Contested Spaces, Counter-narratives, and Culture from Below in Canada and Québec Roxanne

Rimstead, Domenic A. Beneventi, 2019-03-14 Contested Spaces Counter narratives and Culture from Below in Canada and Québec explores strategies for reading space and conflict in Canadian and Québecois literature and cultural performances positing questions such as how do these texts and performances produce and contest spatial practices What are the roles of the nation city community and individual subject in reproducing space particularly in times of global hegemony and neocolonialism And in what ways do marginalized individuals and communities represent contest or appropriate spaces through counter narratives and expressions of culture from below Focusing on discord rather than harmony and consensus this collection disturbs the idealized space of Canadian multicultural pluralism to carry literary analysis and cultural studies into spaces often undetected and unforeseen including flophouses and slums shantytowns and urban alleyways underground spaces and peep shows and inner city urban parks as they are experienced by minorities and other marginalized groups These essays are the products of sustained high level collaboration across French and English academic communities in Canada to facilitate theoretical exchange on the topic of space and contestation uncover geographies of exclusion and generate new spaces of hope in the spirit of pioneering works by Henri Lefebvre Michel Foucault Michel de Certeau Doreen Massey David Harvey and other prominent theorists of space

JOURNEY TO THE NARRATIVE SPACES OF MALAY LITERATURE (IIUM PRESS) Muhammad Haji Salleh, 2024-07-01 In the field of Malay Studies the traditional artist is among the most mysterious of beings deeply buried under a tradition that was oral and anonymous He is more enigmatic now more than ever before as he is further alienated from us by the technological development the different modes of literary communication and not the least by the disappearance of the rural environment that created the artist all of these factors much influencing his mind There is no doubt that much as he felt rasa the world he also thought fikir about it about its universe the powers that governed his life the community its values the arts and what made them please and so on

Time Elana Gomel, 2014-02-18 Space is a central topic in cultural and narrative theory today although in most cases theory assumes Newtonian absolute space However the idea of a universal homogeneous space is now obsolete Black holes multiple dimensions quantum entanglement and spatio temporal distortions of relativity have passed into culture at large This book examines whether narrative can be used to represent these impossible spaces Impossible topologies abound in ancient mythologies from the Australian Aborigines dream time to the multiple layer universe of the Sumerians More recently from Alice's adventures in Wonderland to contemporary science fiction's obsession with black holes and quantum paradoxes counter intuitive spaces are a prominent feature of modern and postmodern narrative With the rise and popularization of science fiction the inventiveness and variety of impossible narrative spaces explodes The author analyses the narrative techniques used to represent such spaces alongside their cultural significance Each chapter connects narrative deformation of space with historical problematic of time and demonstrates the cognitive and perceptual primacy of narrative in representing imagining and apprehending new forms of space and time This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the connection between narratology cultural theory science fiction and studies of place The Language of Stories

Barbara Dancygier, 2011-10-13 How do we read stories How do they engage our minds and create meaning Are they a mental construct a linguistic one or a cultural one What is the difference between real stories and fictional ones This book addresses such questions by describing the conceptual and linguistic underpinnings of narrative interpretation Barbara Dancygier discusses literary texts as linguistic artifacts describing the processes which drive the emergence of literary meaning If a text means something to someone she argues there have to be linguistic phenomena that make it possible Drawing on blending theory and construction grammar the book focuses its linguistic lens on the concepts of the narrator and the story and defines narrative viewpoint in a new way The examples come from a wide spectrum of texts primarily novels and drama by authors such as William Shakespeare Margaret Atwood Philip Roth Dave Eggers Jan Potocki and Mikhail Bulgakov

Counter-Narratives and Organization Sanne Frandsen, Timothy Kuhn, Marianne Wolff Lundholt, 2016-07-15 Counter Narratives and Organization brings the concept of counter narrative into an organizational context illuminating these complex elements of communication as intrinsic yet largely unexplored aspect of organizational storytelling Departing from dialogical emergent and processual perspectives on organization the individual chapters focus on the character of counter narratives along with their performative aspects by addressing questions such as how do some narratives gain dominance over others how do narratives intersect relate and reinforce each other how are organizational members and external stakeholders engaged in the telling and re telling of the organization The empirical case studies provide much needed insights on the function of counter narratives for individuals professionals and organizations in navigating challenging negotiating and replacing established dominant narratives about who we are what we believe what we do as a collective The book has an interdisciplinary scope drawing together ideas from both storytelling in organization studies the communicative constitution of organization CCO from organizational communication and traditional narratology from humanities Counter Narratives and Organization reflects an ambition to spark readers imagination recognition and discussion of organization and counter narratives offering a route to bring this important concept to the center of our understandings of organization

Infrastructures of Reality: Metaverse Stories, Spaces, Bodies Chris Hesselbein, Paolo Bory, 2025-08-09 This open access book focuses on two dimensions of the development of the metaverse that are crucial to reality namely spatiality and embodiment Metaversal technologies are thought to fundamentally affect both our spaces and bodies which are two central aspects of the constitution of social reality Both spatiality and embodiment are core elements of world making that are being pulled into the ambit of metaversal projects On the one hand metaversal technologies are profoundly spatial in the sense that they render space in virtual form or overlay digital layers onto pre existing physical spaces On the other hand metaversal technologies are directly geared towards the body in that they not only seek to extend or expand our embodied senses and emplace our bodies in virtual spaces but they also seek to capture their behaviours and actions on a far more granular level This can create new opportunities in terms of work social interaction and leisure but can also open our bodies up to new tech driven interventions and control Whether in the form of VR or AR such technologies not only reproduce space but also rely on making spaces more legible and open to automated interventions Taken together the metaversification of spaces and bodies gives rise to crucial questions about the goals and implications of metaversal developments by large technology companies and about the relationship between the developments of the metaverse and AI systems Drawing on our combined background and expertise in Science and Technology Studies and the History of Media and Communication we critically analyse the development of metaversal technologies and platforms by discussing a broad set of developments and examples from a wide range of technology and gaming companies Written in clear concise and accessible language and combining and applying novel theoretical frameworks and concepts to a currently emergent phenomenon this book will find a large audience not only within academic and professional circles but also in popular culture
