Waxman, 2018-03-09 A thirty year quest from genes to pain signaling neurons to people with a rare genetic disorder that makes them feel they are on fire Two soldiers both with wounds injuring the same nerve show very different responses one is disabled by neuropathic pain unable to touch the injured limb because even the lightest contact triggers excruciating discomfort the other notices numbness but no pain at all Could the difference lie in their genes In this book described in the foreword by Nobel Laureate James Rothman as so well written that it reads like a detective novel Stephen Waxman recounts the search for a gene that controls pain a search spanning more than thirty years and three continents The story moves from genes to pain signaling neurons that scream when they should be silent to people with a rare genetic disorder who feel they are on fire Waxman explains that if pain signaling neurons are injured by trauma or disease they can become hyperactive and send pain signals to the brain even without external stimulus Studying the hyperactive mutant pain gene in man on fire syndrome has pointed the way to molecules that produce pain more broadly within the general population in the rest of us Waxman s account of the many steps that led to discovery of the pain gene tells the story behind the science of how science happens

The Revival Chinedu Nnadi, 2025-08-27 In the heart of America's Midwest a sinister firestorm is spreading Churches are going up in flames one after another reduced to ash and ruin To the public they look like accidents To those left behind they feel like judgment But to journalist Daniel Harper assigned to cover the story they stir something more dangerous memory Daniel once believed Once prayed Once trusted But tragedy buried his faith alongside his wife leaving only bitterness and a hollow career The fires should have been just another headline Until he meets Caleb Brooks a fiery young seminary student whose father's church was among the first destroyed Caleb believes the attacks are no accident And he's determined to prove it Drawn into Caleb's conviction Daniel follows a trail of cryptic threats suspicious silences and small town secrets that all point to one chilling truth someone is targeting pastors who dare to speak of justice and mercy in a world that wants neither The deeper they dig the clearer it becomes that exposing the arsonists won't just rattle pews it will shake the powerful But as danger closes in Daniel realizes the greatest battle may not be with the men who set the fires but with the ashes of his own faith Because without confronting his brokenness he'll never find the strength to stand The flames are spreading The clock is ticking And if Daniel can't face both the darkness outside and within the next church to fall could be their last refuge
