Premodern China A Bibliographical Introduction:

Premodern China Chun-shu Chang,1971 An introductory bibliography of Western language works on premodern China from historic times to the early nineteenth century Premodern China: a bibliographical introduction Chun-shu Chang,

China Bibliography Harriet T. Zurndorfer,2021-12-06 This volume serves as a guide to all facets of China study from advice on choosing an appropriate literary dictionary to finding the most recent yearbooks that offer statistical data about the contemporary economy China Bibliography does not restrict itself to one particular discipline but considers the development of Chinese civilization as a whole from its imperial beginnings to the present and therefore demonstrates how one would find information about Chinese history literature religion linguistics collectanea as well as present day PRC economic and political policies Because this book also explains how bibliographical data on China has accumulated over the last 300 years including within China itself it also may help the reader understand the significance of a particular type of reference work Premodern China Zhunshu Zhang,1971 Mao Zedong's "Talks at the Yan'an Conference on Literature and Art" Bonnie McDougall,2020-06-01 The writings of Mao Zedong have been circulated throughout the world more widely perhaps than those of any other single person this century The Talks at the Yan an Conference on Literature and Art has occupied a prominent position among his many works and has been the subject of intense scrutiny both within and outside China This text has undoubted importance to modern Chinese literature and history In particular it reveals Mao s views on such questions as the relationship between writers or works of literature and their audience or the nature and value of different kinds of literary products In this translation and commentary Bonnie S McDougall finds that Mao was in fact ahead of many of his critics in the West and his Chinese contemporaries in his discussion of literary issues Unlike the majority of modern Chinese writers deeply influenced by Western theories of literature and society including Marxism Mao remained close to traditional patterns of thought and avoided the often mechanical or narrowly literal interpretations that were the hallmark of Western schools current in China in the early twentieth century Many of the detailed discussions on the Talks in the West have been concerned with their political and historical significance However since Mao is a literary figure of some importance in twentieth century China McDougall finds it worthwhile to follow up his published remarks on the nature and source of literature and the means of its evaluation By better understanding the complex and revolutionary ideas contained in the Talks McDougall suggests we may acquire the necessary analytical tools for a more fruitful investigation into contemporary Chinese literature China's Imperial Past Charles O. Hucker,1975 A panoramic survey of the course of Chinese civilization from prehistory to 1850 when the old China began to give way A Bibliography of Chinese Language Materials on the People's Communes Wei-yi Ma,2020-08-06 A research tool for scholars studying modern China particularly those focusing on the post 1949 communal system and economy The work includes full bibliographic references to some 2 800 essay articles pamphlets and other materials in Chinese taken from more than 130 publications primarily from mainland China. The entries are arranged topically with annotations. Includes a geographic index to the communes referred to in the listed items.

China's Allocation of Fixed Capital Investment, 1952-1957 Chu-yuan Cheng, 2020-08-06 China's efforts to stimulate industrial development and economic growth through the allocation of investments are analyzed. Cheng concludes with an overall assessment of the distinctive features of the allocation pattern. Includes 41 statistical tables.

An Annotated Bibliography of Chinese Painting Catalogues and Related Texts Hin-cheung Lovell, 2020-08-06 The student of Chinese painting must from time to time consult John C. Ferguson's Li tai chu lu hua mu, an index to Chinese paintings recorded in Chinese catalogues. The catalogues in which the paintings are compiled are of equal interest: their compilers, the date of their compilation, their scope, their derivation, their merits and shortcomings, and so on. An Annotated Bibliography of Chinese Painting Catalogues and Related Texts provides a way for English language students with limited knowledge of Chinese to find basic information on the catalogues in an easily available form.

