Nature Landscape And People Since The Second World War:

Nature, Landscape and People Since the Second World War T. Christopher Smout, 2001 In June 1999 a conference to celebrate the half century of the 1949 National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act was hosted by the Royal Society of Edinburgh Upon this legislation rested the establishment of National Parks in England and Wales and of the Nature Conservancy throughout Great Britain The papers gathered here all by major players on the scene look back over fifty years of countryside management and nature conservation assess the current situation and look forward to prospects for the future They range from consideration of the origins of the 1949 Act to recalling major incidents and pressures such as the toxic chemical scares of the 1960s the pressures from post war forestry and the problems of managing the rising tide of countryside recreation The changing nature of ecology is examined along with public attitudes to the environment The book concludes with a series of forward looks relating to the natural world in Britain and our enjoyment of it in the 21st century

An Environmental History of the UK Defence Estate, 1945 to the Present Marianna Dudley, 2012-05-03 This book brings to attention the history of places that have traditionally remained under the radar in discussions of war and the environment through site based studies of five training areas in southwest England and Wales Salisbury Plain Lulworth Dartmoor Sennybridge and Castlemartin At these sites the big events of the twentieth century are written into landscapes that absorb their impact and reflect change in intriguing ways Here however environment is more than a canvas on which historical forces play out it has an agency of its own as the depiction of the surprising nature and robust habitats of the training areas recognises An Environmental History of the UK Defence Estate 1945 to the Present critically examines the gradual greening of the MoD as it developed policies of military environmentalism. It includes the histories of the ghost villages created by forced evictions and charts the rise and fall of anti military protest movements It depicts heated confrontations mass trespasses and demands for public access alongside conservation work and training activities situating the human histories of these sites within their environmental history and taking the reader behind the barbed wire in the first Changing Times Martin Chick, 2020 A study of the main changes in the British economy from 1951 study of its kind focussing on nationalisation and privatisation unemployment funding of the NHS and education deindustrialisation and Britain's changing industrial structure taxation inequality environmental change and policy and the UK's changing relationship with the EEC and the European Union 20th Century Britain Nicole Robertson, John Singleton, Avram Taylor, 2022-12-30 20th Century Britain provides an authoritative and accessible survey of contemporary research on economic activity society political development and culture Written by leading academics it examines recent advances in scholarship and gives a grounding in established approaches and topics The first part comprises thematic essays covering the whole of the twentieth century including chapters on the economy economic management big business parliamentary politics leisure work health international economic relations and empire It uncovers key areas of equality and diversity in chapters on women living standards social mobility ethnicity and multiculturalism and gender and sexuality The most recent subfields of historical studies are also explored including disability history and environmental economic history. The second part focuses on seismic events and topics covering shorter timeframes including the World Wars interwar Depression Britain and European integration sexual behaviours civil society the 1960s cultural revolution and resisting racism This collection provides an essential guide to current academic thinking on the most important elements of twentieth century British history and is a useful tool for all students and scholars interested in modern Britain The New Dimensions of the European Landscapes R.H.G Jongman, 2005-05-09 The European Landscape is under stress of changing land use and a changing attitude of its users Globalization the disappearance of the iron curtain and the recent EU enlargement to 25 countries have changed the economic and environmental dimensions of Europe Europe is changing its face from a western and eastern part to one European Union and to fast connections between its centres of activity The rural and cultural heritage of Europe has to be adapted to cope with this change However its landscape is worth to be conserved as well because it represents the European history in the same way as castles and churches It even more represents the history of the common people because it has been the tradition of the rural population that made these landscapes It cannot be prevented that Europe is changing and it is good that Europe adapts to the new dimensions of the world We in Europe have to define what we think is important and what must be conserved what can be adapted to be used for new functions and what can be abolished because it has no value These decisions will determine the new dimensions of the European landscapes The Frontis Workshop on the New Dimensions of the European Landscape was held on 10 12 June 2002 Wageningen