

Evaluation Reporting:

Keeping these considerations in mind—engaging stakeholders, revisiting the evaluation purpose, and defining the target audience—you are now ready for evaluation reporting. These considerations will direct the scope of the evaluation report, the way findings are discussed, and the manner in which the report is delivered. This portion of the evaluation guide focuses on key aspects for preparing an evaluation report designed to ensure use.

Types of Evaluation Reports

Evaluation reports can take on many forms, from detailed reports to one-page briefs, but the primary goal in any evaluation is to ensure that the findings are used by the stakeholders. This section highlights two different approaches for evaluation reporting—traditional and action-oriented—while focusing on the benefits of action-oriented reports.

Traditional Reports

Often, formal evaluations are followed by formal comprehensive reports, which is the traditional style of reporting. Traditional reports are frequently required to satisfy funding requirements and serve a number of uses. Traditional reports

- ▶ Add to the knowledge base of evaluation practice
- ▶ Provide context and historical reference
- ▶ Serve as foundation for supplemental reports
- ▶ Provide accountability

Although traditional reports have great value, they may not be conducive to ensuring use of the evaluation results. Traditional reports can be expensive, time-consuming to prepare, and too lengthy for easy reading.

In many cases, a funder may require a comprehensive evaluation report for program accountability and reporting requirements. In such instances, it's important to comply with reporting requirements as requested by the funder.

It can be helpful to consider the evaluation reporting approach that will prompt your audience to action. One such type of reporting is action-oriented reporting. An action-oriented report is intentionally shorter than a traditional formal report and is focused, simple, and geared toward a particular audience.⁴

Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States. Superintendent of Documents, 1966 The Politics of Evaluation in International Organizations Vytautas Jankauskas, Steffen Eckhard, 2023-04-26 Evaluation has become a key tool in assessing the performance of international organizations in fostering learning and in demonstrating accountability Within the United Nations UN system thousands of evaluators and consultants produce hundreds of evaluation reports worth millions of dollars every year But does evaluation really deliver on its promise of objective evidence and functional use By unravelling the internal machinery of evaluation systems in international organizations this book challenges the conventional understanding of evaluation as a value free activity Vytautas Jankauskas and Steffen Eckhard show how a seemingly neutral technocratic tool can serve as an instrument for power in global governance they demonstrate and explain how deeply politics are entrenched in the interests of evaluation stakeholders in the control and design of IO evaluation systems and to a lesser extent also in the content of evaluation reports The analysis draws on 120 research interviews with evaluators member state representatives and IO secretariat officials as well as on textual analysis of over 200 evaluation reports The investigation covers 21 UN system organizations including detailed case studies of the ILO IMF UNDP UN WOMEN IOM UNHCR FAO WHO and UNESCO Shedding light on the in effectiveness of evidence based policymaking the authors propose possible ways of better reconciling the observed evaluation politics with the need to gather reliable evidence that is used to improve the functioning of the United Nations The answer to evaluation politics is not to abandon evaluation or isolate it from the stakeholders but to acknowledge surrounding political interests and design evaluation systems accordingly
