Kumar,J. Brandt,1987-06-30 In spite of the availability of modern broad spectrum anthelmintic drugs the prevention and control of helminth zoonoses remain a challenge to human and veterinary parasitologists and to physicians and veterina rians working on the field Although the life cycles of most helminths of zoonotic importance are well known there are still major gaps in our knowledge especially in the fields of epidemiology diagnosis and treat ment The International Colloquium on Helminth Zoonoses held at the Institute of Tropical Medicine Antwerp 11 12 December 1986 laid emphasis on more recent advances made in the control and epidemiology of these zoonotic diseases The disease complexes echinococcosis hydatidosis taeniasis cysticercosis and the larva migrans syndrome were dealt with in considerable detail In the first chapter the phenomenon of strain variation in

Echinococcus spp is examined in the light of newer findings The progress made in recent years towards a more specific diagnosis and drug targeting in hydatidosis is reported In the second chapter recent advances in immunisation and treatment of cysticercosis are dealt with The possibility of the existence of strain differences in Taenia saginata is also discussed The third chapter is devoted to trematode zoonoses with particular reference to the situation in South east Asia Senegal schistosomiasis and Liberia paragonimiasis In the last chapter the larva migrans syndrome is treated in detail with special attention to its etiology and diagnosis Reports on lesser known nematode zoonoses like mammomonosomiasis and oesophagostomiasis are included National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1989

Cattle Housing Systems, Lameness and Behaviour H.K. Wierenga,D.J. Peterse,1987-03-31 Proceedings of a Seminar held in Brussels on June 3 4 1986 at the Commission of the European Communities The Present State of Leptospirosis Diagnosis and Control W. A. Ellis,T. W. A. Little,1986 Modelling of Livestock Production Systems S. Korver,J.A.M. van Arendonk,1988-03-31 A seminar in the Community Programme for the Coordination of Agricultural Research held in Brussels Belgium April 7 9 1987 Energy Metabolism in Farm Animals M.W. Verstegen,A.M. Henken,2012-12-06 Animal production systems have changed dramatically over the last two decades Knowledge of energy metabolism and environmental physiology has increased as appears from many textbooks on these disciplines The contents of the symposia on energy metabolism of farm animals show this and they have initially focussed on feed evaluation and later on comparative aspects of energy metabolism They show part of the progress being made Application of knowledge of energy metabolism for animals has a long history since Lavoisier In addition to this studies about the environmental requirements of animals have shown that we are still far from accurate assessment of these requirements in terms of nutrients and energy In model studies on energy metabolism researchers have recognized the interaction between the environment and the energy requirements of animals Estimation of energy requirements has been done in physiological physical and behavioural studies The impact of conditions as encountered by animals in various production systems has been approached from different viewpoints related to these different disciplines In addition various kinds of infections bacterial parasitic subclinical clinical have been evaluated only recently with regard to their effect on protein and or energy metabolism and thus on production People working in the field of feed evaluation have defined how chemical and physical properties of nutrition influence energy to be derived for maintenance and production Physiological and Pharmacological Aspects of the Reticulo-Rumen L.A.A. Ooms,A.D. Degryse,A.S.J.P.A.M. van Miert,2012-12-06 The success of a scientific workshop depends on a delicate blend of many types of ingredients Most important is to select a provocative topic which is at the forefront of a current investigative study Coupled together with a relatively small but distinguished group of active research scientists known for their continued record of contributing significant findings one has the firm foundation for an exciting and rewarding investment of time and effort This was the setting for the first workshop organized by the European Association for

Veterinary Pharmacology and Toxicology Ruminants have been domesticated for many centuries and have served mankind as a source of dairy products meat wool and power The ruminant stomach has long been and still is a major concern for physiologists pathologists clinicians and pharmacologists This workshop was organized and convened in an attempt to strengthen the basic science of the ruminant stomach as it applies to an economically important group of mammals To achieve this various topics were covered by specialists which ensured presentation of new data followed by discussions In this book reviews are presented on the different topics motility control and regulation neurotransmitters and endogenous substances involved flow of digesta comparative aspects role of content and metabolites food intake rumen metabolism chemical manipulation metabolism of xenobiotics and drugs pharmacology of forestomach motility and the reticulo rumen as a pharmacokinetic compartment

Acute Virus Infections of Poultry J.B. McFerran, M.S. McNulty, 2012-12-06 This book is based on the proceedings of a seminar on acute viral infections of poultry which was held in Brussels on 13 14 June 1985 The aim of the seminar which was sponsored by the CEC was to gather information on those infections of immediate or increasing importance It is hoped that dissemination of this information will make it easier to harmonize diagnostic and control measures throughout the member states of the EEC Several points emerge from recent outbreaks of highly pathogenic avian influenza In view of the apparent change in pathogenicity of the virus involved in the outbreak in the USA infections of domestic poultry particularly with H5 and H7 sub types should be regarded as a potential threat even if the viruses involved are of low pathogenicity The reasons for the amount of lateral spread which occurred in the USA outbreak are still not clear and it can not be assumed that future outbreaks of highly pathogenic avian influenza will tend to be self limiting as in the past The importance of denying access of wild birds particularly water fowl to domestic poultry needs to be re emphasised Lastly there appears to be increasing support for a combination of slaughter and ring vaccination to control future outbreaks of spreading avian influenza

Improving Genetic Disease Resistance in Farm Animals Akke Jitske Akkermans, W. Sybesma, 2012-12-06 This publication contains the proceedings of a seminar held in Brussels on November 8 9 1988 The title of the seminar was Reducing the costs of disease by improving resistance through genetics The seminar was held as an activity of the Community Programme for the Coordination of Agricultural Research 1984 1988 Costs of disease depend on losses caused by morbidity mortality and production decreases and on the costs of preventive measures including vaccination and medication Production losses often contribute a major portion to the total costs To reduce costs of disease preventive measures like vaccination preventive medication and hygienic procedures are applied Genetic resistance is an attractive preventive measure because of its consistent nature in the next generations because it precludes veterinary services and because there are no side effects Constraints are the long term investment relatively slow progress per generation in combination with production traits and the considerable lack of knowledge about inheritance of resistance mechanisms in farm animals

Diagnostic Ultrasound and Animal Reproduction M.A.M. Taverne, A.H.

Willemse,2013-06-29 The use of ultrasonic imaging techniques for diagnostic purposes in veterinary medicine and animal science has lagged far behind their use in human medicine In the area of domestic animal reproduction diagnostic ultrasonography has a relatively short history Reports on B mode scanning first appeared as late as 1969 when Stouffer and co workers used it for counting foetal numbers in late gestation sheep After Lindahl had re evaluated the potential of two dimensional ultrasonography for pregnancy diagnosis in sheep in 1976 results of the first large scale field trials by Fowler and Wilkins on predicting foetal numbers during the first half of gestation in sheep were published as recently as 1980 In this year also the first paper by Palmer and co workers on ultrasonic scanning of the uterus and ovaries in the mare appeared The improvement of diagnostics which was achieved by the application of this technique is illustrated by its present routine use in clinical equine practice and sheep breeding Besides offering an accurate early pregnancy diagnosis in species such as the horse cow sheep goat pig and dog ultrasonography enables the visualization of ovarian and uterine structures for the identification of both physiological and pathological conditions In this way it replaces or supplements the more common diagnostic techniques used by the general practitioner so far Ultrasonography has also opened several new lines of research for clinicians and research workers Molecular Biology of Spirochetes Felipe C. Cabello,Dagmar Hulinska,Henry P.

Godfrey,2006 Diseases produced by spirochetes including Lyme borreliosis syphilis and leptospirosis are on the rise worldwide This volume focuses on a series of state of the art presentations of the research taking place in the laboratories of the contributors and serves as an introduction to those individuals entering in the field of spirochete research Animal Disease Occurrence ,1986 Pathology of Domestic Animals ,2012-12-02 The all new Fourth Edition of Pathology of Domestic Animals comprehensively covers the biology and pathology of diseases of domestic animals on a systemic basis Updated and expanded to reflect the current knowledge of the study of domestic animal diseases this three volume set appeals to veterinarians veterinary students trainee veterinary pathologists learning the scope of their field and practicing pathologists confronted with diagnostic problems Improvements over the Third Edition All material completely updated and expanded to reflect the current knowledge of the study of diseases of domestic animals Covers the biology and pathology of diseases of domestic animals on a global basis Emphasizes the pattern of disease and the defense mechanisms of each organ system Several new illustrations Veterinary Microbiology D. Scott McVey,Melissa Kennedy,M. M.

Chengappa,2013-08-05 Veterinary Microbiology Third Edition is a comprehensive reference on the bacterial fungal and viral pathogenic agents that cause animal disease Now in full color with improved images throughout the new edition has been thoroughly updated to reflect information from current research and diagnostic and clinical publications Key changes include a review of microbial cell structure and function and increased emphasis on the key points of pathogenesis and host responses to infection Organized into four sections the Third Edition begins with an updated and expanded introductory section on infectious disease pathogenesis diagnosis and clinical management The second section covers bacterial and fungal pathogens and the third section describes viral diseases and viruses The final section presents a systematic approach of describing infection and disease of animals Equally useful for beginning veterinary students and seasoned practitioners Veterinary Microbiology offers a thorough introduction and reference text for veterinary infectious disease Summer Mastitis G. Thomas, H.J. Over, U. Vecht, P. Nansen, 2012-12-06 This Community meeting has been organised since over the past 15 years in different countries of Western Europe including Scandinavia a lot of research has been directed to the summer mastitis problem Summer mastitis in cattle is a well known disease which because of its abruptness and the difficulties concerned in defining the predisposing factors and the pathogens involved is hard to control Moreover as it is anticipated that in the transmission of the bacteria one or more dipterans are involved the complexity in defining the disease and hence co ordinating our scientific knowledge in relation to practical control was stimulus enough for this workshop to be organised Our aims can be summarised in the following goals 1 Exchange of information in the practical technical and scientific field in order to stimulate a co ordinated research approach at a time in which the cattle husbandry sector is under great economical stress 2 Inform research workers from countries where the disease is or seems to be not endemic on aspects that might be of interest for them in the approach of comparable problems 3 To draw up conclusions and recommendations with regard to future research activities in order to avoid needless duplication of effort Infectious Diseases of Livestock with Special Reference to Southern Africa J. A. W. Coetzer, G. R. Thomson, R. C. Tustin, 1994
