Understanding the Final Frontier of Cancer

Decode the biological cascade that drives 90% cancer-related deaths.

INVASION

Molecular

- Matrix Metalloproteinases (MMPs) degrade ECM components

Epigenetic

- Histone modifications upregulate TWIST1, initiating EMT

INTRAVASATION

Molecular

- Downregulation of E-cadherin: VEGF increases vascular permeability

Genetic

- Loss of TP53 Activation of RAS and SRC oncogenes

CIRCULATION

Molecular

- Platelet cloaking: Adhesion via selectins and galectins

Genetic

- High MCT1 expression: TP53 loss activates WNT / IL-1 β pathways

EXTRAVASATION

Molecular

- Integrins $\alpha 5 \beta 1$ and $\alpha v \beta 3$ mediate adhesion. RIPK1/3 triggers necroptosis

Genetic

- Upregulation of CXCR4 guides cells to CXCL12 niche sites

DeVita,Theodore S. Lawrence,Steven A. Rosenberg,2012-03-28 Drawn from the content of the new Ninth Edition of Cancer Principles and Practice of Oncology this unique publication brings together the basic scientific information on the molecular biology of cancer The format is designed to be useful both to research scientists interested in the study of cancer and to oncologists who need to understand these new developments that are having a profound impact on the care of patients with cancer Leading scientists and clinicians in the field of molecular biology and clinical oncology have lent their expertise to this project The text has been divided into two parts Part I includes thirteen chapters that deal with the general principles of the molecular biology of cancer that provide the basic framework for an understanding of the behavior of cancer cells Part II includes an up to date description of how this new information has affected the understanding of the biology of 19 of the most common cancers with an emphasis on how these new findings have been translated to impact the management of cancer patients This distinctive text provides a single concise source of information for scientists and clinicians in this rapidly developing field Principles of Cancer Biotherapy R.K. Oldham,2012-12-06 At the time of the first edition of Principles of Cancer Biotherapy this book represented the first comprehensive textbook on biological therapy Whereas in 1991 when the second edition was published there was still some doubt on the part of many oncologists and cancer researchers as to the therapeutic value of these new approaches it is now generally agreed that biopharmaceuticals are producing major opportunities for new cancer therapies Cancer biotherapy has truly matured into the fourth modality of cancer treatment The third edition is now needed as a result of the tremendous progress that has been made in recent years using biologicals in cancer treatment The book summarizes an evolving science and a rapidly changing medical practice As we near the millennium it now becomes possible to envision a much more diversified system of cancer research and treatment that will afford greater opportunities for patients Some forms of cancer biotherapy use the strategy of tumour stabilization and control through continued biological therapy akin to the use of insulin in the treatment of diabetes This textbook illustrates new methods of thinking and new strategies for control of cancer It is always difficult to move from past dogma to future opportunity but this third edition of Principles of Cancer Biotherapy illustrates why it is so important to the patients for researchers and clinicians to explore and apply these new opportunities in cancer biotherapy Advances in Cancer Research ,1990-02-22 Advances in Cancer Research

Pointers to Cancer Prognosis B.A. Stoll, 2012-12-06 The last 30 years have seen little improvement in the age adjusted mortality rates for most common types of cancer and until we develop more effective and less damaging treatment modalities for these tumours selection of each patient's treatment must depend on prognostic pointers These lead to a calculated trade off between our estimate of likely benefit to the patient as against cost in terms of quality of life But changes have occurred recently in our understanding of the traditional prognostic pointers used for selecting such individualised treatment First it is increasingly recognised that the stage at which a tumour presents is more related to the chronological age of the tumour how far it has progressed before diagnosis than to its biological characteristics While advanced chronological age of the tumour may predict a greater likelihood of early death only biological criteria can predict the tumour growth rate the likelihood of prolonged survival the likely course of the disease after the first recurrence or the likelihood of response to systemic therapy Second there is increasing use of failure analysis in relating the clinical and biological characteristics of tumours to their response to standard treatments In the past the relationship was interpreted mainly in terms of survival rate but the site and timing of first recurrence and the pattern and timing of subsequent spread provide a better assessment of the control possible from local or systemic therapy

Principles and Practice of Geriatric Surgery Ronnie Ann Rosenthal, Michael E. Zenilman, Mark R. Katlic, 2011-07-12 In the preface to this impressive and well produced book the editors state that their aim is not to describe a new surgical specialty since most surgeons will soon need to be geriatric surgeons but to assemble a comprehensive account that will allow all providers of healthcare to the elderly to understand the issues involved in choosing surgery as a treatment option for their patients This is a useful book that deserves to do well I hope that the editors and their publisher will have the stamina to make this the first of several editions as it is clear that updated information about surgery in the elderly will be required to keep pace with this important field NEJM Book Review
