Taxonomy of Australian Mammals Stephen Matthew Jackson, Stephen Jackson, Colin Groves, 2015-06-16 Taxonomy of Australian Mammals utilises the latest morphometric and genetic research to develop the most up to date and comprehensive revision of the taxonomy of Australian mammals undertaken to date It proposes significant changes to the higher ranks of a number of groups and recognises several genera and species that have only very recently been identified as distinct This easy to use reference also includes a complete listing of all species subspecies and synonyms for all of Australia's mammals both native and introduced as well as terrestrial and marine This book lays a foundation for future taxonomic work and identifies areas where taxonomic studies should be targeted not only at the species and subspecies level but also broader phylogenetic relationships This work will be an essential reference for students scientists wildlife managers and those interested in the science of taxonomy

The Action Plan for Australian Mammals 2012 Andrew Burbidge, John Woinarski, Peter Harrison, 2014-06-02 The Action Plan for Australian Mammals 2012 is the first review to assess the conservation status of all Australian mammals It complements The Action Plan for Australian

Birds 2010 Garnett et al 2011 CSIRO Publishing and although the number of Australian mammal taxa is marginally fewer than for birds the proportion of endemic extinct and threatened mammal taxa is far greater These authoritative reviews represent an important foundation for understanding the current status fate and future of the nature of Australia This book considers all species and subspecies of Australian mammals including those of external territories and territorial seas For all the mammal taxa about 300 species and subspecies considered Extinct Threatened Near Threatened or Data Deficient the size and trend of their population is presented along with information on geographic range and trend and relevant biological and ecological data The book also presents the current conservation status of each taxon under Australian legislation what additional information is needed for managers and the required management actions Recovery plans where they exist are evaluated The voluntary participation of more than 200 mammal experts has ensured that the conservation status and information are as accurate as possible and allowed considerable unpublished data to be included All accounts include maps based on the latest data from Australian state and territory agencies from published scientific literature and other sources The Action Plan concludes that 29 Australian mammal species have become extinct and 63 species are threatened and require urgent conservation action However it also shows that where guided by sound knowledge management capability and resourcing and longer term commitment there have been some notable conservation success stories and the conservation status of some species has greatly improved over the past few decades The Action Plan for Australian Mammals 2012 makes a major contribution to the conservation of a wonderful legacy that is a significant part of Australia's heritage For such a legacy to endure our society must be more aware of and empathetic with our distinctively Australian environment and particularly its marvellous mammal fauna relevant information must be readily accessible environmental policy and law must be based on sound evidence those with responsibility for environmental management must be aware of what priority actions they should take the urgency for action and consequences of inaction must be clear and the opportunity for hope and success must be recognised It is in this spirit that this account is offered

U.S. Geological Survey Professional Paper, 1988 U.S. Geological Survey Professional Paper Geological Survey (U.S.), 1988 Altered Ecologies Simon Haberle, Janelle Stevenson, Matthew Prebble, 2010-11-01 Like a star chart this volume orientates the reader to the key issues and debates in Pacific and Australasian biogeography palaeoecology and human ecology A feature of this collection is the diversity of approaches ranging from interpretation of the biogeographic significance of plant and animal distributional patterns pollen analysis from peats and lake sediments to discern Quaternary climate change explanation of the patterns of faunal extinction events the interplay of fire on landscape evolution and models of the environmental consequences of human settlement patterns The diversity of approaches geographic scope and academic rigor are a fitting tribute to the enormous contributions of Geoff Hope As made apparent in this volume Hope pioneered multidisciplinary understanding of the history and impacts of human cultures in the Australia Pacific region arguably the globe's premier model systems for understanding the consequences of humans colonization on ecological systems The distinguished scholars who have contributed to this volume also demonstrate Hope s enduring contribution as an inspirational research leader collaborator and mentor Terra Australis leave no doubt that history matters not only for land management but more importantly in alerting settler and indigenous societies alike to their past ecological impacts and future environmental trajectories Fossil Record 4 Robert M.
