Presence Of Mind Writing And The Domain Beyond The Cognitive:

Presence of Mind Alice Glarden Brand, Richard Layton Graves, 1994 Presence of Mind explores the mind at work calling attention to the vast area of learning beyond the cognitive domain The book invites teachers to become alert to the areas of the mind beyond the cognitive domain become more familiar and comfortable with those areas appreciate them as vital forces in writing and help students use them to advantage Even though the kind of learning described in Presence of Mind has been neglected and misunderstood it has great potential primarily in bringing wholeness and balance to the curriculum Respected educators including Peter Elbow Donald Murray and many more express ideas that are new innovative and capable of transforming present conceptions of education

Non-discursive Rhetoric Joddy Murray, 2009-01-14

Technological advances have the potential to create new languages unlike printed or spoken words The increased textual complexity generated by sophisticated graphics photos hypermedia film typography and other modes of expression requires a theory of language and symbolization that accommodates emotion ambiguity simultaneity and layers of dynamic meaning In Non discursive Rhetoric Joddy Murray uses concepts from philosophy rhetorical theory and recent advances in neuroscience to develop a model of composing that connects contemporary writing practices technology and image functions within the mind The theory and classroom practices presented here provide tools for writing teachers to help students compose various hybridized multimodal texts Murray highlights the significance for student composition of the relationships among emotions images and argumentation and demonstrates the importance of considering the rhetorical dimensions of design choices in multimodal composition

Everyone Can Write Peter Elbow, 2000-03-30 This new collection of essays bring together the best of Elbow's writing since the publication of Embracing Contraries in 1987 The volume includes sections on voice the experience of writing teaching and evaluation Implicit throughout is Elbow's commitment to humanizing the profession and his continued emphasis on the importance of binary thinking and nonadversarial argument The result is a compendium of a master teacher's thoughts on the relation between good pedagogy and good writing it is sure to be of interest to all professional teachers of writing and will be a valuable book for use in graduate composition courses

Theorizing

Composition Mary Kennedy, 1998-06-25 The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory's critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works

Composition Studies in the New Millennium Lynn Z. Bloom, Donald A. Daiker, Edward Michael White, 2003

Rhetor Response Peter H. Khost, 2018-09-10 Bridging the disciplinary divide between writing and literature Rhetor Response introduces the concept and pedagogical applications of literary affordances the ways in which readers use and integrate literature into their own writing or lives Unconcerned with authorial intent interpretive meaning or critical reception affordance signifies a shift in focus from what literary texts mean and do to what one can do with them This book presents both opportunities and challenges to writing studies a field whose burgeoning disciplinary independence ironically relies on a sizable underclass of specialists in literature rather than writing Incorporating elements of rhetorical theory literary criticism pedagogical methodology political critique and psychological and philosophical memoir Peter H Khost complicates and revives the relevance of literature from belles lettres to fanfiction by turning from interpretation to affordance in order to identify readers applications of literary textual features to unrelated lived situations Rhetor Response theorizes and exemplifies literary affordance as a constructive step toward professional reconciliation as well as an entry into greater textual power and pleasure for students and readers It is a one of a kind resource for college writing program administrators faculty and scholars in English and writing studies and graduate and advanced undergraduate students across both disciplines

Between Speaking and Silence Mary M. Reda, 2009-01-28 Why are students silent Using written reflections and interviews Mary M Reda examines students perceptions of speaking and being silent in a first year composition classroom and explores how their teachers classroom relationships and their own sense of identity shape their decisions to speak or be silent By challenging many firmly held beliefs about those quiet students in the back of the classroom Between Speaking and Silence offers the new vision that silence is not necessarily problematic

The Ethics of Working Class Autobiography Elizabeth Bidinger, 2006-07-19 The ethical dimension of autobiography is emerging as an important area of study Scholars now recognize that an autobiography must be read with an element of caution since it represents not so much the literal truth as the author s perception of people and events a perspective sometimes unflattering to those portrayed Focusing on the ethics of autobiography this volume analyzes the works of four writers who spent much of their youth in working class circumstances yet became highly educated intellectual professionals It examines the ways in which each author confronts his or her past and how the authors represent their working class family members Texts discussed are Growing Up by Russell Baker 1982 Brothers and Keepers by John Edgar Wideman 1984 A Woman in Amber by Agate Nesaule 1995 and Clear Springs by Bobbie Ann Mason 1999 Each work recounts the author's struggle with a particular societal element such as gender race class division or region While Baker's memoir provides an example of positive balanced characterizations of working class relatives the texts by Wideman Nesaule and Mason illustrate the ethical pitfalls in portraying less powerful family members in one's life story An overview of trends in working class autobiography and a brief survey regarding the critical reception of each work are included Personal Memories. Namibian Texts in Process Dorian Haarhoff,1997 Teaching with Joy Sharon Shelton-Colangelo,Carolina Mancuso,Mimi Duvall,2007 This edited collection addresses the growing need for ideas and methods conducive to holistic educational practices and aims to encourage more personal growth in students too often distracted by the background noise of war violence racism and environmental deterioration The contributors are working teachers and professors who have integrated a degree of spirituality into a wide range of classes in both urban and rural settings across the US This ground breaking collection will provide practical advice about how to implement an ethical and spiritual curriculum while avoiding religious dogmatism International Who's Who in Poetry 2004 Europa Publications,2003 Provides up to date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets
