Human Privacy in Virtual and Physical Worlds Mary C. Lacity, Lynda Coon, 2024-05-27 This open access book is premised on the belief that understanding and protecting privacy requires a multidisciplinary approach The editors of this contributed book believe that privacy is a wicked problem because of its social complexity In the modern world political social and technological structures increasingly violate human privacy in physical and virtual spaces Our behaviors are surveilled captured and monetized often without our knowledge Contributors are experts from diverse fields including anthropology architecture data science engineering history information systems library sciences medicine philosophy and supply chain management each writing for an explicitly interdisciplinary readership Privacy as a concept is a moving target across the globe morphing and transforming historically from one epoch to the next By moving beyond the limitations of a single disciplinary lens this book aims at a richer more comprehensive and more lasting analysis This collection is of great interest to students and scholars of diverse backgrounds studying human privacy

Privacy in Public Space Tjerk Timan, Bryce Clayton Newell, Bert-Jaap Koops, 2017-11-24 This book examines privacy in public space from both legal and regulatory perspectives With on going technological innovations such as mobile cameras WiFi tracking drones and augmented reality aspects of citizens lives are increasingly vulnerable to intrusion The contributions describe contemporary challenges to achieving privacy and anonymity in physical public space at a time when legal protection remains limited compared to private space To address this problem the book clearly shows why privacy in public space needs defending Different ways of conceptualizing and shaping such protection are explored for example through privacy bubbles obfuscation and surveillance transparency as well as revising the assumptions underlying current privacy laws

The Privacy of the Psychical Amihud Gilead, 2011-01-01 This book argues that the irreducible singularity of each person as a psychical subject implies the privacy of the psychical and that of experience and yet the private accessibility of each person to his or her mind is compatible with interpersonal communication and understanding The book treats these major issues against the background of the author's original metaphysics panenmentalism

Privacy and Capitalism in the Age of Social Media Sebastian Seignani, 2015-08-27 This book explores commodification processes of personal data and provides a critical framing of the ongoing debate of privacy in the Internet age using the example of social media and referring to interviews with users It advocates and expands upon two main theses First people's privacy is structurally invaded in contemporary informational capitalism Second the best response to this problem is not accomplished by invoking the privacy framework as it stands because it is itself part of the problematic nexus that it struggles against Informational capitalism poses weighty problems for making the Internet a truly social medium and aspiring to sustainable privacy simultaneously means to struggle against alienation and exploitation In the last instance this means opposing the capitalist form of association online and offline

Dissatisfaction? Todd McGowan, 2012-02-01 Winner of the 2004 Gary Olson Award for best book in cultural theory presented by JAC Exploring the emergence of a societal imperative to enjoy ourselves Todd McGowan builds on the work of such theorists as Jacques Lacan Slavoj Žižek Joan Copjec and Theresa Brennan to argue that we are in the midst of a large scale transformation a shift from a society oriented around prohibition i e the notion that one cannot just do as one pleases to one oriented around enjoyment McGowan identifies many of the social ills of American culture today as symptoms of this transformation the sense of disconnection the increase in aggression and violence widespread cynicism political apathy incivility and loss of meaning Discussing these various symptoms he examines various texts from film literature popular culture and everyday life including Toni Morrison's Paradise Tony Kushner's Angels in America and such films as Dead Poets Society and Trigger Effect Paradoxically The End of Dissatisfaction shows how the American cultural obsession with enjoying ourselves actually makes it more difficult to do so Women, Privacy and Modernity in Early Twentieth-Century British

Writing W. Gan, 2009-01-15 Privacy is not often thought of as a marker of modernity but a look at British women's writing of the early twentieth century suggests that it should be so This book examines the female pursuit of privacy particularly of the spatial kind as women began to claim privacy as an entitlement of the modern middle class woman (Re)imagining the cultural studies childhood studies postmodernism and the social sciences With a wide coverage of texts from different countries and scholarly and lively discussions this collection is itself a testament to the power of the human imagination and the significance of children's literature in the education of young people

Edgar Allan Poe, Wallace Stevens, and the Poetics of American Privacy Louis A. Renza, 2002-04-01 Throughout the history of the United States a commitment to both democratic political ideals and to capitalist realities has made privacy a persistently controversial issue Only rarely however has privacy attracted the attention of American literary criticism In his ingeniously argued new study Louis A Renza extends the idea of privacy beyond the received wisdom of its popular legal and psychological conceptions and iconoclastically beyond its conception in postmodern literary theory to show that the public private paradigm has import for American literary texts past and present It is a truism of cultural studies that the interior space of imagination is socially constructed and thus that the private is ineluctably political But Renza shows through a brilliantly original analysis of works by Edgar Allan Poe and Wallace Stevens that as an effect of reading and writing a real or radical privacy continually resists appropriation In admirably close readings of Poe's tales his long essay Eureka and Stevens's Harmonium poems Renza demonstrates that both writers ground the concept of privacy in the possibility of multiple interpretations of their texts Neither Poe nor Stevens resists meaning or sense but by thematically engaging in their work the inescapable public private dichotomy of artistic creation they create a highly personal idiom that like Poe's purloined letter allows them to hide in plain sight and in that way to finesse public constructions of meaning Thus surprisingly privacy can always be conceived as something more than what current social cultural codes urge us to believe The poetics Renza compellingly elucidates does not deny the insights of current theory but offers a refreshing alternative that allows for the radical autonomy of authorship without resorting to vague elitist claims of individual genius His thoughtful readings are a major contribution to traditional Poe and Stevens scholarship and his challenging thesis will provoke new investigations into the privacy issue in American literature as a whole

Privacy and Identity Management for Life Jan Camenisch, Simone Fischer-Hübner, Kai Rannenberg, 2011-07-07 At the end of the PrimeLife EU project a book will contain the main research results It will address primarily researchers In addition to fundamental research it will contain description of best practice solutions
