Rolling Back The Market Hc:

The Automotive Gray Market John B. Hege, 2022-04-05 In the 1970s as car enthusiasts in the U S grew bored with models manufactured under tightening pollution and safety regulations some innovative dealers exploited a legal loophole designed to allow U S soldiers and diplomats to return from abroad with their vehicles to import exotic cars never intended for sale in America During the 1980s a rise in the value of the dollar made car shopping in Europe a bargain hunter s dream A network of unauthorized gray market importers and conversion shops emerged bypassing factory channels and retrofitting cars to meet U S regulations and emission standards at least in theory These cars had to pass through U S customs a system equipped to handle only a few independent imports annually As applications ballooned the regulatory system collapsed This is the story of a misunderstood but fascinating period in the automotive industry when creative importers found ways to put American motorists in new Ferraris while the EPA and DOT were backed up with mounds of paperwork Global Instability S. McBride, L. Dobuzinskis, Marjorie Griffin Cohen, J. Busumtwi-Sam, 2002-12-31 Global Instability Uncertainty and New Visions in Political Economy presents a series of papers that address the political consequences of globalization for states and their populations while exploring the issue of alternatives to the model of globalization we are presently experiencing The focus moves from the world of international agreements to the national and sub national dilemmas that are posed by attempting to manage a set of global developments within a given territory The initial chapter by Daniel Drache explores a still born post war international organization the International Trade Organization that offers a different vision of how a globally integrated economy might operate A number of papers then explore the challenges posed by today s globalization including currency instability in an environment of financial deregulation the rights conferred on investors by the North American Free Trade Agreement and the progressive liberalization of trade in services built into the General Agreement on Trade in Services Institutional Barriers to Sustainable Transport Carey Curtis, Nicholas Low, 2016-06-03 In a world seeking to tackle global environmental problems such as climate change the importance of local and national institutional change to deal most effectively with these issues is critical This book presents an investigation of the institutional barriers preventing the development of a new vision for urban transport compatible with these realities and in those terms sustainable Through an examination of transport planning in Australia the book challenges conventional wisdom by showing through original research how car dependence is as much an institutional as a technical phenomenon The authors case studies in three metropolitan cities show how transport policy has become institutionally fixated on a path dominated by private road based transport and how policy systems become encrusted around investment to accommodate private cars erecting an impenetrable barrier against more sustainable mobility and accessibility solutions Representing a new approach to understanding transport policy this book brings sophisticated political institutional analysis to what has traditionally been the domain of engineering and technology The authors connect the empirical content to this theory and the issue of sustainability making the findings applicable to most cities of the developed world and to fields beyond transport planning A strategy and program of action is outlined to take advantage of changing public perceptions and aimed at creating a new vision for urban transport National Roll Back Malaria Strategy, 2000-2005, Zambia Zambia,2000 International Responses to Issues of Credit and Over-indebtedness in the Wake of Crisis Therese Wilson,2016-04-22 This book explores the political economic and regulatory context in which credit regulation is taking place following the global financial crisis It suggests that current neoliberal economic policies favour multi national corporations rather than consumers and examines regulatory responses to the internationalization of consumer finance protection Detailing how EU consumers have been affected by national economic conditions the book also analyses the lending regimes of Europe Australia the US and South Africa and offers suggestions for responsible lending to avoid over indebtedness and corrupt mortgage lending Finally new approaches and directions for consumer credit regulations are outlined such as protection for small businesses protection against risky credit products reorganization of mortgage securitization and the possibility of a partnership model to address financial exclusion The book includes contributions from leading names in the field of consumer law and will be invaluable to those interested in banking business and commercial law Congressional Record United States. Congress,1943 The New Political Economy of Disability Georgia van Toorn,2021-02-22 This book addresses the ways in which individualised market based models of disability support provision have been mobilised in and across different countries through cross national investigation of individualised funding IF as an object of neoliberal policy mobility Combining rich theoretical and interdisciplinary perspectives with extensive empirical research the book provides a timely examination of the policy processes and mechanisms driving the spread of IF amongst countries at the forefront of disability policy reform It is argued that IF s mobility is not attributable to neoliberalism alone but to the complex intersections between neoliberal and emancipatory agendas and to the transnational networks that have blended the two agendas in new ways in different institutional contexts The book shows how disability rights struggles have synchronised with neoliberal agendas which explains IF s propensity to move and mutate between different jurisdictions Featuring first hand accounts of the activists and advocates engaged in these struggles the book illuminates the consequences and risks of the dangerous liaisons and political trade offs that seemed necessary to get individualised funding on the policy agenda for disabled people It will be of interest to all scholars and students working in disability studies social policy sociology and political science more generally

Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis ,1985-07 Land Grabs in Asia Connie Carter,Andrew Harding,2015-05-01 Although there is no universally accepted definition of the term land grabbing ordinary people whose livelihoods are adversely affected by land grabbing know exactly what it is It involves the physical capture and control of land and homes including the usurpation of the power to decide how and when these will be used and for what purposes with little or no prior consultation or compensation to the displaced communities This thought provoking book defines land grabbing and examines aspects of the land grabs phenomenon in seven Asian countries researched and written by country specific legal scholars The book provides unique perspectives on how and why land grabbing is practised in China India Pakistan Cambodia Malaysia Myanmar and Indonesia and explores the surprising role that law plays in facilitating and legitimizing land grabs in each country In contrast to most of the literature which law focuses on foreign investors rights under international law here the focus is on domestic laws and legal infrastructures Finding that Asian States need to move beyond existing regimes that govern land to a regime that encourages more equitable land rights allocation and protection of stakeholders rights the book urges further research in the nexus between the use of law to facilitate development Land Grabs in Asia is the first book to explore land grabbing in multiple jurisdictions in Asia As such it will appeal to students and scholars of law and development law and society and international relations as well as being essential reading for development policy makers and government ministers

The Global Housing Crisis Levent Sümer, 2024-11-12 Under the high inflationary period and high interest rate market conditions financing became extremely difficult for homebuilders and homebuyers The land is expensive construction costs are high and the wages are not satisfactory enough to afford a house Due to increased prices the renting or buying dilemma is not even the case for millions of people Unfortunately bank loan dependent financing is unable to provide a sustainable solution to the industry s boom and bust cyclical nature This book introduces a sustainable new home financing model by creating an investment and financing ecosystem that integrates real estate capital market instruments with pension funds The model proposed in the book shifts the mindsets from a conventional bank loan oriented housing financing system to an interest free collective and cooperative approach The practical implications of the model are discussed mainly in terms of how the model could increase affordability in the housing sector The book will be of interest to researchers policymakers regulators practitioners and government agencies related to real estate investments pension funds and capital markets

Transfer State Peter Sloman, 2019-10-24 The idea of a guaranteed minimum income has been central to British social policy debates for more than a century Since the First World War a variety of market economists radical activists and social reformers have emphasized the possibility of tackling poverty through direct cash transfers between the state and its citizens As manufacturing employment has declined and wage inequality has grown since the 1970s cash benefits and tax credits have become an important source of income for millions of working age households including many low paid workers with children The nature and purpose of these transfer payments however remain highly contested Conservative and New Labour governments have used work benefits and conditionality requirements to activate the unemployed and reinforce the incentives to take low paid work an approach which has reached its apogee in Universal Credit By contrast a growing number of campaigners have argued that the challenge of providing economic security in an age of automation would be better met by paying a Universal Basic Income to all citizens Transfer State provides the first detailed history of guaranteed income proposals in modern Britain which brings together intellectual history and archival research to show how the pursuit of an integrated tax and benefit system has shaped UK public policy since 1918 The result is a major new analysis of the role of cash transfers in the British welfare state which sets Universal Credit in a historical perspective and examines the cultural and political barriers to a Universal Basic Income The National Provisioner ,1914 New York Court of Appeals. Records and Briefs. New York (State)., Proceedings of the City Council of the City of Minneapolis ,1879 The Report: Egypt 2012 Oxford Business Group,2012 Iron and Steel Engineer ,1925 Contains the proceedings of the Association Handbook of OPEC and the Global Energy Order Dag Harald Claes,Giuliano Garavini,2020-01-20 The Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries OPEC celebrating its 60th anniversary in 2020 is one of the most recognizable acronyms in international politics The organization has undergone decades of changing importance from political irrelevance to the spotlight of world attention and back and from economic boom for its members to deep political and financial crisis This handbook with chapters provided by scholars and analysts from different backgrounds and specializations discusses and analyzes the history and development of OPEC its global importance and the role it has played and still plays in the global energy market Part I focuses on the relationship between OPEC and its member states Part II examines the relationship between OPEC and its customers the consuming countries and their governments while Part III addresses the relationship between OPEC and its competitors and potential partners the non OPEC producers and the international oil companies The final section Part IV looks at OPEC and the governance of international energy Chapter 20 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Medical Treatment of Children and the Law Jo Bridgeman,2020-11-19 The high profile cases of Charlie Gard Alfie Evans and Tafida Raqeeb raised the questions as to why the state intrudes into the exercise of parental responsibility concerning the medical treatment of children and why parents may not be permitted to decide what is in the best interests of their child This book answers these questions It argues for a reframing of the law concerned with the medical treatment of children to one which better protects the welfare of the individual child within the context of family relationships recognising the duties which professionals have to care for the child and that the welfare of children is a matter of public interest protected through the intervention of the state This book undertakes a rigorous critical analysis of the case law concerned with the provision of medical treatment to children since the first reported cases over forty years ago It argues that understanding of the cases only as disputes over the best interests of the child and judicial resolution thereof fails to recognise professional duties and public responsibilities for the welfare and protection of children that exist alongside parental responsibilities and which justify public or state intervention into family life and parental decision making Whilst the principles and approach of the court established in the early cases endure the nature and balance of these responsibilities to children in their care need to be understood in the changing social legal and political context in which they are exercised and enforced by the court The book will be a valuable resource for academics

European Automobile Industry William A. Maloney, Andrew McLaughlin, 2005-07-08 This book presents an analysis of some of the changes that have transformed the automobile industry in the last thirty years, illustrating some of the most significant consequences of globalization. Focusing on the response of Europe's policy makers, it analyzes government industry relations at both national and transnational levels, demonstrating how national policy instruments have been eroded by regional political and economic integration. There has been a significant and irreversible shift in the locus of decision making power from nation states to the regional level in the automobile sector.
