

Spotlight on Richer Reading

What is it?

Richer Reading is an evidence-based dedicated programme of reading development for all year groups and pupils.

Why do we do it?

- Fewer than 3 in 10 young people read daily (Literacy Trust)
- Literacy levels directly impact life chances and life expectancy (Literacy Trust)
- Reading for pleasure is more important for children's cognitive development than their parents' level of education and is a more powerful factor in life achievement than socio-economic background (Reading Agency)

How do we do it?

All year groups have a selected canon of 'must read' books based on four themes: modern classics; ours and others' worlds; literary heritage; key issues and concepts. Tutor groups will read at their own pace by listening to their tutor read out loud and follow along with the text three times a week for an hour in total. As the story progresses, tutors will facilitate discussion of the stories with pupils. Research shows that reading aloud is beneficial for the following reasons (Carnegie Learning):

- 1) Reading aloud builds vocabulary
- 2) Reading aloud improves comprehension and active listening
- 3) Reading aloud reduces stress and makes us happy
- 4) Reading aloud strengthens fluency
- 5) Reading aloud can improve working memory

What do pupils think?

- When asked in January, 69% of pupils feel more confident with their reading
- A majority said they enjoy the programme

Nature Writers A Guide To Richer Reading:

Nature Writing Don Scheese, 2013-10-28 In this comprehensive study of the genre Don Scheese traces its evolution from the pastoralism evident in the natural history observations of Aristotle and the poetry of Virgil to current American writers. He documents the emergence of the modern form of nature writing as a reaction to industrialization. Scheese's personal observations of natural settings sharpen the reader's understanding of the dynamics between author and locale. His study is further informed by ample use of illustrations and close readings of core writers such as Thoreau, John Muir, and Mary Austin, showing how each writer's work exemplifies the pastoral tradition and celebrates a spirit of place in the United States. The Nature Writers Herbert Faulkner West, 1939 A Century of Early Ecocriticism David Mazel, 2001-01-01 In the 1970s the relationship between literature and the environment emerged as a topic of serious and widespread interest among writers and scholars. The ideas, debates, and texts that grew out of this period subsequently converged and consolidated into the field now known as ecocriticism. A Century of Early Ecocriticism looks behind these recent developments to a prior generation's ecocritical inclinations. Written between 1864 and 1964, these thirty-four selections include scholars writing about the green aspects of literature as well as nature writers reflecting on the genre. In his introduction David Mazel argues that these early ecocritics played a crucial role in both the development of environmentalism and the academic study of American literature and culture. Filled with provocative still timely ideas, A Century of Early Ecocriticism demonstrates that our concern with the natural world has long informed our approach to literature. Nature Writers in the United States Agatha Boyd Adams, 1944 The Land's Wild Music Mark Tredinnick, 2011-04-14 The Land's Wild Music explores the home terrains and the writing of four great American writers of place: Barry Lopez, Peter Matthiessen, Terry Tempest Williams, and James Galvin. In their work and its relationship with their home places, Tredinnick, an Australian writer, searches for answers to such questions such as whether it's possible for a writer to make an authentic witness of a place, how one captures the landscape as it truly is, and how one joins the place in witness so that its lyric becomes one's own and enters into one's own work. He asks what it might mean to enact an ecological imagination of the world and whether it might be possible to see the work and the writer as part of the place itself. The work is a meditation on the nature of landscape and its power to shape the lives and syntax of men and women. It is animated by the author's encounters with Lopez, Matthiessen, Williams, and Galvin by critical readings of their work and by the author's engagement with the landscapes that have shaped these writers and their writing: the Cascades, Long Island, the Colorado Plateau, and the high prairies of the Rocky Mountains. Tredinnick seeks the spring of nature writing deep in the nature of a place itself, carried in a writer's wild self inside and resonated over and over again at the desk until it is a work in which the place itself sings.
