Narratives Of Nation In The South Pacific:

Narratives of Nation in the South Pacific Nicholas Thomas, 2005-06-27 It is striking that in many Pacific nations national narratives are subordinate to other fundamental historical imaginings such as those concerning local political dynasties and conversion to Christianity While leaders in Pacific states have frequently sought to legitimate new nations through local tradition and custom these constructions of identity frequently mask divisions arising from gender hierarchy and other social relationships These studies from Papua New Guinea Vanuatu Samoa and the Cook Islands add much to our knowledge of historical imaginings and contemporary culture in the Pacific but raise wider questions concerning the current transformation of national identities The Struggle for the National Narrative in Indonesia Michael Hatherell, Alistair Welsh, 2021-09-16 This book offers a unique analysis of how political representatives construct ideas about the nation in contemporary Indonesian politics In their struggle to define what the authors call the national narrative would be national leaders seek to develop a story about the nation s past present and future These stories feature a unique plot set of characters and a moral that the political narrator hopes will resonate In contemporary Indonesia the authors assess two prominent national narratives the technocratic and populist national narratives The book concludes with an analysis that considers other potential sources of ideas about the nation as well as the potential implications for domestic politics and Indonesian grand strategy

The South Pacific Narratives of Robert Louis Stevenson and Jack London Lawrence Phillips, 2012-07-26 From 1888 to 1915 Robert Louis Stevenson and Jack London were uniquely placed to witness and record the imperial struggle for the South Pacific Engaging the major European colonial empires and the USA the struggle questioned ideas of liberty racial identity and class like few other arenas of the time Exploring a unique moment in South Pacific and Western history through the work of Stevenson and London this study assesses the impact of their national identities on works like The Amateur Emigrant and Adventure discusses their attitudes towards colonialism race and class shows how they negotiated different cultures and peoples in their writing and considers where both writers are placed in the Western tradition of writing about the Pacific By contextualizing Stevenson s and London s South Pacific work this study reveals two critical voices of late nineteenth century and early 20th century colonialism that deserve to stand beside their contemporary Joseph Conrad in shaping contemporary attitudes towards imperialism race and class Nations, National Narratives and Communities in the Asia-Pacific Norman Vasu, Yolanda Chin, Kam-ye Law, 2013-09-05 Many states in the Asia Pacific region are not built around a single homogenous people but rather include many large varied different national groups This book explores how states in the region attempt to develop commonality and a nation and the difficulties that arise It discusses the consequences which ensue when competing narratives clash and examines the nature of resistance to dominant narratives which arise It considers the problems in a wide range of countries in the region including Indonesia Malaysia Singapore Hong Kong Korea Australia and New Zealand From 'Stone-Age' to 'Real-Time' Martin Slama, Jenny

Munro,2015-04-24 There are probably no other people on earth to whom the image of the stone age is so persistently attached than the inhabitants of the island of New Guinea which is divided into independent Papua New Guinea and the western part of the island known today as Papua and West Papua From Stone Age to Real Time examines the forms of agency frictions and anxieties the current moment generates in West Papua where the persistent stone age image meets the practices and ideologies of the real time a popular expression referring to immediate digital communication The volume is thus essentially occupied with discourses of time and space and how they inform questions of hierarchy and possibilities for equality Papuans are increasingly mobile and seeking to rework inherited ideas institutions and technologies while also coming up against palpable limits on what can be imagined or achieved secured or defended This volume investigates some of these trajectories for the cultural logics and social or political structures that shape them The chapters are highly ethnographic based on in depth research conducted in diverse spaces within and beyond Papua These contributions explore topics ranging from hip hop to HIV AIDS to historicity filling much needed conceptual and ethnographic lacunae in the study of West Papua

At Home and in the Field Suzanne S. Finney,Mary Mostafanezhad,Guido Carlo Pigliascio,Forrest Wade Young,2015-04-30 Crossing disciplinary boundaries At Home and in the Field is an anthology of twenty first century ethnographic research and writing about the global worlds of home and disjuncture in Asia and the Pacific Islands These stories reveal novel insights into the serendipitous nature of fieldwork Unique in its inclusion of homework ethnography that directly engages with issues and identities in which the ethnographer finds political solidarity and belonging in fields at home the anthology contributes to growing trends that complicate the distinction between insiders and outsiders The obligations that fieldwork engenders among researchers and local communities are exemplified by contributors who are often socially engaged with the peoples and places they work In its focus on Asia and the Pacific Islands the collection offers ethnographic updates on topics that range from ritual money burning in China to the militarization of Hawai i to the social role of text messages in identifying marriage partners in Vanuatu to the cultural power of robots in Japan Thought provoking sometimes humorous these cultural encounters will resonate with readers and provide valuable talking points for exploring the human diversity that makes the study of ourselves and each other simultaneously rewarding and challenging

Experiencing New Worlds Jürg Wassmann,Katharina Stockhaus,2007 The many different localities of the Pacific region have a long history of transformation under both pre and post colonial conditions More recently rates of local transformation have increased tremendously under post colonial regimes The forces of globalization which rapidly distribute commodities images and political and moral concepts across the region have presented Pacific populations with an unprecedented need and opportunity to fashion new and expanded understandings of their cultural and individual identities This volume the first in a new series examines the forces of globalization at different levels as they manifest themselves and operate across cultural cognitive and biographical dimensions of human life in the Pacific While posing familiar questions it offers new answers through the integration of cultural and psychological methods The contributors draw on practice theory cognitive science and the anthropology of space and place while exploring the key analytical rubrics of human agency memory and landscape

Moving in Circles Jimu, Ignasio Malizani, 2016-02-22 Moving in Circles draws on Walter Rodney's treatise on underdevelopment Underdevelopment is to be associated with various factors contributing to the uncertainties that lack of progress begets regardless of its genesis Some of the indicators of this condition are pervasive poverty liquidation of productive assets and precarious livelihoods Uncertainty stands out as a cost as it is also a catalyst for low investment in agriculture low returns non agricultural activities inconsistent approach to planning and rule of law and more generally socio economic backwardness Development should in a broad sense entail meeting human needs actualization of local and domestic potential and liberation from uncertainty In the long term for development talk to be meaningful there is a need for progressive transformation of underlying structures improvement in productive capacity and general adherence to principles of good governance openness and transparency accountability and meaningful popular engagement

The Pacific Islands Moshe Rapaport, 1999 Forty five contributors offer information on the physical environment history culture population economy and living environment of the Pacific islands

Managing Modernity in the Western Pacific Martha Macintyre, 2014-06-01 Fast money schemes in Papua New Guinea collectivities in rural Solomon Islands gambling in the Cook Islands and the Vanuatu tax haven all feature in the interface between Pacific and global economies Since the 1970s Melanesian countries and their peoples have been beguiled by the prospect of economic development that would enable them to participate in a world market economic system Access to global markets would provide the means to improve their standard of living allowing them to take their places as independent nations in a modern world Managing Modernity in the Western Pacific takes a broad sweep through contemporary topics in Melanesian anthropology and ethnography With nuanced and rigorous scholarship it views contemporary debate on modernity in Melanesia within the context of the global economy and cultural capitalism In particular contributors assess local ideas about wealth success speculation and development and their connections to participation in institutions and activities generated by them This innovative and accessible collection offers a new intersection between Western Pacific anthropology and global studies
