminality and hatred fall short of capturing the darkest side of human existence Poetics Jean-Baptiste Eczet, 2021-09-17 Loving cows then killing them The relation with cattle in Mursi country is shaped by the dichotomy between the value given to it during life and the death imposed upon it The killing of cattle may be brief and inflicted with few words but it is preceded by a series of intense aesthetic practices such as body painting and adornments colour poetics poems and oratory art This book investigates the link between the nurturing and killing of cattle with Mursi daily life and finds that these rituals cut across pastoralism social organisation and politics in forming the very fabric of The Manambu Language of East Sepik, Papua New Guinea Alexandra Aikhenvald, 2010-06-17 This book is Mursi society the first comprehensive description of the Manambu language of Papua New Guinea and is based entirely on the author s immersion fieldwork Manambu belongs to the Ndu language family and is spoken by about 2 500 people in five villages Avatip Yawabak Malu Apa n and Yambon Yuanab in East Sepik Province Ambunti district Manambu can be considered an endangered language The Manambu language has many unusual properties Every noun is considered masculine or feminine Feminine gender which is unmarked is associated with small size and round shape and masculine gender with elongated shape large size and importance The Manambu culture is centered on ownership of personal names and is similar to that of the Iatmul described by Gregory Bateson After an introductory account of the language and its speakers Professor Aikhenvald devotes chapters to phonology grammatical relations word classes gender semantics number case possession derivation and compounding pronouns morphohology verbs mood and modality negation clause structure pragmatics discourse semantics the lexicon current directions of change and genetic relationship to other languages. The description is presented in a clear style in a framework that will be comprehensible to all linguists and linguistically oriented anthropologists Rethinking Relation-Substance Dualism Aurélie Névot, 2024-01-16 This book analyses anthropological debates on relationism referring to methodological and theoretical issues and sets out to reconsider these discussions with regards to the notion of substance generally associated with the body Reflecting on the philosophical origins and implications of these two concepts the author aims to bring them to the heart of contemporary anthropological discourse and addresses the erasure or blurring of substance in favour of relation The argument put forward is that the conceptual pairing of substance relation should be substituted for the nature culture dualism that has been dominant in structural anthropology The chapters engage with the work of scholars such as Philippe Descola Eduardo Viveiros de Castro and Wang Mingming as part of a decentring and questioning of the tradition in which anthropology is rooted The book also considers the role that the anthropology of China plays in the re evaluation of the relationship between relation and substance The concept of submutance is introduced with Chinese ethnographic material to explore the possibility of moving beyond the relation substance dualism of Western heritage This is valuable reading for scholars interested in the theory and history of anthropology Truth, Intentionality and Evidence Yazid Ben Hounet, Deborah Puccio-Den, 2017-03-27 This book provides an anthropological exploration of the ways in which crime is perceived and defined focusing on notions of truth intentionality and evidence The chapters contain rich ethnographic case studies drawn from work in the Middle East Africa India Mexico and Europe A variety of instances are discussed from court proceedings police reports and newspapers to moments of conflict resolution and reconciliation Through analysis of this material the authors reflect on how perception of an act as a crime can differ and how the definition of crime may not be shared by all societies. The approach takes into consideration local standards as well as social legal and contextual constraints What Is Religion? Thomas A. Idinopulos, Brian Courtney Wilson, 1998 Of Religion BRIAN C WILSON Religion in the Making Arie L. Molendijk, Peter Pels,1998 This volume deals with the emergence of a scientific discourse on religion in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries in Europe and North America This process is examined in a broad academic context among different disciplines in terms of socio historical developments The Pragmatics of Defining Religion Platvoet, Arie Molendijk, 2018-11-13 This volume promotes a pragmatic anti essentialist and anti hegemonic approach to the problem of the definition of religion It argues that definitions of religion are context bound strategies for pursuing a variety of purposes extra academic as well as academic Religions being immensely varied complex and multi functional phenomena they need to be studied by several academic disciplines from many different perspectives It is therefore legitimate and useful that many definitions of religions are developed The volume has contributions from scholars in Philosophy of Religion the Comparative Study of Religions Anthropology of Religion Sociology of Religion and Psychology of Religion It has chapters on the polemics of defining religion in modern contexts the history of the concept of religion and the methodology of its definition it includes several definition proposals