Chinese Communist Materials at the Bureau of Investigation Archives, Taiwan Peter Donovan, Carl Dorris, Carl E. Dorris, Lawrence Sullivan, Lawrence R. Sullivan, 2020-08-06 During the long years of civil strife in China, the Nationalist authorities amassed extensive materials on their Communist adversaries. Now stored in government institutions on Taiwan, these materials are an excellent source for the study of the Chinese Communist movement. Among them is the Bureau of Investigation Collection BIC, which holds over 300,000 volumes of primary documents on the Chinese Communist movement. The purpose of Chinese Communist Materials is without any attempt at comprehensive listing of the Bureau's holdings to give scholars a representative description of the collection to point out its implications for research and suggest new areas for research at the Bureau in the fields of political science and history. 1-4

"Proletarian Hegemony" in the Chinese Revolution and the Canton Commune of 1927 S. Bernard Thomas, 2020-09-23 The Communist aim of proletarian hegemony in the Chinese revolution was given concrete expression through the Canton Commune, reflected in the policies and strategies that led to the uprising, the makeup and program of the Soviet setup in Canton, and in the subsequent assessment of the revolt by the Comintern and the Chinese Communist Party. Proletarian Hegemony in the Chinese Revolution and the Canton Commune of 1927 describes these developments and, with the further ideological treatment given the Commune serving as a backdrop, will then examine the continuing evolution and ultimate transformation of the proletarian line and the concept of proletarian leadership in the post-1927 history of Chinese Communism. 3

China's Examination Hell Ichisada Miyazaki, 1981-01-01 Written by one of the foremost historians of Chinese institutions, this book focuses on China's civil service examination system in its final and most elaborate phase during the Ch'ing dynasty. All aspects of this labyrinthine system are explored: the types of questions, the style and form in which they were to be answered, the problem of cheating, and the psychological and financial burdens of the candidates, the rewards of the successful, and the plight of those who failed. Drawing on a wide range of sources, including Chinese novels, short stories, and plays, this thought provoking and entertaining book brings to vivid life the testing structure that supplied China's government bureaucracy for almost fourteen hundred years Professor Miyazaki's informative work is concerned with a system that was in effect the basic institution of Chinese political life the real pillar which supported the imperial monarchy the effective vehicle for the aspirations and ambitions of the ruling class Imperial China without the examination system for the past thousand years and more would have developed in an entirely different way and might not have endured as the continuing form of government over a huge empire Pacific Affairs The most comprehensive narrative treatment in any language of this enduring achievement of Chinese civilization American Historical Review

Nineteenth-Century China Dilip Basu, Rhoads Murphey, 2020-08-06 Materials from the past that wrongly anticipate the future or present information or judgments that are later proved misleading or erroneous are sometimes overlooked in reconstructing the past Yet such documents are as legitimate and perhaps as important as those that are vindicated by events or continue to share perspectives with later generations The five documents reproduced in Nineteenth Century China are typical of the periods from which they come but each was overtaken or contradicted by events Collected with a belief in the legitimacy of attempting to see every period as much as possible in its own terms these texts offer a glimpse of what China looked like and suggested to Englishmen on the spot in Canton and Hong Kong in the first half of the nineteenth century and how they viewed their own country and its role vis vis the China they observed The first two texts in Nineteenth Century China exemplify the imperialist mind's eagerness to explore the world to get a picture of all of its parts and as rapidly as possible to open all areas to the beneficent influence of the West notably through an expanded commerce that would enrich its Western masters Samuel Ball's Observations 1817 show how much detailed information was available to Westerners and what the mercantile British were after and an anonymous dissertation 1838 provides an example of the dream of the China as El Dorado an immense population of eager traders hard workers and willing buyers The third text 1845 is an early foreshadowing by a colonial official R M Martin of Western imperial arguments rationalizations and attitudes that would become common fifty years later The fourth selection consists of an exchange of correspondence in 1847 about British access to and use of land in the vicinity of Canton A short statement of purpose 1848 from the Morrison Education Society demonstrating a missionary enterprise combining Christian evangelism and English education concludes the book

