Narreme In The Medieval Romance Epic:

The Narreme in the Medieval Romance Epic Eugene Dorfman, 1969-12-15 In this study Professor Dorfman applies the methods of modern linguistics to literary analysis Literature may be described as the structured use of language the modern linguistic analyzes language in a search for the minimal units of sound and form phoneme and morpheme and determines the combinations by which they can communicate meaning The author here searches for a minimal structural unit in the literary narrative analogous to the phoneme and the morpheme in language structure Based on a detailed analysis of the Roland and the Cid and twelve additional Romance narratives Professor Dorfman's argument is that the structure of the medieval Romance epics may be analyzed into functional units which he calls narremes He divides a narrative into two types of structure the superstructure and the substructure A narrative by definition is a series of incidents All the incidents in the narrative taken as written form the superstructure Analysis however shows that many of the incidents may be abstracted from the narrative without deflecting the story line On the other hand other incidents reveal themselves as organically linked with each other so they cannot be omitted without destroying the story line These selected incidents are the narremes which make up the substructure of the narrative This method of analysis produces so interesting and surprising results results which make an important advance in research in linguistics and Romance literature Eugene Dorfman as an orthodox structuralist has focused strictly on the formal descriptions of the narratives but his analysis leads into the great traditional problems of literary history and in particular poses anew the problem of the origins of the epic Rezension zu: Eugene Dorfman: The narreme in the medieval Romance epic: an introduction to narrative structures Francis Lee Utley, 1971

Ross Curtis, 1972-12-15 Raymond Poisson a contemporary of Molière was the leading comic actor with the troupe of the Hôtel de Bourgogne and later at the Comédie Française during the first five years of its existence He popularized one of the French stage's best loved stock characters the impudent servant Crispin while finding time to supply his troupe with short comedies in which he himself starred This study is thoroughly documented and reflects the author's detailed knowledge of and interest in the period It establishes Poisson's place in theatrical history and illuminates a whole tradition in French theatre in the seventeenth century Readings in Romance Linguistics James M. Parppei, 2017-01-05 The battle of Kulikovo fought between Muscovite and Tatar troops in 1380 has been considered as a crucial turning point in the national history of Russia In The Battle of Kulikovo Refought Kati Parppei examines the layers of contemporary meanings attached to the event from the Middle Ages to the present following the formation and establishment of the collective images and perceptions concerning the battle By utilizing a diverse set of sources she shows that the present image of the medieval battle was created in retrospect from the 15th century onwards by interpolating interpreting and simplifying The narrative themes emphasizing internal unity have been applicable to practically any political situation over the centuries especially to ones involving external threat

Cohesion in English M.A.K. Halliday,Ruqaiya Hasan,2014-01-14 Cohesion in English is concerned with a relatively neglected part of the linguistic system its resources for text construction the range of meanings that are specifically associated with relating what is being spoken or written to its semantic environment A principal component of these resources is cohesion This book studies the cohesion that arises from semantic relations between sentences Reference from one to the other repetition of word meanings the conjunctive force of but so then and the like are considered Further it describes a method for analysing and coding sentences which is applied to specimen texts
