Naples '44 Norman Lewis,1978 Contains primary source material Naples '44 Norman Lewis,2002 Naples '44 Norman Lewis,1995 The Writer's Eye Amy E. Weldon,2018-07-12 Learning to write starts with learning to do one big thing pay attention to the world around you even though just about everything in modern life makes this more difficult than it needs to be Developing habits and practices of observing and writing down what you notice can be the first step away from the anxieties and doubts that can hold you back from your ultimate goal as a writer discovering something to say and a voice to say it in The Writer's Eye is an inspiring guide for writers at all stages of their writing lives Drawing on new research into creative writers and their relationship with the physical world Amy E Weldon shows us how to become more attentive observers of the world and find inspiration in any environment Including exercises writing prompts and sample texts and spanning multiple genres from novels to nonfiction to poetry this is the ideal starting point for anyone beginning to write seriously and offers refreshing perspectives for experienced writers seeking new inspiration Exporting British Policing During the Second World War Clive Emsley,2017-07-13 Exporting British Policing is a comprehensive study of British military policing in liberated Europe during the Second World War Preventing and detecting thefts receiving and profiteering together with the maintenance of order in its broadest sense are in the peacetime world generally confided to the police However the Second World War witnessed the use of civilian police to create a detective division of the British Army's Military Police SIB and the use of British civilian police alongside American police as Civil Affairs Officers to restore order and civil administration Part One follows the men of the SIB from their pre war careers to confrontations with mafiosi and their investigations into widespread organised crime and war crimes during which they were constantly hampered by being seen as a Cinderella service commanded by temporary gentlemen Part Two focuses on the police officers who served in Civil Affairs who tended to come from higher ranks in the civilian police than those who served in SIB During the war they occupied towns with the assault troops and then sought to reorganise local administration at the end of the war in the British Zones of Germany and Austria they sought to turn both new Schutzmannen and police veterans of the Third Reich into British Bobbies Using memoirs and anecdotes Emsley critically draws on the subjective experiences of these police personnel assessing the successes of these wartime efforts for preventing and investigating crimes such as theft and profiteering and highlighting the importance of historical precedent given current difficulties faced by international policing organizations in enforcing democratic police reform in post conflict societies Allied Encounters Marisa Escobar,2019-07-02 Honorable Mention for the 2019 American Association for Italian American Book Prize 2021st Centuries Allied Encounters uniquely explores Anglo American and Italian literary cinematic and military representations of World War II Italy in order to trace critique and move beyond the gendered paradigm of redemption that has conditioned understandings of the Allied Italian encounter The arrival of the Allies global forces in an Italy torn by civil war brought together populations that had long mythologized one another yet liberation did not prove to be the happy ending touted by official rhetoric. Instead of a honeymoon the Allied Italian encounter in cities such as Naples and Rome appeared to be a lurid affair where the black market reigned supreme and prostitution was the norm. Informed by the historical context as well as by their respective traditions, these texts become more than mirrors of the encounter or generic allegories. Instead, they are sites in which to explore repressed traumas that inform how the occupation unfolded and is remembered, including the Holocaust, the American Civil War, and European colonialism, as well as individual traumatic events like the massacre of the Fosse Ardeatine and the mass civilian rape near Rome by colonial soldiers.

Living Under the Shadow John Grattan, Robin

Torrence, 2016-06-03 Popularist treatments of ancient disasters like volcanic eruptions have grossly overstated their capacity for death, destruction, and societal collapse. Contributors to this volume from anthropology, archaeology, environmental studies, geology, and biology show that human societies have been incredibly resilient and in the long run have often recovered remarkably well from wide-scale disruption and significant mortality. They have often used eruptions as a trigger for environmental enrichment, cultural change, and adaptation. These historical studies are relevant to modern hazard management because they provide records for a far wider range of events and responses than have been recorded in written records, yet are often closely datable and trackable using standard archaeological and geological techniques. Contributors also show the importance of traditional knowledge systems in creating a cultural memory of dangerous locations and community responses to disaster. The global and temporal coverage of the research reported is impressive, comprising studies from North and Central America, Europe, Asia, and the Pacific, and ranging in time from the Middle Palaeolithic to the modern day.

1,000 Books to Read Before You Die James Mustich, 2018-10-02 The ultimate literary bucket list. THE WASHINGTON POST Celebrate the pleasure of reading and the thrill of discovering new titles in an extraordinary book that is as compulsively readable, entertaining, surprising, and enlightening as the 1,000 plus titles it recommends. Covering fiction, poetry, science, and science fiction, memoir, travel writing, biography, children's books, history, and more, 1,000 Books to Read Before You Die ranges across cultures and through time to offer an eclectic collection of works that each deserve to come with the recommendation: You have to read this. But it is not a proscriptive list of the great works; rather, it is a celebration of the glorious mosaic that is our literary heritage. Flip it open to any page and be transfixed by a fresh take on a very favorite book. Or come across a title you always meant to read and never got around to. Or, like browsing in the best kind of bookshop, stumble on a completely unknown author and work and feel that tingle of discovery. There are classics, of course, and unexpected treasures, too. Lists to help pick and choose like Offbeat Escapes or A Long Climb but What a View. And its alphabetical arrangement by author assures that surprises await on almost every turn of the page, with Cormac McCarthy and The Road next to Robert McCloskey and Make Way for Ducklings, Alice Walker next to Izaak Walton. There are nuts and bolts, too; best editions to read; other books by the author if you like this; you'll like that; recommendations; and an interesting endnote of adaptations where appropriate Add it all up and in fact there are more than six thousand titles by nearly four thousand authors mentioned a life changing list for a lifetime of reading 948 pages later you still want more THE WASHINGTON POST People, Places and Passions Russell Davies,2015-06-15 It takes a different view of the history of Wales examining a panorama of different emotions and experiences laughter happiness fear anger adventure lust loneliness anxiety to give an entertaining and exciting new history to Wales a wide range of sources are used to present the ambitions and anxieties which drove and destroyed Welsh people The book s literary style and the fact that it follows earlier successful studies by the author should ensure an audience Loss and the Other in the Visionary Work of Anna Maria Ortese Vilma DeGasperin,2014-03 Combines theme and genre analysis in a study of the Italian author from her first literary writings in the 1930s to her novels in the 1990s