The History of Imperial China Endymion Wilkinson, 2020-03-17 A comprehensive introduction in English to Sinological methods and traditional Chinese historical writing The time span ranges from earliest times to 1911 with special emphasis on the years between the third century B C and the eighteenth century The author includes introductions to major reference works and biographical information and explanations of such matters as converting traditional dates In addition to standard histories the survey covers biographical writing historical and administrative geography works on statecraft archival sources and Confucian Buddhist and Taoist writings

Chang Ch'un-ch'iao and Shanghai's January Revolution Andrew Walder, 2021-01-19 Shanghai's January Revolution was a highly visible and by all accounts crucially important event in China's Cultural Revolution Its occurrence along with the subsequent attempt to establish a commune form of municipal government has greatly shaped our understanding both of the goals originally envisaged for the Cultural Revolution by its leaders and of the political positions held by the new corps of Party leaders thrust upward during its course most notably Chang Ch'un ch'iao At this interpretive level the events in Shanghai seem to embody in microcosm the issues and conflicts in Chinese politics during the Cultural Revolution as a whole while at the same time shaping our conception of what these larger issues and conflicts were At the more general theoretical level however the events in Shanghai provide us with an unusual opportunity thanks to Red Guard raids on Party offices to view the internal workings of the Party organization under a period of stress and to observe unrestrained interest group formation and mass political conflict through the press accounts provided by these unofficial groups themselves The January Revolution thus provides us with an opportunity to develop better our more abstract theoretical understanding of the functioning of the Chinese political system and the dynamics of the social system in which it operates 1 Essays on T'ang Society Smith, Perry, 2023-07-24

Chinese History Endymion Porter Wilkinson, 2000 Endymion Wilkinson's bestselling manual of Chinese history has long been an indispensable guide to all those interested in the civilization and history of China In this latest edition now in a bigger format its scope has been dramatically enlarged by the addition of one million words of new text Twelve years in the making the new manual introduces students to different types of transmitted excavated and artifactual sources from prehistory to the twentieth century It also examines the context in which the sources were produced preserved and received the problems of research and interpretation associated with them and the best most up to date secondary works Because the writing of history has always played a central role in Chinese politics and culture special attention is devoted to the strengths and weaknesses of Chinese historiography World Military History Bibliography Barton Hacker,2003-06-01 Preclassical and indigenous nonwestern military institutions and methods of warfare are the chief subjects of this annotated bibliography of work published 1967 1997 Classical antiquity post Roman Europe and the westernized armed forces of the 20th century although covered receive less systematic attention Emphasis is on historical studies of military organization and the relationships between military and other social institutions rather than wars and battles Especially rich in references to the periodical literature the bibliography is divided into eight parts 1 general and comparative topics 2 the ancient world 3 Eurasia since antiquity 4 sub Saharan Africa and Oceania 5 pre Columbian America 6 postcontact America 7 the contemporary nonwestern world and 8 philosophical social scientific natural scientific and other works not primarily historical Career Patterns in the Ch'ing Dynasty Raymond Chu,William Saywell,2020-08-06 The office of governor general tsung tu was the highest provincial post throughout the Ch ing dynasty As such it was a vital link in the control of a vast empire by a very small and alien ruling elite This is primarily a biographical and statistical analysis of the incumbents of that office By analyzing the biographical data of those who held the position of governor general much may be learned about the nature of the office itself However the main objective of the study is to provide information on career patterns that is the variety of different posts held from the first official appointment to that of governor general of an important cross section of successful Ch ing bureaucrats By plotting and analyzing the different patterns their official careers took we should be able to determine what kind of men reached the top of China s provincial and national administration during the final centuries of China s imperial history the qualifications that were required the factors which prompted rapid promotion or sudden disgrace We should also be able to determine the extent to which these and other factors varied markedly among Manchu Mongol Chinese Bannerman and Han incumbents and whether changes throughout the dynasty can be detected in policies concerning the office or in the career patterns of its personnel If such detection is possible this study may lend support to the view that late imperial China was not static but a society undergoing significant changes xi