University and Research Centre organized this workshop aiming to develop visions on the landscape in Europe its development and design in the future and to strengthen the international network in landscape planning Exploring Environmental History T. C Smout, 2011-08-16 This volume brings together the best of T C Smout's recent articles and contributions to books and journals on the topic of environmental history Conflicts in Conservation Stephen M. Redpath, R. J. Gutiérrez, Kevin A. Wood, Juliette C. Young, 2015-05-07 Conflicts over the conservation of biodiversity are increasing and are serious obstacles to wildlife conservation efforts worldwide Changing patterns in land use over exploitation pollution climate change and the threat posed by invasive species all challenge the way we currently maintain and protect biodiversity from the local management of single species to the international management of resources Integrating approaches from different academic disciplines policy makers and practitioners this volume offers a radically new cross disciplinary multi scale approach to deal with conflicts Groundbreaking strategies for conservation are analysed and a large section of the book is devoted to exploring case studies of conflict from around the world Aimed primarily at academics researchers and students from disciplines relating to conservation ecology natural resources management and environmental governance this book will be equally valuable to conservation NGOs and practitioners and the policy community at national and international levels The Oxford Handbook of Law, Regulation and Technology Roger Brownsword, Eloise Scotford, Karen Yeung, 2017-07-24 The variety pace and power of technological innovations that have emerged in the 21st Century have been breathtaking These technological developments which include advances in networked information and communications biotechnology neurotechnology nanotechnology robotics and environmental engineering technology have raised a number of vital and complex questions Although these technologies have the potential to generate positive transformation and help address grand societal challenges the novelty associated with technological innovation has also been accompanied by anxieties about their risks and destabilizing effects Is there a potential harm to human health or the environment What are the ethical implications Do this innovations erode of antagonize values such as human dignity privacy democracy or other norms underpinning existing bodies of law and regulation These technological developments have therefore spawned a nascent but growing body of law and technology scholarship broadly concerned with exploring the legal social and ethical dimensions of technological innovation This handbook collates the many and varied strands of this scholarship focusing broadly across a range of new and emerging technology and a vast array of social and policy sectors through which leading scholars in the field interrogate the interfaces between law emerging technology and regulation Structured in five parts the handbook I establishes the collection of essays within existing scholarship concerned with law and technology as well as regulatory governance II explores the relationship between technology development by focusing on core concepts and values which technological developments implicate III studies the challenges for law in responding to the emergence of new technologies examining how legal norms doctrine and institutions have been shaped challenged and destabilized by technology and even how technologies have been shaped by legal regimes IV provides a critical exploration of the implications of technological innovation examining the ways in which technological innovation has generated challenges for regulators in the governance of technological development and the implications of employing new technologies as an instrument of regulatory governance V explores various interfaces between law regulatory governance and new technologies across a range of key social domains

European Landscapes in Transition Teresa Pinto-Correia, Jørgen Primdahl, Bas Pedroli, 2018-01-25 European rural landscapes as we experience them today are the result of ongoing processes and interactions between nature and society These are changing fast the future landscapes will be different from those we know currently Written for academics policy makers and practitioners this book is the first to explore the complex histories of rural landscapes in Europe as a basis for their sound governance in future Tensions between the needs of agricultural spaces driven by economic incentives and a variety of non agricultural functions are explored to demonstrate current challenges and the shortfalls in the policies that address them Using inspiring case studies that highlight the roles of regional agents and communities the authors go further than the usual analyses to illustrate the importance of local context Written by experts currently working to revitalise the rural landscapes of Europe the text concludes with suggestions for improving landscape policy and planning practice

