

The background of the book cover is a deep black space. It is populated with several black holes, depicted as glowing orange and yellow disks with a dark central singularity. These black holes are of various sizes and are scattered across the frame. Interspersed among the black holes are numerous thin, wavy, white lines that represent the paths of light or gravitational waves being deflected by the massive objects. The overall effect is a dynamic and scientific representation of the universe's most extreme environments.