Nature's Spectacle John Sheail, 2014-06-17 National parks have always been an emotive and iconic symbol ever since the first parks of the modern era were created in the mid nineteenth century. This book based on original research delves deeply into their character and significance and the larger context in which they developed The book celebrates the deserved attractiveness of the parks as wilderness or spectacle to millions of visitors but also emphasises how there was nothing inevitable self sustaining or without cost in their magnificence and accessibility Those early parks were a powerful unifying force as national playgrounds especially as motor transport democratised their use However they also provoked bitter conflict in their dispossession of local communities and perhaps deliberate segregation of people from scenery and wildlife That first century of national parks which concluded with the significant break of the Second World War and the subsequent development of more international approaches to conservation left an uncertain legacy It was a fragile foundation from which to build what became an integral part of today's conservation movement Architecture and Nature Sarah Bonnemaison, Christine Macy, 2003-09-02 Narrated painted and filmed American landscapes have been central to the construction of a national identity This book explores how such rhetorical landscapes have also been designed into into the built environment of architecture The Governance of the Countryside, Cities and Natural Process Michael Hough, 2004 An updated and revised discussion of the fundamental conflict in the perception of nature and an expression of the essential need for an environmental view when approaching urban design Countryside Planning Kevin Bishop, Adrian Phillips, 2012-05-23 Annotation Major and comprehensive new volume on countryside planning and management Edited and with contributions by the leading authorities in the field Essential reading on the future of the countryside for all professionals organizations teachers and students The drivers of countryside management and conservation are increasingly international and European They aim to provide comprehensive new frameworks for the whole countryside and community driven planning and protection This book examines the impact and effectiveness of these approaches their integration and practical value drawing on a range of highly relevant case studies. The result is a volume that provides a fully up to date review and analysis of the pressures on the countryside the policies for the future and the keys to successful implementation

Key Topics in Conservation Biology 2 David W. Macdonald, Katherine J. Willis, 2013-02-06 Following the much acclaimed success of the first volume of Key Topics in Conservation Biology this entirely new second volume addresses an innovative array of key topics in contemporary conservation biology Written by an internationally renowned team of authors Key Topics in Conservation Biology 2 adds to the still topical foundations laid in the first volume published in 2007 by exploring a further 25 cutting edge issues in modern biodiversity conservation including controversial subjects such as setting conservation priorities balancing the focus on species and ecosystems and financial mechanisms to value biodiversity and pay for its conservation Other chapters setting the framework for conservation address the sociology and philosophy of peoples relation with Nature and its impact on health and such challenging practical issues as wildlife trade and conflict between people and carnivores As a new development this second volume of Key Topics includes chapters on major ecosystems such as forests islands and both fresh and marine waters along with case studies of the conservation of major taxa plants butterflies birds and mammals A further selection of topics consider how to safeguard the future through monitoring reserve planning corridors and connectivity together with approaches to reintroduction and re wilding along with managing wildlife disease A final chapter by the editors synthesises thinking on the relationship between biodiversity conservation and human development Each topic is explored by a team of top international experts assembled to bring their own cross cutting knowledge to a penetrating synthesis of the issues from both theoretical and practical perspectives The interdisciplinary nature of biodiversity conservation is reflected throughout the book Each essay examines the fundamental principles of the topic the methodologies involved and crucially the human dimension In this way Key Topics in Conservation Biology 2 like its sister volume Key Topics in Conservation Biology embraces issues from cutting edge ecological science to policy environmental economics governance ethics and the practical issues of implementation Key Topics in Conservation Biology 2 will like its sister volume be a valuable resource in universities and colleges government departments and conservation agencies It is aimed particularly at senior undergraduate and graduate students in conservation biology and wildlife management and wider ecological and environmental subjects and those taking Masters degrees in any field relevant to conservation and the environment Conservation practitioners policy makers and the wider general public eager to understand more about important environmental issues will also find this book invaluable Modern Scottish History: 1707 to the Present Anthony Cooke, Ian Donnachie, Ann MacSween, Christopher A. Whatley, 2008-01-30 This is the first volume of a distance learning history of Scotland course The 26 major topics are covered in five books designed for self study and written to accompany the course These volumes are two tutorial volumes two volumes of reprinted articles and essays and a volume of documents The first half of the course covers the period 1707 to 1850 Beginning with the Union of 1707 and Jacobitism the course considers topics including industrialization politics religion the environment class demography and culture as well as looking at the differences between Highland and Lowland society and economy The project team for this part of the course includes C G Brown G Carruthers A J Cooke I Donnachie W H Fraser M T G Fry B Harris A I Macinnes I Mayer T C Smout N L Tranter C A Whatley I D Whyte and D J Withrington The period 1850 to the present is covered in the second half of the course Again a wide range of topics is studied and some topics such as industrialization demography urbanization religion class education culture and Highland and Lowland society is continued The project team for this second part of the course includes R D Anderson R Anthony C G Brown E A Cameron R J Finlay J O Foster C Harvie W Kenefick R A Lambert I Levitt A J MacIvor R J Morris and P L Payne Climate Change Impact and Adaptation in Agricultural Systems Jurg Fuhrer, Peter J Gregory, 2014-06-18 The focus of this book is future global climate change and its implications for agricultural systems which are the main sources of agricultural goods and services provided to society These systems are either based on crop or livestock production or on combinations of the two with characteristics that differ between regions and between levels of management intensity In turn they also differ in their sensitivity to projected future changes in climate and improvements to increase climate resilience need to be tailored to the specific needs of each system The book will bring together a series of chapters that provide scientific insights to possible implications of projected climate changes for different important types of crop and livestock systems and a discussion of options for adaptive and mitigative management

Environmental Law and Policy in Wales Patrick Bishop, Mark Stallworthy, 2013-03-30 This book is a collective academic response from environmental law scholars sharing an interest in Welsh perspectives on today s local and global environmental challenges The editors brought colleagues together at a ground breaking colloquium at Swansea University in April 2011 seeking to foster new legal approaches at a time that sees a new dynamic toward a devolved Wales including in the environmental policy field This afforded the opportunity to reflect on pressing environmental quandaries and to bring together contributors conceptual insights and technical legal know how in identifying ideas for potential responses and solutions These environmental problems with palpably global implications such as climate change thus require engagement at regional and local levels to look to the future The Culture of Nature in the History of Design Kjetil Fallan, 2019-03-26 The Culture of Nature in the History of Design confronts the dilemma caused by design s pertinent yet precarious position in environmental discourse through interdisciplinary conversations about the design of nature and the nature of design Demonstrating that the deep entanglements of design and nature have a deeper and broader history than contemporary discourse on sustainable design and ecological design might imply this book presents case studies ranging from the eighteenth to the twenty first century and from Singapore to Mexico It gathers scholarship on a broad range of fields practices from urban planning landscape architecture and architecture to engineering design industrial design furniture design and graphic design From adobe architecture to the atomic bomb from the bonsai tree to Biosphere 2 from pesticides to photovoltaics from rust to recycling the culture of nature permeates the history of design As an activity and a profession always operating in the borderlands between human and non human environments design has always been part of the environmental problem whilst also being an indispensable part of the solution The book ventures into domains as diverse as design theory research pedagogy politics activism organizations exhibitions and fiction and trade literature to explore how design is constantly making and unmaking the environment and conversely how the environment is both making and unmaking design This book will be of great interest to a range of scholarly fields from design education and design history to environmental policy and environmental history Nature Wars Jim Sterba, 2013-11-12 For four hundred years explorers traders and settlers plundered North American wildlife in an escalating rampage but in the twentieth century an incredible turnaround took place Conservationists created wildlife sanctuaries restored habitats and imposed regulations on hunters and trappers Over decades they nursed many wild populations back to health Then after World War II something happened that conservationists hadn t foreseen sprawl People moved into suburbs and then kept moving outward All the while well meaning efforts to protect animals allowed wild populations to burgeon out of control causing damage costing billions degrading ecosystems and touching off disputes that polarized communities The result is a mix of people and wildlife that should be an animal lover s dream but often turns into a sprawl dweller s nightmare Deeply researched eloquently written and perceptively humorous Nature Wars expresses the need for organic reconnection with our natural ecosystem by offering a provocative look at how Americans created an inadvertent mess
